DICTATOR BILL'S DEATH IN HOUSE APPEARS LIKELY

Motion to Wreck It Almost Wins.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's reorganization bill tonight appeared headed for defeat in the house after a motion to kill it immediately had been defeated by the narrow margin of 22 votes. Drastic modification, at least, is certain.

Chairman John J. O'Connor [D., N. Y.] of the rules committee, sponsor of the motion to strike out the enacting clause of the bill, which was beaten, 191 to 169, declared flatly that today's vote meant that the measure would not be passed.

It was pointed out that a change of 12 votes would have throttled the bill, and at least a dozen Democrats committed against the measure were observed to file past the tellers to record their votes in opposition to the O'Connor motion. These members apparently felt that striking out the enacting clause was not the proper method of defeating the bill.

Absentees a Question Mark.

The one flaw in the joy of the opponents of the measure, which has been labeled the dictator bill, was the fact that some eighty members did not vote. The sentiment of this absent group is unknown. Most of these members are away from the capital for various reasons and, if favorable to the bill, may be summoned by the leaders to support their faltering forces.

After the O'Connor motion was defeated, the members went ahead to strip the bill of many of its provisions. The first big amendment adopted, by a vote of 151 to 113, contained the controversial provision that congress might, by concurrent resolution, disapprove any reorganization decree of the President.

This concession on the part of the leaders has been attacked as a mere gesture, in view of President Roosevelt's declaration that he does not believe in its constitutionality. Such a resolution, in the opinion of the President, is merely an expression of congressional sentiment.

What Amendment Provides.

However, as written by members of the reorganization committee, the amendment is constitutional, they insisted. The amendment reads as follows:

"Whenever the President makes an executive order under the provisions of this bill, such executive order shall be submitted to the congress while in session and shall become effective upon the expiration of sixty calendar days after the date of such transmission unless the congress shall by law provide for an earlier effective date; provided that if the congress shall adjourn prior to the expiration of sixty calendar days after the date of such transmission, such executive order shall not become effective until the expiration of sixty calendar days from the opening day of the next succeeding regular or special session.

"Provided, further, that if the congress prior to the expiration of such sixty day period shall by concurrent resolution find that such executive order or any part thereof is not in the public interest such executive order shall to the extent of such finding not become effective."

Reject Boileau Proposal.

With many members absent, the house defeated an amendment offered by Representative Gerald J. Boileau [Prog., Wis.], requiring affirmative action by joint resolution to make an executive decree effective. The teller vote was 121 to 104 against the proposal.

There is no question of constitutionality or effectiveness involved in a joint resolution. Because of the absence of more than 200 members, a record vote later will be demanded on this amendment when reading of the bill is completed.

The leaders retreated further when a point of order to the bill, made by Representative John Taber [R., N. Y.] was sustained. The point was against a section empowering the authorization of appropriations to make the act effective. With this section stricken out the President will be forced to come to congress for any funds required in the creation, consolidation, or abolition of government agencies.

POLICE BATTLE MOB; ARMY TO GUARD SENATE

Blum's Regime Due to Fall Today.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Joseph Caillaux, target of rioters.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

PARIS, April 7.—Defying the Popular Front government and their own leaders, several thousand workers tonight rioted in the Latin quarter.

They tried to storm their way through police lines to Luxembourg palace, the home of the senate, to demonstrate against "dry hearted old men" who tomorrow are almost certain to throw the government of Premier Leon Blum out of power. But police precautions were so good that the senators did not even hear the noise of the distant battle.

Students Driven Off Terraces.

The worst fighting took place along the Boulevard St. Michel. A mob of nearly 2,000 communists, anarchists and Socialists, singing the Internationale, roared down the boulevard driving rightist students off café terraces until the police and mobile guards charged them with clubs.

The mêlée was vicious. A number of Algerians in the mob were arrested for drawing knives on the police and there were many cracked heads and other minor wounds inflicted on both sides.

Troops were ordered held in readiness to defend the senate if necessary during tomorrow's vote on Blum's bill for dictatorial financial and economic powers.

Finance Group Rejects Bill.

The rioting followed rejection of Blum's bill by the senate finance committee. The vote against the bill, which yesterday was approved by the chamber of deputies with a slim majority, was 25 to 6.

Angry leftists marched toward the senate building, screaming, "Down with the senate!"

One thousand policemen stood in their way. The demonstrators began a mass attack with chairs and bottles, which they had snatched from café tables. The police met the assault by swinging their clubs with great abandon.

Shout "Hang Caillaux."

"Hang Caillaux," shouted the rioters, venting their wrath on Joseph Caillaux, 74 years old and president of the senate finance committee, who is the leader of the Blum opposition.

Café windows were smashed while the rioters and the police milled through the streets. The radicals seized tables from the cafés and used them as shields in their advance on the gendarmerie.

First aid stations were set up in the cafés, where wounded rioters and policemen received treatment.

Mobile guards rode their horses into the throng and little by little the rioters gave way. After a two hour struggle the police succeeded in pushing the demonstrators into side streets and away from Luxembourg palace.

Socialist Calls Rally.

The call for street demonstrations against the senate was issued by Marcel Pivert, fire eating leader of the Red fringe of the Socialist party, in flaming posters pasted on the walls of Paris this morning. The posters appealed to "Republicans, Syndicalists, Socialists, communists, and anarchists" to gather in front of the senate at 6:30 p. m.

Finding this support from their party comrade more embarrassing than helpful in the struggle against the senate, Blum and Minister of Interior Marx Dormoy promptly forbade the demonstration.

Pivert and the Paris federation, never noted for obedience to party discipline, retorted in a defiant communique to afternoon newspapers that the demonstration would take place whether the government liked it or not.

Students Beat the Game Until They're Called

Some University of Chicago students discovered last month that the coin telephone in the Burton court men's dormitory had begun giving back all the nickels that were dropped in. It was very simple. A student put in a nickel, did his talking, hung up the receiver—then back came the coin.

One of the students called his home town sweetheart. The dimes and quarters he put in for long distance service came back, too. Telephoning home to sweethearts and parents became a pleasure.

Waiting Line Forms.

The news spread on the campus. Students from the fraternity houses came over to use this particular telephone. A waiting line formed and grew longer.

One student telephoned twice to his girl friend at Vassar—a $2.80 call. Another called Bellingham, Wash., at $6.45. A student from Mishawaka, Ind., called so far and talked so long that his bill was $8.70. The money they deposited all came back.

Eventually, of course, the coin box collector came around. He found the box empty and notified the company. Its records showed there should have been $138.50 in the box.

The company sent the university the bill.

Handed Their Bills.

When the university protested the calls were investigated. In time the names of those who had used the phone were learned from the persons who had been called.

Yesterday the twenty-five students involved were summoned to the university offices and handed their bills. They paid. And the telephone has been fixed. Its popularity is gone.

Roosters Get a Chance to Crow in N. Y. Court

New York, April 7.—(AP)—Four roosters raised a rukus in special sessions court today, serving as evidence in the city's first cockfight trial in many years. In view of the rarity of such malfeasance, the judge gave the 46 defendants suspended 30 day sentences.

LOWELL GETS CREDIT FOR COINING A WORD TO CALL CANDIDATES

If politicians in years gone by used to go around with preoccupied and none too happy expressions on their faces, here's why: They couldn't think of a word for what's now known as a political campaign, and they just didn't have anything to call a candidate.

But in 1809, some one discovered that campaign was a word that described pre-election activities as well as military operations. In 1848 James Russell Lowell popularized candidate as a word for a, well, you know, for a candidate.

Editors of the new American English dictionary, being compiled at the University of Chicago, revealed these pertinent facts yesterday.

BABY KANGAROO GAMBOLS; LOSES FAVORITE POUCH

Handsome, the Brookfield zoo's youngest kangaroo, who for three months has been riding about in his mother's pouch, was out of pocket and out of luck yesterday. Growing weary of his quarters, he climbed out for a frolic and when he returned, Winnie, his mother, let him know he should never darken her pouch again. Zoo keepers, however, came to his rescue, building dim, warm quarters for him and providing a diet of canned milk. Semi-darkness is necessary to safeguard the eyesight of the youngster.

Home of Shakespeare's Wife Saved from Building Boom

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—The cottage where William Shakespeare's wife, Anne Hathaway, once lived at Shottery was saved today from the menace of new building developments. J. L. T. Evans, schoolmaster owner of the structure and seventeen surrounding acres near Stratford-On-Avon, announced he would transfer the property to Shakespeare's birthplace trust, provided the land remained forever free from further building.

Driver Fined for Speeding Fears Wife's I Told You So

Coatesville, Pa., April 7.—(AP)—Richard Vortel of Winchester, Va., paying a $12.25 fine for violating the state's 50 mile speed limit, told state police:

"My wife is going to give it to me for this; she has been telling me I drive too fast ever since we left home."

Bowing to King by U. S. Debs May Be Ended

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 7.—Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy of the United States has decided to abolish the London embassy's most annoying job—presentation of American debutantes to the court of St. James's.

This was reported tonight, although the embassy denied such a decision had been reached. The question, however, is among the first which Kennedy took under consideration upon his arrival here. It is understood he is heartily in favor of abandoning the custom.

British Jump the Gun.

The ambassador has called a press conference for tomorrow to state his views, but the British press jumped the gun and said a decision already has been made.

Abolishment of presenting debutantes to King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth would wipe out the last bit of formal homage to England by Americans. The American ambassador alone is burdened with the task of selecting and presenting the debutantes at the court.

Some 2,000 applications are received annually by harassed officials from women anxious to get this seal of achievement on their social career. Only ten are presented at each court, which means 40 or 50 a year.

It's Sad News for Some.

The state department and the embassy must cull the applications and break the news to the unsuccessful applicants.

It is expected that will be ended this year, and that henceforth only the wives of American diplomats and high officials will be presented to the British monarchs. That is the custom of other countries which never consider presenting women not connected with officialdom.

The British do not object to the American custom which is regarded as excellent propaganda for consumption in the United States. But the state department and the embassy object to the practice and dread the annual avalanche of requests.

Clerk Turns On the Heat; Gets Quite a Quantity

New York, April 7.—(AP)—The weather being a bit nippy, a clerk on the sixth floor of the International building, Rockefeller Center, twisted a wall gadget today and waited for the steam to come up. A few minutes later he was surrounded by police and private detectives, and the street outside was a snarl of stalled traffic. It was a burglar alarm.

Tests Disclose Air Bombs Can Sink Battleship

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Admiral Cook.
—A. P. Wirephoto.

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—The high commands of the army and navy are in possession of recent highly confidential reports which conclusively demonstrate that battleships can be sunk by airplanes, it was learned today.

Conclusive information that men of war are vulnerable to aerial bombardment came as another chapter in the battleship vs. airplane controversy was written in the senate. Rear Admiral Arthur B. Cook, chief of naval aeronautics, discounted the threat of planes to capital ships at a secret hearing on the navy expansion bill.

As the admiral testified it was learned that tests in mock warfare have incontrovertibly shown that planes can cripple and sink even the superdreadnaughts, which the bill would add to the American navy, and play havoc with smaller craft.

Tests Still Continuing.

Tests have been conducted by the army and navy several times a year. The most extensive tests of the plane-battleship controversy are now going on in connection with the annual war games of the American fleet at Hawaii.

Mock battles between planes and ships have formed a part of the maneuvers centered about a mythical attack on Hawaii. Further tests are being conducted as the ships are returning homeward to the fleet base at San Diego, Cal., and will continue into the middle of the month.

Preliminary reports, it is said, corroborate earlier tests, which have demonstrated the might of the air forces. More thorough tests have been ordered for the homeward journey because of the intensity of the plane-ship controversy which has raged since President Roosevelt sent the naval expansion program to congress in a special message last February.

Roosevelt in Controversy.

President Roosevelt entered the debate himself on Feb. 25, when he asserted at a press conference that the battleship is the backbone of national defense. He said capital ships have been challenged over a long period of years by various inventions, but still remain supreme in their field.

Mr. Roosevelt acknowledged that he had studied the findings of joint army and navy operations over a period of years. He said his answer to reports that such tests demonstrate that planes can blow battleships out of the water as fast as they are launched could be found in his recommendation for expansion of the navy. He thus clearly indicated he was not convinced by the reports.

The navy high command did not treat the reports as lightly as the President. In the last few weeks the

G. O. P. VOTERS WARNED TO STAY IN PARTY RANKS

Leaders Fight Shift at Primaries.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Republicans who vote the Democratic ballot in the primaries next Tuesday may lose the right to vote the Republican ballot in the next primary election.

A warning circulated by Republican precinct workers yesterday pointed out that choice of ballots at the Tuesday primary automatically determines the voter's party ballot in the mayoralty primary next spring. A Republican who votes in the Democratic fight would be kept out of his own party battle for mayor.

Disturbances at the primary polls over the question whether a 1936 primary voter may change parties this year were feared as the Republicans took an active hand in the dispute which began as a row between the two rival Democratic machines.

Day's Developments Listed.

Among the developments of the day were these:

1. John F. Tyrrell, chairman of the Republican state committee and counsel for the Cook county Republican committee, denied that the 1936 voter may take his choice of ballots on Tuesday.

2. Plans were rushed for the issuance of a Republican appeal for party regularity, to be signed by Illinois Republican leaders in national, state and local fields.

3. Republican candidates, fearing they might offend members of their own party, rejected a proposal for institution of court proceedings to settle the issue.

4. It was discovered that only two of the three attorneys for the Chicago election board signed the opinion upon which the rule permitting a change of parties was based.

5. County Clerk Michael J. Flynn said that State's Attorney Courtney will be asked to prosecute all voters in his jurisdiction who voted in one party in 1936 and vote in another party next Tuesday by means of affidavits.

6. Gov. Horner added his voice to the controversy by saying: "It has been incontrovertibly held that the calendar year in the election law means the political year." This would permit the 1936 voter to choose either a Republican or Democratic ballot.

Rulings Increase Confusion.

The dispute, brought on by Horner-Courtney appeals to Republicans to go Democratic and vote for County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, has been made acute by contradictory rulings by the two separate election units in Cook county. Judge Jarecki's election board has issued instructions permitting a change of parties this year. County Clerk Flynn's instructions to the judges and clerks of the country towns in his jurisdiction prohibit switching.

"Any Republican who voted in the primary election of April 14, 1936," said Chairman Tyrrell in his rôle as political adviser to his organization, "is advised he cannot lawfully or legally change his party affiliations at this time without becoming liable to prosecution on the charge of perjury if he is required to vote by affidavit."

After quoting from the Illinois primary law the section prohibiting a voter from entering a primary if he has voted "at a primary of another political party within a period of two years next preceding such primary," and from the state law governing the construction of statutes the definition of a year as "a calendar year unless otherwise expressed," Chairman Tyrrell took up his citations from decisions by the Illinois Supreme court.

Quotes from 1907 Decision.

The one from which he quoted at length was the decision in the case of Rouse vs. Thompson, handed down in 1907, in which the court passed on the powers of the legislature to prescribe limitations upon primary voting. Tyrrell considers this a complete answer to Attorney General Otto Kerner's informal opinion that the legislature has no powers of this sort.

The language of the Supreme court follows:

"The object of holding a primary election by a political party is to select party candidates, and it is too plain for argument that no voter should be permitted to vote at the primary election of a political party unless he is a member of such party. Unless provision is made to prevent persons voting at a primary election for the candidates of a party who are not affiliated with such party, the whole scheme of nominating party candidates by a primary election would fail because of being incapable of execution.

"In view of the object for which the primary election is held, we have been unable to discover any constitutional right of which the voter has been deprived by any of the foregoing enactments. It is the duty of the legislature to provide all such reasonable regulations as will make the provisions of the constitution effectual, and laws to prevent fraud, undue influence or oppression, and to preserve the equal rights of all from interference or encroachment have universally been sustained by this court.

"The members of the several political parties must be guaranteed by law the right to select their candidates for office with the same right they have to choose them after they are nominated, or the primary election is a delusion and a fraud upon the individual voter.

Would Destroy Freedom.

"If the independent voter or the voter affiliating with an opposition party can vote at the primary election of a party with which he has no political affiliation and thereby control the nominations of a party to which he is opposed and whose candidates he will vote against at the polls, the freedom of the primary election is destroyed.

"What regulations should be had to secure fair primary elections must rest largely with the legislature and the courts should not override the discretion placed in that branch of the government by the constitution unless its appears clearly that the constitutional rights of the individual voter have been infringed upon.

"We are of the opinion that the provisions of the statute above referred to are not subject to constitutional objection."

Cites Decisions on "Year."

Chairman Tyrrell also said that the Supreme court, in the case of Thomas vs. Crains in 1920, held that the word "year" meant a calendar year, and that other decisions to the same effect were made by the Supreme court in 1917 and by the Appellate court in 1918.

"It is clear, certain, and not debatable," said Chairman Tyrrell, "that the two year limitation against changing party affiliations means two calendar years, as has been heretofore so construed by Edward J. Brundage and Oscar E. Carlstrom, attorneys general of the state of Illinois, and followed by all county clerks continuously and by the board of election commissioners of Chicago up to and including the month of February, 1938."

Seek Leaders' Signatures.

The appeal for Republicans to stand firm against Democratic pleas to cross over party lines on Tuesday, it is said, will be a terse document pointing out the results of a heavy Democratic vote and a discreditably low Republican vote. The hope is that there will be time to obtain the signatures on this document of George F. Harding, national committeeman; Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committeewoman; State Chairman Tyrrell; Mrs. Mary Slivis, chairman of the woman's division of the state committee; County Chairman Edward F. Moore; Mrs. Charles Krutckoff, Cook county women's chairman, and Charles A. O'Connor of Aurora, chairman of the Illinois Association of Republican county chairmen.

State Chairman Tyrrell, as counsel for the Republican county committee, offered several days ago, it was learned, to institute court proceedings to upset the instruction of the Chicago election board that voters may hop over party lines this year. A subcommittee of the candidates' committee headed by George A. Curran, slate candidate for county treasurer, insisted that no such action should be begun.

Two Attorneys Sign Opinion.

Examination of the opinion given the election board on the question whether voters may change parties disclosed that it was signed by Cassius M. Doty, attorney for the board, and John F. Cashen Jr., the board's prosecutor of vote frauds, but not by Robert L. Taylor, assistant attorney for the board.

Attorney Taylor has been with the board more than forty years and has been its assistant attorney for twelve or fifteen years. It often has been said around the board rooms that his only knowledge of politics is the law. He has declined to say why his name did not appear on the opinion.

G.O.P. CAMPAIGNS TO REWIN 9 STATE CONGRESS SEATS

Leaders Urge That Drive Start in Primary.

BY HAROLD SMITH.

Return to the Republican column of nine of the twenty-five Illinois congressional districts that went over to the Democrats in recent years is the hope of Illinois G. O. P. leaders as the primary campaign nears a close, they said yesterday.

Believing that the tide has turned and that a large Republican vote in the primary will encourage a smashing turnout next November that will start the rout of the Democrats, the G. O. P. leaders are exhorting their followers to go to the polls next Tuesday and stay in the Republican primary.

Urge Importance of Election.

These leaders point out that the congressional election is of first importance, because it selects men who have a direct hand in making laws and shaping governmental policies.

Only six of the state's twenty-five congressional districts are represented by Republicans in congress. Democrats hold the state's other district seats in the lower house, and the state's two congressmen at large are also Democrats.

This party score is exactly the reverse of that in 1928. The state's congressional makeup up to that time had always been predominantly Republican since the most recent reapportionment in 1901.

The first ten of the state's districts are in Cook county. The 10th also includes Lake county. The 11th takes in McHenry, Kane, DuPage and Will counties. The 12th and 13th include twelve counties to the west. The remaining twelve districts are downstate.

Have Eyes On Nine Districts.

The districts the Republicans believe they have the best chance of retaking are the 1st, 2d, 9th, 14th, 15th, 18th, 21st, 24th, and 25th. Most of these went Democratic two years ago by pluralities of less than 10,000 votes. The 15th, 21st, and 24th had margins of less than 5,000.

Republican optimism has caused G. O. P. congressional primary contests in fifteen districts. In the state as a whole, sixty-eight Democrats and fifty-two Republicans are fighting for the fifty congressional district nominations.

Six of the districts are without contests in either party. These districts and their candidates are: 11th, Chauncey W. Reed of West Chicago, Republican, and William J. Bossingham of Joliet, Democrat; 13th, Leo E. Allen of Galena, Republican, and Theodore A. Secker of Freeport, Democrat; 14th, Chester Thompson of Rock Island, Democrat, and Anton J. Johnson of Macomb, Republican; 16th, Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin, Republican, and James C. Dillon of Peoria, Democrat; 23d, Laurence F. Arnold of Newton, Democrat, and O. A. James of Salem, Republican, and 24th, Claude V. Parsons of Golconda, Democrat, and R. R. Randolph of Harrisburg, Republican. The first named in each district is the incumbent.

No G. O. P. Contests in 4 Districts.

Four districts have Democratic but no Republican contests. One is the 8th, where Mrs. Rena E. Pikiel is scheduled to carry the G. O. P. standard in November against the incumbent, Leo Kocialkowski, who is experiencing little formidable opposition from his six opponents—Dr. John J. Liss, who has the aid of Horner ward leaders; Stanley H. Kunz, who represented the district for several terms, and Stanley Guziec, Robert McCutcheon, Leopold Lagona, and Peter Lavorata.

Another district without a Republican struggle is the 9th, where Charles S. Dewey, assistant secretary of the treasury under President Coolidge, probably will be pitted against the Democratic incumbent, James McAndrews, in the fall. McAndrews' opponents are Frank W. Brown and Michael J. Hanrahan.

In the 17th the unopposed Republican incumbent, Leslie C. Arends of Melvin, probably will have as his opponent next fall T. V. Watson of Bloomington, who, according to downstate observers, is well ahead of his only primary opponent, C. S. Schneider of Paxton.

In the 20th district, from which Scott W. Lucas is retiring to run for United States senator, the unopposed Republican is Stuart E. Pierson of Carrollton. The Democrats are Judge James M. Barnes of Jacksonville, State Representative Howard Manning of Jerseyville, and R. B. Siepker of Barry. Judge Barnes is regarded as the probable winner.

Four districts lack Democratic contests. In the 5th Adolph J. Sabath, dean of the house who is serving his 16th term, was left with clear sailing last week when Harry G. Green withdrew. Max Price, the Republican candidate in 1936, is expected to defeat Martin Dykema for the nomination.

In the 12th Edward C. Hunter of Rockford is the only Democrat seeking the nomination while the incumbent, N. M. Mason of Oglesby, is favored over S. Fred Cummings of Mazon to win the Republican nomination. In the 18th the incumbent, James A. Meeks, will probably have as his Republican opponent next November County Judge Jessie Sumner of Milford, although she faces a hard contest from Hugh M. Luckey of Potomac and Russell L. Guin of Danville.

Two Lead for G. O. P. in 19th.

Congressman Hugh M. Rigney of the 19th district will be the Democratic candidate in the election against either Frank W. Shilling of Decatur or William H. Wheat of Rantoul, observers say. Chester E. Davis and U. A. Teets of Champaign apparently do not have heavy support in the Republican primary.

Of the 15 districts where both parties have congress fights, the most difficult to forecast is the 1st in Chicago, where eight Negroes—three Democrats and five Republicans—are in the lists. Arthur W. Mitchell, the incumbent Democrat, appears an easy winner over James P. Durden and Augustus L. Williams. Former Congressman Oscar De Priest, Ald. William L. Dawson, and former Ald. Louis B. Anderson are running neck and neck in the Republican race, and are ahead of Roscoe C. Simmons and Benjamin W. Clayton.

In the 2d, Congressman Raymond S. McKeough is expected to have little difficulty in defeating either Theodore R. Katzmann or Edward P. Garrity, but Edward J. Finan, marine surveyor, is carrying the fight to Attorney Noble W. Lee, choice of the county Republican organization.

Congressman Edward A. Kelly of the 3d, incumbent since 1930, has minor opposition in Frank Pulaski. The Republican fight appears to be between the organization-backed Goodwin L. Dosland and unattached Milford H. Olds, with two other independents, Martin John Neylon and Thomas Patrick McGrath Jr. in the field.

Incumbent Likely to Win.

Harry P. Beam, 4th district incumbent, is the choice of the regular Democrats and should beat John Zukorski, Kazmer Moczarski and Stanislaus E. Basinski, who has some Horner support. Dominic M. Janec Jr., with the Republican organization's indorsement, is regarded as a good bet to defeat A. J. Gorman.

The 6th district congress seat is being vacated by Thomas J. O'Brien, now a candidate for the nomination for sherif of Cook county, and sixteen Democrats are scrambling for the nomination. A. F. Maciejewski of Cicero, the regular organization's choice, appears to have a wide margin over his nearest competitors, Richey V. Graham, retiring state representative from whom a previous Horner indorsement was recently withdrawn, and James J. Curtis and Raymond B. Dwyer. Robert Isham Randolph, former head of the Chicago Association of Commerce, is fighting it out with Maurice O Connor for the Republican nomination, but appears to be ahead.

In the 7th the incumbent Democrat, Leonard W. Schuetz, will probably be pitted against James C. Moreland, the Republican he defeated two years ago. The other Democrats in the primary are John C. Marcinkiewicz and William Jerome Caponigri, both of whom are getting Horner aid, and George D. Zielinski. The other Republicans are John L. Coffield and Harry G. Weimer.

The 10th district Democratic nomination will probably go to the regular machine candidate, Attorney Joseph F. Elward of Chicago, who is opposed by William Mason of Wilmette, a strong candidate in the 1936 primary, and Attorney C. Hilding Anderson, who has Horner-Courtney support. Ralph E. Church of Evanston, the Republican incumbent, is expected to have little to fear in either John Fay Harris of Lake Forest, whom he defeated decisively two years ago, or Dr. Robert E. Schaefer, Chicago osteopath.

Lewis L. Boyer of Quincy, Democrat serving his first term from the 15th, is being hard pressed by State Senator Joseph E. Heckenkamp, also of Quincy. The Republican race is a battle among R. B. Chiperfield of Canton, son of former Congressman B. M. Chiperfield, and A. Otis Arnold and William B. Smiley, both of Quincy.

In the 21st, Frank W. Fries of Carlinville, Democratic incumbent with Igoe support, appears to have the edge on A. E. Rouland of Springfield, who carries the Horner tag. Frank M. Ramey of Hillsboro is expected to win the Republican nomination over Evan Howell and Joseph L. Moore, both of Springfield.

Judge May Oppose Incumbent.

The 22d district race next November should be between the incumbent, Edwin M. Schaefer of Belleville, who is opposed in the primary by a fellow townsman, Adolph B. Nesbit, and Circuit Judge Jesse R. Brown of Edwardsville, who is leading Leroy E. Miller of East St. Louis in the Republican primary.

In the 25th district Kent E. Keller of Ava, Democratic incumbent since 1930, apparently has a safe margin over William D. Lyerle of Jonesboro. State Senator R. G. Crisenberry of Murphysboro is expected to win the Republican nomination over George W. Dowell of Du Quoin, former attorney for the Progressive Mine Workers of America.

REPUBLICANS BID FOR DEMOCRATIC PROTEST BALLOT

Lyons Urges Stand Against Dictator Bill.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Republican leaders predicted yesterday that thousands of Democratic and Republican voters may cast their ballots in the G. O. P. primaries as a protest against Washington dictatorship, unemployment, and the government reorganization bill. They interpreted the Democratic row over the right of voters to change parties at this primary, and the unusual crowds attending Republican meetings, as tangible signs of defections which will strengthen the Republican vote.

Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidate for senator, and his teammates on the ticket presented these views at meetings last night in Riverside and the Elks club in Oak Park.

The crowds were enthusiastic. Despite the storm, 1,500 attended the Elks club rally.

Urge Protest Votes.

"We urge people to vote in the Republican primaries as a protest against dictatorship and the reorganization bill," said Lyons. "The issue is not a local fight in the primaries, but one of national unity.

"The Democratic factions are in a stampede, due to the fact that they realize large numbers of Democrats are going to vote in the Republican primaries. By every trick, too, they have been trying to get Republicans to vote in the Democratic primaries.

"But instead they find a protest against dictatorship, unemployment, bossism, and a shout for fundamental Americanism. We Republicans are back in our own ranks to stay.

"Illinois is the first state to hold a primary that will give voters a chance to indicate to the other forty-seven states the trend away from the Washington administration. By voting in the Republican primaries Illinois voters have an opportunity to indicate they are tired of one-family rule and that we must think again as a nation."

Cites Effect on Farmers.

The pressure of high prices and high taxes in manufacturing centers upon farmers miles away from the cities was cited by Simon E. Lantz, candidate for the Republican nomination for congressman at large. For years he has represented agriculture in the state senate.

"Agriculture cannot enter the buying class until its income rises above the $9,000,000,000 mark," he said. "Why? Because it takes 5 billion dollars a year just to operate the farms. In addition farmers must pay their share, 40 per cent, of the cost of operating the government. In the last fiscal year this was over 9 billion dollars, which made the farmers' share $3,600,000,000. The balance left the farmer was barely enough to provide him with the necessities of life."

RELEASED AFTER MISTAKE TAKES HIM INTO COURT

Dewey Turner, who was taken to court Wednesday in the belief that he was his brother, Marshall, was released yesterday by Judge John J. Lupe. The judge said he did not believe that Dewey was deliberately posing as Marshall.

Dewey was arrested at Marshall's home, 350 West 77th street, by Deputy Sheriff Carl Tufo, on a contempt warant obtained by Marshall's former wife, Mrs. Florence Turner. She charges he is $1,200 behind in child support payments.

Judge Lupe ordered a further hunt for the brother and directed that his automobile be impounded, after hearing that Marshall intended to drive to California.

28 Ousted Court Bailifs Get Regular Pay Checks

Twenty-eight deputy bailiffs of the Municipal court, reinstated on orders of the court judges after they were discharged by Bailiff Albert Horan, reportedly because of political connections, received their regular pay checks yesterday in the offices of Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby. Although Horan has refused to acknowledge their reinstatement or assign them jobs, the bailiffs have been reporting for duty on instructions of the judges.

Find Girls Are Becoming 'He-Men,' Boys Going Soft

Washington, D. C., April 7.—(AP)—American boys have gone soft and girls are becoming "he-men," Irving H. Larom of Cody, Wyo., president of the dude ranchers' association, said today. "The girls who come to our ranches from the east and middle west wash their clothes, sleep out of doors, ride and rough it," he said. "Boys want to take it easy somewhere else."

ALLMAN TO USE COURTNEY POLICE AS POLLS GUARDS

Quarrel Over Party Shifts Continues.

Police Commissioner Allman announced yesterday that he would need the policemen regularly assigned to State's Attorney Courtney's office for polls guard duty at the primary next Tuesday. He continued firm in his stand when Courtney protested.

"Since 1936," said the commissioner, "seventy-five new polling places have been added and the police department has eighty fewer men. We took half of the state's attorney's force of 101 the last time, and all of the men assigned to my office. If the park district wasn't willing to lend us 400 men, we wouldn't have enough to guard the polls as required by law and keep the police stations open."

The Day's Developments.

Other developments of the day included:

1. The issuance of warants by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki for two Nash-Kelly workers, one charged with attempting to bribe an election official and the other with assaulting a Jarecki worker.

2. Resignations of twenty more judges and clerks of election, raising the total of such resignations to more than 450.

3. Continuation of the quarrel as to whether voters may change their party affiliation of 1936 at the election Tuesday.

The state's attorney called the police commissioner in the afternoon to protest against the policemen being taken from his office. All, he said, were needed to guard witnesses and to investigate violence on election day.

Commissioner Allman told the state's attorney that he considered that the duty of guarding the polls is paramount, and added that only Courtney's bodyguard would be left with him.

The first Jarecki warant was issued for James J. Keenan, 3312 West 67th street, Nash-Kelly captain of the 31st precinct of the 13th ward. His next door neighbor, Frank P. Kelsey, a judge of election, asserted that Keenan offered him $10 if he would resign the place, which pays only $8. Attempting to bribe an election officer is a felony and conviction would carry a maximum penalty of $5,000 fine and one to five years in prison.

Accused of Beating Worker.

Thomas Sommario, Kelly-Nash adherent in the 24th precinct of the 20th ward, was accused of beating Frank Onesto, 1345 Taylor street, after ordering him to quit canvassing for Jarecki votes.

Another Jarecki partisan, Samuel Golter, 7154 Vincennes avenue, complained to the police last night that he had been beaten by two men in front of 7205 Yale avenue, where he went to sell tickets for a bunco party. Ambrose Brod, Horner-Courtney candidate for committeeman in Niles township, reported that bricks were thrown through the windows of his home at 5001 Market street, Niles Center.

The reasons for the resignations of more precinct officials was not brought out. It was said, however, that such resignations had never exceeded 100 in previous years.

County Clerk Michael J. Flynn asserted that all the poll lists in the 527 country town precincts were in perfect shape.

Judge John Prystalski, Jarecki's opponent, made a demand upon the county judge that by 3 p. m. next Monday he make public "the names of all cirminals and persons who have been adjudged insane, who have been retained by the election commissioners as judges and clerks of Tuesday's primaries." Unless the county judge accedes to his request, Prystalski said he himself will make public the names of such persons.

"Love Spy" Case

MRS. JEAN McDONALD.

[Associated Press Photos.]

MRS. PEARL ANTIBUS.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 7.—(AP)—The "dramatic" moment when Thomas L. Warner Jr. jerked from his head the earphones with which he was eavesdropping on his fiancée was related today at the trial of his suit for an accounting for $2,000 paid a private detective, Pearl Antibus.

The incident was told by Donald Cook, business manager for young Warner, Pasadena millionaire's son, who described the sleuthing tactics of Mrs. Antibus in her effort to find out whether Mrs. Jean MacDonald loved Warner or wanted him for his money.

Cook said young Warner spent time "listening in" on what transpired in Mrs. MacDonald's apartment. This was done by means of a listening device.

"He had the earphones on his head," Cook testified. "Suddenly he stood up and threw them off. 'I've heard all I want,'" he shouted.

Mrs. Antibus, convalescing from injuries she alleges were inflicted when Warner Sr. and district attorneys' investigators forcibly removed young Warner from her home last June 21, collapsed when she attempted to testify. She has a $510,000 damage suit against Warner Sr.

LOOP LUNCHEONS TO FETE PRIMARY POLITICAL RIVALS

Two special luncheons will be held in the loop tomorrow for the rival groups of Democratic candidates. On the Nash-Kelly side the Igoe-Prystalski Labor club will meet in the Stevens hotel to cheer the regular organization slate. Joseph Kehoe, secretary of the Street Car Men's union, will preside.

Horner-Jarecki candidates will lunch in the Palmer House with a large group of women comprising their Cook county women's division. Mrs. Frances S. Cummings, chairman, will preside, and the speakers will include Gov. Horner, State's Attorney Courtney, County Judge Jarecki, and Congressman Lucas.

IGOE CHARGES LUCAS CLOUDS BALLOT ISSUES

Assails Attacks on Men Not in Race.

If Scott W. Lucas will resume running for the Democratic senatorial nomination and quit assailing the elected leaders of the Cook county Democracy who are not candidates for any office at this time the party voters may have a clear cut issue on Tuesday, Michael L. Igoe told his campaign audiences last night.

"The trouble with my opponent," Igoe said in a series of south side meetings, "is that he and his board of control are more interested in winning a factional fight than they are in securing a Democratic victory next November. The only referendum Democrats of Illinois need consider next Tuesday is: Where do we stand with Roosevelt and the Roosevelt policies?

Assail Lucas Policies.

"My opponent has a variegated platform which runs all the way from straightening out the local elections, public schools, and park systems of Chicago to his determination that no foe of America shall ever set foot on our soil—even if he has to vote 'billions on billions' for that purpose. Otherwise he has nothing to offer the Democrats of Chicago and Illinois except his 'me, too' platform of complete subservience to the political aims and ambitions of the governor of Illinois.

"I have submitted to the Democrats of Illinois that the governor is neither a candidate nor an issue. Neither is the mayor of Chicago nor the state's attorney of Cook county."

Igoe's campaign manager, Thomas P. Sinnett of Rock Island, the governor's former floor leader in the house at Springfield, came to Chicago and leveled a blast at Horner. He charged that the governor aspired to be a super boss and was debasing and cheapening the prestige of his office by adopting the tactics of a ward heeler.

Tavern Owners Aid.

"The governor," Sinnett said, "prates about his interest in public service. Yet we find his liquor commission, whose members are appointed by the governor, using its influence and powers in furtherance of the inordinate ambition of the governor to build and perpetuate a political machine. Many tavern owners are being intimidated and coerced by the liquor commission and threatened with the loss of their licenses if they do not give their support to the governor's slate. The tavern owners who refuse to deliver for the governor's ticket are having their licenses revoked.

"We also witness the spectacle at Lincoln," Sinnett continued, "where farmers who were delivering milk to the state hospital, were required to pay an assessment of $25 or cease deliveries. Contractors and material men are being coerced and solicited to make contributions to the governor's machine. It is a matter of common knowledge that the contractor and material man who make the largest contribution become the favorites in the awarding of public contracts.

"I am confident the people of this state by their ballots will checkmate the governor in this, his mad rush for political power."

Toy Pistol Bandit Is Held to Jury on $45,000 Bond

John Hennegan, 21 years old, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $45,000 on robbery charges yesterday by Judge John J. Rooney, in the Felony court. Since his arrest Monday night he has confessed nine holdups and been identified in eleven others. He always used a toy pistol, he said, and robbed when he was unemployed.

Co-Ed Native

Mimi Grossman, University of Chicago co-ed from Canton, O., will dance in "South Sea Nights" production.

Rehersals were held yesterday for the forthcoming "South Sea Nights," a colorful and cheerful production dedicated to Hawaiian moods and music that is to be given the night of April 23 in International House. Proceeds will go to the students' aid. Not the least attractive, but perhaps the most attractive will be the several pretty University of Chicago co-eds, who will dance the Hula Kui, or temple dance. The dance will be authentic, promises James Haelani MacKenzie, production director, a Scotch-Hawaiian student.

DETECTIVE SUES DR. CONDON OF LINDBERGH CASE

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—Dr. John F. [Jafsie] Condon, the Bronx school teacher who was the intermediary between Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Bruno Richard Hauptmann, executed for the kidnaping and murder of the Lindbergh baby, was named defendant in a suit for $200,000 damages filed today in the Supreme court.

The plaintif is John J. Nosovitsky, a private detective, who alleges that Dr. Condon brought him into "public scandal, infamy, and disgrace" and caused him unemployment because Condon involved the plaintif in a grand jury investigation in Hunterdon county, N. J., where Hauptmann was tried and convicted. Condon is accused of telling several persons on April 22 last that Nosovitsky was "the main instigator in the kidnaping and murder of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr."

Two 'Customers' Hold Up Three Stores; Get $137

Two robbers who posed as customers and then drew weapons, held up three stores in widely separated neighborhoods last night and got $137. In a shoe shop at 1944 West Chicago avenue they forced John Jawor, a clerk, to hand over $50. From Julius Romo, manager of a men's shop at 1240 South Halsted street, they took $37, and from Joseph E. Herschel, manager of another men's shop at 3209 West 63d street, they got $50.

Close Lathrop Homes Eligible List Tomorrow

After tomorrow no more applications will be accepted for apartments in the Julia C. Lathrop homes, a Chicago housing authority project, Raymond E. Nelson, its manager, said yesterday. There are 14,000 applications on file for the 925 units in the homes. Leases for all units will be executed by tomorrow and all the homes will be occupied by May 7, Nelson said.

HORNER RENEWS BOSSISM ATTACK ON NASH-KELLY

Charges Party Interest Has Been Lost.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Gov. Horner assailed his Nash-Kelly opponents last night when he reentered the broiling Democratic primary fight after a day in Springfield. His particular targets were County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, who has ordered country town election officials under his jurisdiction to prohibit a change of party labels next Tuesday, and Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes, who has declared the order legal.

"When Mayor Kelly takes snuff Hodes sneezes," Horner told his audiences. "Flynn sits on Kelly's knee and babbles like Charlie McCarthy. But even in Charlie McCarthy's wooden head is enough spunk to talk back to his master now and then. Flynn can only tip his hat and repeat the words his ventriloquist puts in his mouth."

Returns to Bossism Theme.

Beating away on his favorite theme—that the sole issue in the primary is bossism—the governor charged Mayor Kelly and National Committeeman Patrick A. Nash with being interested only in themselves, not in the Democratic party.

"For the first time the bosses have tried to keep members of another party from joining," he said. "You would think that leaders of the self-styled regular party organization would welcome as many new voters as they could, but not Kelly and Nash. They are interested only in themselves, not the party. They are in panic at the sight of thousands and thousands of independent voters and heretofore Republican voters moving into the Democratic primaries for Tuesday's election.

"The bosses see housewives pouring out of their homes, working men from their factories and stores; they see farmers leaving the plough, independent voters streaking forth to smash the arrogant tax gluttons of the Nash-Kelly machine. The bosses know that so heavy a vote means ruin for their political machine."

The governor declared that Attorney General Kerner twice has held that voters may shift their party designations in the primary. He said that Kerner's predecessor, Oscar E. Carlstrom, had similarly held, as has State's Attorney Courtney and the election commissioners.

Assures Legality of Shifts.

"And as a lawyer who practiced fifteen years and sat on the bench eighteen years, I say so, too," Horner added. "Any citizen who has not voted at a primary since April, 1936, can, no matter what his politics, Republican or Democratic, demand the ballot he wants next Tuesday.

"Flynn," the governor declared, "has the shameless gall to print in the instruction book for primary election judges—and print it at the expense of the county—the order to refuse Democratic ballots to such Republicans as wish them. He is made to defy the law, public morals, and a thing greater than either—the principle of fair play."

Congressman Scott W. Lucas, whom the governor is backing against Michael L. Igoe, made a special appeal for the feminine vote, urging women to do their spring house cleaning in government by sweeping the Nash-Kelly machine out of power.

SUBURBS TRAIL CITY IN CUTTING REALTY TAXES

Rate Slashes Fail to Reach 8.2 Per Cent.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

Relatively few suburban real estate taxpayers in Cook county will get reductions in their 1937 tax bills as large as the 8.2 per cent cut for the city of Chicago. This was disclosed yesterday with the announcement of 1937 tax rates for country towns by County Clerk Michael J. Flynn.

Flynn announced last Tuesday that the Chicago 1937 rate was $8.73 per $100 of assessed valuation compared with $9.52 for 1936. Tax bills are scheduled to be sent out by May 1.

In some of the larger suburbs the 1937 rates are higher than those for 1936, despite many instances of sharp increases in assessed valuation. In contrast with the situation in Chicago, where the taxing bodies reduced their total 1937 levies by more than $5,000,000, aggregate tax bills in most of the large suburbs will exceed those of a year ago.

10.6 Per Cent in River Forest.

A comparison of rates in twenty suburbs shows that in only one—River Forest—will the average real estate tax bill show a drop of more than 8 per cent. The cut in River Forest is approximately 10.6 per cent.

The River Forest rate for 1937 is $5.82 compared with a 1936 rate of $6.51. However, the total assessed valuation of taxable property in River Forest jumped nearly 20 per cent for 1937 and the smaller 1937 rate will produce a greater tax extension than in 1936.

The Oak Park 1937 rate is $6.45, compared with $6.83 for 1936. In this western suburb, also, the 1937 rate will produce more taxes than in 1936. The 1937 assessed valuation for Oak Park is $43,653,860, on which the $6.45 rate will produce taxes of $2,815,000. The 1936 valuation was $40,020,054, on which the $6.83 rate produced $2,733,000.

North Shore Cuts Small.

In many north shore suburbs it had been expected that additions to personal property assessed valuation because of large holdings of securities uncovered by Assessor John S. Clark would bring a sharp cut in realty taxes. But the rate reductions were relatively small.

The Evanston base rate—that is, the rate which applies to the entire city, but is exclusive of special park and school district levies—was up slightly, $4.55 against $4.54. The final rates for Evanston, after allocation of park and school levies, will be slightly lower than 1936.

Only Final Rates Comparable.

The rates for a group of suburbs contained in the following tabulation are given to show only 1937 and 1936 comparisons. The rate for one village is not comparable with that for another except where they are indicated to be final rates. Final rates are designated by asterisks. Others are base rates which will be increased by school, park, and other special district levies depending on where the taxpayer's property is located.

Where a village is located in two townships separate rates are given. In some instances two final rates are given for a village according to the school district [S. D.] which is included. The tabulation:

The combined rates of the county and forest preserve district, over which local authorities have no control, were 6 cents lower for 1937. The sanitary district rate, which applies to most of the above, was off 4 cents.

LAWYER HITS JUDGE MAJOR'S CAMPAIGN ACTS

Springfield, Ill., April 7.—[Special.]—Attorney Robert W. Johnson of Springfield, it was learned today, has written a letter to President John F. Voight of the Illinois State Bar association complaining of the primary campaign activity of United States District Judge J. Earl Major.

"The acceptance of a lifetime appointment to the federal judiciary," the letter read, "is regarded as a surrender of interest in active politics. Judge Major is reported as presiding at political meetings and as taking great interest in the candidacy of those seeking nominations.

"On the same platform are those who must prosecute in his court. We see, on the other hand, attorneys opposing Judge Major's candidates. It is possible that feeling may exist after such a bitter contest?"

TRAIN KILLS DEAF MUTE.

U. S. TESTS SHOW AIR BOMBER CAN SINK BATTLESHIP

New Findings Controvert Roosevelt Position.

navy has been urging heavier ships of greater armament and pressing for the addition of 500 planes to its air fleet.

1,000 Pound Bomb Enough.

It was learned authoritatively today that tests clearly have shown that a 1,000 pound bomb—standard equipment for modern bombers—exploding within 5 to 100 yards of a battleship can so seriously injure the internal machinery as to make the vessel a cripple in combat. A crippled vessel is almost as useless as a sunken vessel in battle.

One of the army's new superbombers, carrying several 1,000 pound bombs, could disable and even sink a battleship without difficulty, it was said. This, of course, presupposes that the plane could escape the fire of 5 inch anti-aircraft guns, which shoot explosive shells to a height of 50,000 feet.

The threat of the superbombers was dramatically demonstrated in the massed flight of six of the craft to Buenos Aires in February. The planes made the 6,000 mile flight in 34 hours. Translating the flight to the ocean, the planes could have menaced battleships in almost any area of the Pacific ocean in working out of island bases.

Two Types of Tests Used.

The army conducts bombing tests against ships in two ways. The first calls for navy coöperation and the second is accomplished on land.

In coöperation with the navy, the army planes drop bombs and dummy bombs on towed targets which roughly outline the vulnerable part of a battleship.

More frequent tests are made in the dry basin of Lake Muroc in California, where army planes drop bombs on the outline of the hull of a battleship barely visible from the air.

The army also has devised a moveable target, which is towed across the bottom of the lake at a speed approximating that of a cruiser—forty miles an hour. This target has been theoretically sunk hundreds of times by bombing squadrons, and the tests have shown the increasing accuracy of army planes.

Accurate at 14,000 Feet.

Army planes are now deadly accurate at 14,000 feet or nearly three miles up. It has been reported that tests are now being conducted at greater heights—greater than those attempted by and foreign powers.

The height employed in the most recent tests is a closely guarded secret. However, it is believed to approximate 20,000 feet, as the ceiling of the flying fortress type of bomber is about 25,000 feet. The height is an important factor in bombing because the higher the plane can get and still drop bombs accurately, the greater chance it has of evading enemy anti-aircraft weapons and the greater its advantage over enemy planes.

The principle reason for the success of planes in the mock warfare against men of war, according to current belief, is a superior bomb sight which has been developed by the army. The sight is said to be years ahead of any similar foreign equipment.

Favoritism Charge Made.

The controversy over whether a plane could sink a battleship flared up on Capitol hill soon after President Roosevelt sought to expand the navy. A house bloc charged that the President was aware of the secret bombing tests but was neglecting the air forces because of his old love for the navy. He was assistant secretary of the navy during the war.

At the senate hearing today Admiral Cook solemnly told members of the naval affairs committee in secret session that the number of bombs that could be successfully dropped on battleships, even under the most favorable circumstances, would be exceedingly small.

Nothing was said of the existence of the secret test reports. The tests are such closely guarded military and naval secrets, it was learned, that Admiral Cook could not have made them known had he wanted to do so. The admiral in his testimony was under the orders of his commander in chief, President Roosevelt, who favors a mighty navy.

The senate recognized the air threat to the country yesterday in approving the 491 million dollar war department appropriation bill. Funds were included for 308 rapid-firing 3 inch anti-aircraft guns. Mr. Roosevelt had asked for only 141.

MRS. RUTH ANNE LAWLER.

Judge John J. Lupe is getting tired of having the corridor outside his courtroom turned into a battleground, he said yesterday in issuing an attachment for the arrest of Joseph J. Lawler, 29 years old. Lawler, the judge was told, lay in wait for his former wife, Ruth Anne, 24 years old, of 5916 Superior street, and when she emerged from the court where she had asked that he be forced to pay a $200 maintenance arrearage, he struck her, twisted her arm, and banged her head against a wall.

Judge Lupe had previously told Lawler, a postoffice truck driver, to make a substantial payment by tomorrow or go to jail.

On Monday Mrs. Margaret Hewitt, 26 years old, of 500 East 75th street, was leaving Judge Lupe's court when her husband, Edward, murmured "Congratulations!" and struck her.

SETTLE DETROIT STRIKE; STREET CARS RUN TODAY

City and Union Agree on Terms.

Detroit, Mich., April 8 [Friday].—(AP)—Mayor Richard W. Reading announced early today that the strike of operators of the municipal street car system has been settled. The mayor said he expected trolley service to be restored before noon and that buses would continue to run.

Reading did not reveal the terms of the agreement. He said it would have to be ratified by members of division 26 of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employés of America, which struck at 4 a. m. yesterday.

Present Details to Men.

"We have reached an agreement that is mutually satisfactory," Mayor Reading said. "The officers [of the union] have agreed to call a meeting as early as possible and will present to the men the details agreed upon.

"They will do everything they can to bring about acquiesence on the part of the men. I'm quite sure we can resume full service by 11 a. m. today."

The management of the city owned street railway system had announced a short time before that buses, which continued operating during the trolley tie-up, would be halted during the night to give drivers rest before the morning rush hour.

Court Bars Violence.

Violence in the strike was forbidden late yesterday by a court injunction. The injunction was got by the city. It forbade picketing or in any way preventing operation of the city owned street cars and buses.

Legal action was taken after the C. I. O. pledged the aid of its shock troops in running motor coaches off the streets. Although the strike was launched by an American Federation of Labor union, C. I. O. officials hovered about, apparently eager to take a hand.

"I believe it is my duty to sign this order to prevent bloodshed," said Circuit Judge Dewitt H. Merriam as he issued the temporary order.

The strike, the first here since the city took over the street railway system in 1920, was begun in an attempt to force the city to put into effect a single seniority plan for both the street car and bus lines. This arrangement would have displaced many of the motorbus operators, members of an independent union.

Mrs. Maryon H. McCarter Files Bankruptcy Action

New York, April 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Maryon Cooper Hewitt McCarter filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy today in Federal court, naming her daughter Anne as contingent creditor because of $500,000 demanded as damages after a sterilization operation which the daughter claimed her mother ordered. Mrs. Hewitt listed liabilities totaling $693,741.20, and assets of $250, plus "chattels of unknown value," and an interest in the estate of her father, the late Peter Cooper Hewitt, which she claimed was exempt.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned an open verdict in the death of Anthony Socha, 60 years old, 1624 North Oakley avenue, found shot on March 15 at the rear of 2200 Division street. A gun was found in his hand.

DUCE SEEKS LOAN TO MAKE NATION 'SELF SUFFICIENT'

Economic Liberty Program Complicates Life.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, April 7.—Fascism's "economic self-sufficiency" program is a great success, Fascists insist, but figures indicate the program will need a substantial loan from abroad if it is to continue to be a success.

It makes life a bit harder for the ordinary Italian, and for foreigners in Italy it is a nuisance. Foreign products constantly become more scarce and more expensive. Many cannot be had at all.

Premier Mussolini is reported well satisfied with the results of the policy which was adopted in 1935 and speeded up by partial application of sanctions [economic penalties] later that year.

Adverse Trade Balance Grows.

It is difficult in Italy to find any sign that the policy is not a full success. However, there is still an adverse trade balance of some 6 billion lire a year [about $315,600,000], and it is still growing. As far as can be seen, only a big loan to keep things going until Italy can find a way of increasing production and exports will really permit the system to work.

That is believed to be what Italy expects to get out of the current conferences with the British.

From 2 billion 600 million lire [$136,760,000] in 1934, the adverse trade balance rose to 5 billion 600 million lire [$294,560,000] last year and is still mounting. Exports have not fallen, but the lira has, and Italy has to pay more for the raw materials she cannot get at home.

Nevertheless, the Fascists are determined to stick to "autarchy" as their only salvation from "political and economic slavery."

Prices Rise Higher than Pay.

Individuals do not find it agreeable. Salaries have been raised 12 per cent by law, but prices have gone up about 30 per cent in a year and a half. Pay is extremely low, workers averaging 12 lire [63 cents] a day.

Gold reserves, seriously drained by the Ethiopian war, amount to only 4 billion 28 million paper lire [$211,872,800].

As a policy, Fascist self-sufficiency means that by any means possible what Italy buys abroad must cost less than what Italy sells abroad.

How that could be, if all countries adopted the policy, not even Italian economists can explain. Their salvation is that the policy is not universal. It does not need to be, they say, because countries like America with rich natural resources do not need to worry about dependence on others.

Tourists Are a Big Help.

The Italians have two distinct reasons for their policy. One is to protect their power to buy abroad when necessary by building up a reserve of gold and foreign currency. The other is to be able to keep going in war time if their sea routes are cut off.

Tourists are a big help to the government. They leave behind about 1 billion 500 million lire [$78,900,000] every year. Italians who have emigrated to America and other countries also help with the 400 million lire [$21,040,000] they send to their families. And some 300 million lire [$15,780,000] comes in from shipping. None of that can leave the country again except with government permission.

But Italy's natural adverse balance of trade is more than double the two billion lire [$105,200,000] those sources bring in, and the Fascists are determined to cut foreign purchases until the balance is at least even.

Life Becomes Complicated.

The result is to complicate life for the ordinary person.

Strict rules on taking money into and out of Italy are a nuisance to travelers. But foreigners are compensated by getting an extra high exchange rate. Instead of getting about 19 lire for the dollar they get 21.

The self-sufficiency program also means that Italians must learn to get along on all sorts of substitutes. All over Italy there are billboards advertising synthetic wools and synthetic cottons.

The substitutes are not very good. The wool looks and feels like wool, but it is not very warm, and clothes made of it quickly lose their shape. Foreigners in Italy continue to buy woolens from abroad. The Italians, who for the most part could not afford to do that even if they were permitted, take the substitute and make the best of it. The synthetic product is made from milk by a secret process.

The most important point about the synthetic cotton from the government's point of view is said to be that it has just been discovered that it makes excellent gun cotton for high explosives.

Italy Imports Coal.

Coal was another commodity that had to be imported. Water power did not, so electrification of railways is being pushed ahead.

Gasoline has to be imported. The price is kept even higher than it needs to be, in order to discourage private use of automobiles. Gasoline that the government gets for about 8 cents a gallon costs the public about 87 cents.

What cannot be produced in Italy is costly. The nation imitates what it can and the public has to take it even if it is inferior to foreign products.

Sanctions speeded up a process that had already been started, and many foreign products became unobtainable at once. Most of them have been replaced for good by Italy's own products.

For the first time Italy became a really industrial country, and for purposes of defense, chiefly, the Fascists are seeing it sticks to that line. All sorts of maneuvers are resorted to to get foreign cash and to avoid buying abroad.

Sells Ethiopian Coffee Abroad.

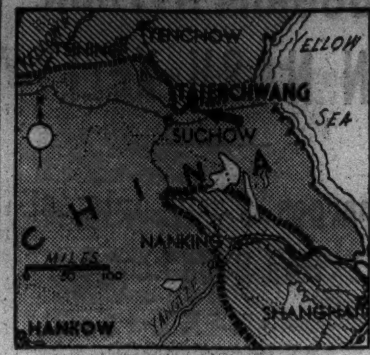
One of the most interesting is the sale of Ethiopian coffee. Italy is pushing its sale abroad as much as possible. In Italy, its price is high, and the public is encouraged to drink Brazilian coffee.

The reason is that Brazilian coffee can be paid for in exports, while Italy is paid in foreign currency or imports she cannot do without for the Ethiopian coffee.

How much this program has helped employment, it is impossible to tell. The Italians will not disclose unemployment figures. In any case they would not mean much. Large numbers of men are employed in industries that cannot pay their own way against competition. But there is no competition, and any losses the government has to make up are less costly than unemployment doles.

Japanese Flee

(Story in adjoining column.)



Chinese troops defending Suchow reported Japanese fled from Taierchwang (indicated by arrow) after 5,000 of their comrades were slain in what the Chinese greeted as a major victory. The Japanese forces had advanced from the north toward the east-west Lunghai railroad in the corridor dividing Japanese conquests in North and Central China. Japanese controled territory is shown by diagonal lines.

JAPAN DEMANDS SUPREMACY IN WESTERN PACIFIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, April 7.—Japan is gravely concerned lest her guardianship of the western Pacific be imperiled by the United States, Rear Admiral Kiyoshi Noda, navy spokesman, said today.

"It is imperative that we maintain supremacy of the western Pacific from the standpoint of national security," Noda said.

He referred to the letter which Secretary of State Cordell Hull sent to Chairman David I. Walsh of the naval affairs committee of the United States senate last Sunday declaring for around the world protection for Americans. In Japan's opinion, Noda said, that letter indicated a complete rom the standpoint of security, he said. a defense line based on the Aleutians, Hawaii, Samoa, and Panama.

CHINESE DEFEAT JAPS, KILL 5,000; HANKOW ELATED

Joyous Throngs Parade Streets of Capital.

HANKOW, China, April 7.—(AP)—A million and a half Chinese in this temporary center of government celebrated tonight what appeared to be China's first decisive victory in nine months of undeclared war with Japan.

Authorities joined in the popular elation over official reports that a stunning blow had been given the Japanese at Taierchwang, a town on the central front northwest of Suchow, vital railroad junction in Kiangsu province toward which the Japanese are driving.

Thousands Sing in Streets.

Even a drizzling rain failed to decrease the enthusiasm of the Chinese of Hankow, Wuchang, and Hanyang, the three cities that form this Yangtze river metropolitan area. Spontaneous celebrations started in the afternoon after newspaper extras and radio broadcasts reported the victory. By night fall the celebrations grew to a mammoth triumphal procession through packed streets.

Tens of thousands of civilians, students, and troops marched, sang war songs, and shouted slogans. Women and children followed the blaring bands.

Premier Dr. H. H. Kung appeared in the streets to watch the celebrations.

In the reported victory at Taierchwang, a Chinese spokesman said, 5,000 Japanese were wiped out and the Japanese spearhead aimed at the Grand canal was broken. He said Japanese detachments that broke through a ring of Chinese troops fled to the north, abandoning supplies and artillery.

Chinese Use Heavy Guns.

Independent advices from Suchow apparently confirmed the Chinese reports, explaining that Japanese troops, pushing southward toward the junction of the north-south Tientsin-Pukow and east-west Lunghai railroads, had allowed themselves to be surrounded, counting on artillery to blast a gap through the Chinese cordon.

They said the Chinese, however, brought up heavier artillery than the Japanese possessed and, using tanks for the first time since the battle for Shanghai, defeated the Japanese.

The battle for Taierchwang this morning had entered its eighteenth day, and, foreign observers said, became a major issue of the Chinese-Japanese war, involving "face pidgin"—prestige and morale—for both Chinese and Japanese. Japanese leaders were said to be sending heavy reinforcements from Tientsin and Tsingtao in the north.

AMERICA TO SEND BRITAIN PLANES, LONDON REPORTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 7.—America is ready to supply England with military airplanes and would waive its neutrality laws if this country should be involved in war so that spare parts also could be obtained, the Daily Telegraph said today.

The British government, it is said, has been informed of this important development in Washington's attitude towards its rearmament policy. The American government not only is prepared to supply many war planes if requested to equip the rapidly expanding British airforce, but would even hold up deliveries to the American air force to fulfil urgent contracts from Great Britain, the Daily Telegraph says.

Tentative inquiries into the possibilities and implications of ordering American planes are now being made to the United States by the British government, it was revealed.

REBELS CAPTURE TREMP, SITE OF ELECTRIC PLANT

Spanish Loyalists Brace on Tortosa Front.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish Frontier], April 7.—(AP)—Capture of Tremp, Catalonia's chief electric power center, was hailed by Spanish rebels tonight as a heavy blow to loyalist resistance in Catalonia.

Electric plants at Tremp, some 40 miles north of Lerida, supplied the power for most of Catalonia's war industries. Shutdown of the industrial plants was practically certain, rebels said.

[A government communique confirmed that Tremp had fallen. Government troops were said to have taken up defensive positions about a mile from Tremp.]

Halt Drive at Tortosa.

Another rebel unit, fighting its way up the Segre river valley from Balaguer, had as its objectives the towns of San Lorenzo and Camarasa, where two other electric plants are located.

Government resistance stiffened in the southern sector around Tortosa, on the River Ebro near the Mediterranean. Three Loyalist divisions held the rebel drive toward the sea almost at a standstill. The contending forces fought a few miles north of Tortosa and the rebels apparently had been unable to advance for two days.

Government dispatches said the coastal road, which remains the last land link between Barcelona and Valencia, still was being used to transport supplies, although it was under fire.

6,000 Struggle in Snow.

Farther north, fleeing ahead of the rebels, between 5,000 and 6,000 civilian refugees struggled across the snow and ice-covered passes of the Pyrenees to reach a haven in France. The first group of 750 from the villages of Parsan and Bielsa, including many women and children, arrived at Gavarnie, France.

Another group arrived at Fos and said rebel pursuit planes had flown low over them. Many other refugees, they said, were hiding in the wooded hillsides of the Aran valley in fear of rebel bombing attacks. The French are giving first aid and food at the frontier villages and sending refugees to the interior of France.

Urge Purge of Régime.

BARCELONA, April 7.—(AP)—The Union General de Trabajadores, Socialist-communist labor union, which now is represented in the government, called on the régime today for power to "purify" government Spain behind the fronts of dissident elements. The UGT declared that "fifth column elements"—rebel sympathizers—were "dangerous and active."

Socialist followers of Indalecio Prieto gained a new voice in the management of the war with appointment of Julian Zugazagoita, former interior minister, to the newly created post of secretary general of the defense ministry.

Pair Confess Two More South Side Holdup Killings

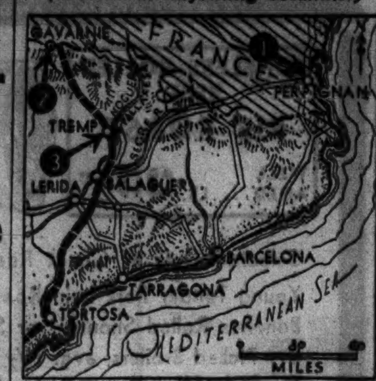
Two colored men, the confessed slayers of a man and a woman in two south side robberies, yesterday confessed two more holdup murders, according to Capt. Eugene Barry. All the victims were colored. The confessed killers are William Richardson, 22 years old, 4446 Calumet avenue, and Louis Mitchell, 23, of 4848 Prairie avenue.

Catholic Leader Assails Communism and Fascism

The Rev. John Maguire, Catholic leader and former president of St. Viator college, assailed communism and Fascism yesterday in an address at the University of Chicago. "Neither Fascism nor Communism can be the lesser evil," he said. "Both are supremely evil. Both are inevitably anti-religious."

Take Electric Plant

(Stories in adjoining columns.)



Tragic fate of Americans fighting for Spanish loyalists told by soldier arriving at Perpignan (arrow No. 1). Refugees reaching Gavarnie (2) tell of 6,000 others struggling in Pyrenees snow. Advancing rebels yesterday captured Tremp (3), site of electric generating plant. Rebel occupied territory is to the left of heavy dotted line.

3 BRITISH FLYERS DIE IN EXPLOSION OF ARMY PLANE

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—Three royal air force flyers were killed today when their reconnaissance plane exploded and fell into the North sea. The air ministry officially identified the plane, which had been the object of a widespread search near Dudgeon light, off the Humber estuary, where it was seen to burst into flame. The plane had been on a routine night navigation flight.

The crash was the thirty-fourth in the royal air force since Jan. 1, and raised its death toll to fifty-eight since then. The accidents again received the attention of the house of commons when Norman John Hulbert, a Conservative, served notice that he would ask Earl Winterton, spokesman for the air ministry, to cease publishing details of the crashes.

He said other countries suppressed similar information and publication in Britain was "likely to give foreigners an erroneous impression regarding the efficiency of the royal air force."

VOTE FOR UNION, CATHOLIC PAPER URGES AUSTRIANS

VIENNA, April 7.—(AP)—The Wiener Kirchenblatt, official organ of the Catholic diocese of Vienna, today urged all Catholics to support the union of Austria with Germany in Sunday's plebiscite. The paper enumerated four duties which should bind every Catholic after the plebiscite.

"It is a self-understood matter of vote 'yes' according to the direction of the church leader appointed by God," it said. "With this 'yes,' however, four obligations exist for the period following the election: Obedience toward the new worldly authority, unbounded loyal coöperation in the development of the fatherland, manifestation of Catholicism in the new situation, and, finally, a daily prayer for the great German nation and its Fuehrer."

Wahl-Henius Institute Graduates 30 Brewmasters

Commencement exercises for twenty-three brewers graduated by the Wahl-Henius institute were held last evening in the Drake hotel. Two hundred brewmasters from all parts of the country were present. The Dr. Max Henius award for outstanding service to the brewing industry was presented to Herman Rosenbusch of Detroit. In his speech of acceptance Rosenbusch said insidious influences were working for the return of prohibition.

Britain Accepts Hull Plan to Aid Austrian Refugees

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—Britain today informed the United States of her acceptance of the proposal of Secretary of State Hull for an international committee to aid Austrian and German political refugees.

[France, several other European states, and most of the Latin American republics have accepted the Hull proposal. Italy has declined.]

8,800 AMERICAN CASUALTIES TOLL OF WAR IN SPAIN

Survivor Tells of Tragic Stand at Gandesa.

PERPIGNAN, France, April 7.—(AP)—An American who served with the Spanish government army estimated today that 9,000 Americans went to Spain to fight against the rebels and said he knew of only 200 who still were fighting.

John G. Honeycombe.

All others, he said, either were killed, wounded, taken prisoners, or had disappeared.

He was John G. Honeycombe of Los Angeles, Cal., who said he acted as political commissar for the Washington and Lincoln battalions.

Honeycombe, who is 37 years old, told the tragic story of the American volunteers after reaching this side of the border wounded and in a tattered uniform.

Hit at Belchite and Gandesa.

The Old Washington battalion, Honeycombe said, was almost wiped out at Belchite, where the rebels' march toward the sea started four weeks ago and "Franco finished the job at Gandesa."

In what he called "the Gandesa collapse," Honeycombe said 560 remnants of the Washington battalion were caught in the path of the rebel army that took the town last Saturday.

"That was a complete rout," he said. "Our brigade was forced to make a stand April 2 on heights less than a mile west of Gandesa, but we had to evacuate those positions under artillery fire and the strafing of bombing Fascist planes. We had no planes of our own and no artillery."

28 Escape Out of 560.

Honeycombe said the main body of Americans was trapped farther west of Gandesa, and he saw "only twenty-eight men, besides himself, escaping out of the 560."

Honeycombe declared the Washington and Lincoln brigades held front lines in every major action during the fourteen months they have fought in the Spanish war.

The last American volunteers, Honeycombe said, were a contingent of 350 that arrived forty days ago, were given a week's training and were almost wiped out at Gandesa.

He said the American volunteers were paid seven pesetas [40 cents] a day.

Honeycombe said there were 15 different language group brigades among the Spanish government's international forces. He estimated their peak strength at 30,000, but said now they "couldn't be more than 2,000."

Statement Attacked.

New York, April 7.—(AP)—Friends of the Abraham Lincoln brigade issued a statement today denouncing John G. Honeycombe. The statement, attributed to Capt. Carl Bradley, executive secretary of the veterans of the Abraham Lincoln brigade, read:

Continue Hearing for Two Held After Bookie Shooting

Hearing of charges against two men held in connection with the fatal shooting last Monday of Joseph V. Berger, a telephone company employé, in a handbook at 3455 North Clark street, was continued to May 10 by Judge John J. Rooney in the Felony court yesterday. The two men, John Kowal, owner of the handbook, charged with conspiracy to commit an unlawful act and carrying a concealed weapon, and Jack Odens, also charged with conspiracy, were released on bond.

BRITISH WORRIED; FEAR GERMANS WON'T QUIT SPAIN

View Nazis as Threat to Mine Interests.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 7.—With a victory for Gen. Francisco Franco, rebel commander, and an end of hostilities in Spain believed to be in sight, British anxiety over whether the Italian and German governments really intend to withdraw their nationals from Spain is growing more acute.

Many Britons think Premier Mussolini will withdraw part of his men now under arms in Spain, although some observers believe he wants to leave a number of them there to keep a foothold. Spain, it was pointed out, was part of the old Roman empire which Mussolini, who was named a marshal recently, has sworn to restore in the Mediterranean.

Fear German Experts.

The greatest uneasiness, however, has been caused by an estimated 10,000 German technical and industrial experts now in Spain. They have played an important part in the operation of all public services in rebel territory.

If they remain Britons fear they will be used by Reichsfuehrer Hitler to get a strangle hold on Spanish mines and industry which hitherto have been monopolized by British interests.

In many ways the German technicians in Spain are considered a greater menace to British interests than foreign combatants.

Loyalists Ask to Buy Arms.

The British cabinet has under consideration two notes from the Barcelona [loyalist] government. One told of the landing of more troops and material for Franco from Germany and Italy. The other appealed that the noninterventionists' arms embargo be lifted to permit loyalist Spain to get war materials.

[Paris dispatches said both the French and British governments rejected loyalist Spain's appeal for the right to buy munitions and arms abroad and transport them through France. Both countries refused to abandon their policy of nonintervention, the reports said.]

The government of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain was said to consider the Spanish situation such that abandonment of nonintervention would be more dangerous to European peace now than a year ago.

Approve Aid in Arms Speedup.

A policy of coöperation in the British government's rearmament speedup program was accepted in principle today at York by representatives of thirty-four trade unions governing several hundred thousand industrial workers.

They met under the auspices of the Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions. The effect of the decision was to pave the way for direct negotiations with employers on revision of trade union agreements and customs necessitated by the speeding up of arms production.

The negotiations will involve working conditions for more than half of the workers in engineering and allied trades.

INDICATE HITLER IS PLOTTING NEW CHANGES IN MAP

Nazi Chiefs Hint He's Not Fully Satisfied.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 7.—Two leaders of Nazi Germany today indicated Adolf Hitler is not yet satisfied with the looks of the world map, in which he already has made sensational changes since he came to power.

They were Rudolf Hess, deputy leader of the Nazi party, and Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda. They are campaigning in connection with next Sunday's plebiscite on Germany's annexation of Austria.

Hess, speaking in Vienna, referred to the peace treaties by saying: "Democracies were responsible for tearing nations asunder and shamefully perverting the map of central Europe contrary to all common sense."

Predicts Return of Colonies.

Goebbels, in an address in Nuremberg, said: "It is necessary that Hitler and his government keep a close watch so that Germany is not again torn apart at a time when we assume that the earth is to be redistributed anew."

Referring to reparations, he said: "The world had demands on us at that time. Now we have demands on the world." Goebbels told his audience that Germany would "not always lack colonies."

At Vienna Hess placed wreaths on the graves of Sergeants Otto Planetta, Franz Holzweber, and Domes, who were hanged by the government of former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg for the murder of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss in 1934.

Other Nazi Graves.

Simultaneously, Nazi delegations placed floral offerings on the graves of "all other National Socialists murdered in Vienna by the former régime."

At Salzburg Hitler turned the first spadeful of earth for a new automobile superhighway extending Germany's road system across Austria.

When it is completed Germany will be able to move motorized divisions from the Baltic coast to the Brenner pass and from western Germany to the Hungarian and Jugo-Slav borders in fast time. Hitler in an address demanded that the double track stretch connecting Salzburg with Vienna be completed in three years.

Restrains Mate

Mrs. Betty Baldwin in court with son, Louis Jr.

On Dec. 23 Louis Baldwin stalked out of his home at 3400 South Union avenue, leaving his wife, Betty, 26 years old, and their son, Louis Jr. In due course Mrs. Baldwin filed suit for divorce against Louis, who is employed at a café at 718 West 31st street.

Last Wednesday morning Mrs. Baldwin was awakened bright and early by a persistent rasping, much like that of a crosscut saw. She sat up in bed startled. The sound was of snoring. The man in bed with her was Louis. She shook Louis and ordered him out. He struck her.

After hearing this yesterday Judge John J. Lupe said it must have been a terrible experience and issued an injunction restraining Louis from molesting or annoying his wife.

Gandhi's Health Damaged by All Day Nationalist Fast

CALCUTTA, India, April 7.—(AP)—The health of Mohandas K. Gandhi, Nationalist leader, suffered a setback from his all-day fast yesterday in observance of National week. He spent a restless night. Gandhi, who has renounced the title of mahatma, has had three breakdowns in the last three months.

SON DROPS CHARGES AGAINST FATHER.

Judge John J. Rooney in Felony court yesterday dismissed a charge of assault with intent to kill against George Calcagno, 850 Cleveland avenue. Calcagno's son, Anthony, who was shot by his father, told the court he did not wish to prosecute.

Quebec Votes Law Forcing Unions to Incorporate

QUEBEC, Que., April 7.—Compulsory incorporation of trade unions, long opposed by organized labor, will go into effect in Quebec province as a result of a bill introduced by Premier Maurice Duplessis himself and passed today by the legislative assembly after a heated debate. The bill provides that trade groups or associations might be summoned before the courts of the province in any recourse provided by law.

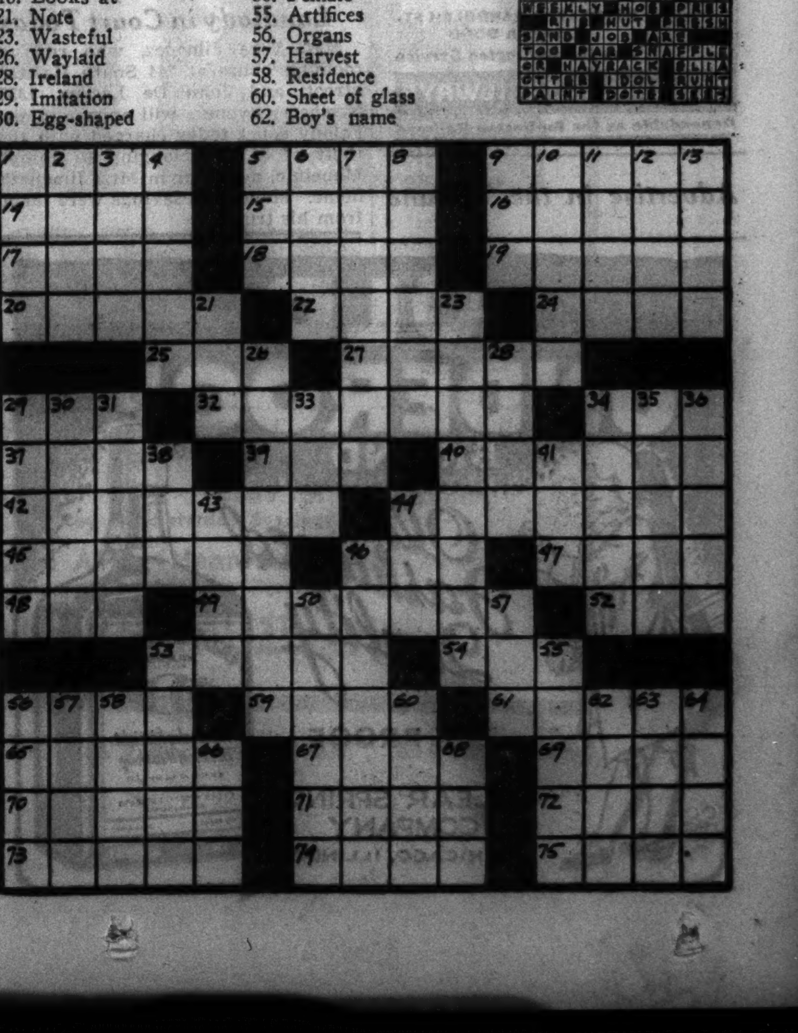
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



CHICAGO CONCERN OFFERS BEST 'L' HIGHWAY DESIGN

Wins$5,000International Engineering Award.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—The Chicago firm of Hazelet & Erdal, consulting engineers, today was declared the winner of the $5,000 first prize for the best elevated highway design in the international competition held by the American Institute of Steel Construction.

The jury of widely known engineers and architects held that of the 273 designs submitted the Hazelet & Erdal plan was the best solution to the trafic problems confronting the urban centers of this country. A statement accompanying the announcement pictured the situation as follows:

"Trafic accidents and congestion constitute one of the most serious problems confronting America today. An annual toll of 40,000 fatalities, 125,000 permanent disabilities and 1,500,000 personal injuries creates a social situation demanding solution. Rapidly growing congestion, especially in cities, is an obstacle to efficient production and distribution, in general, and greatly depreciates the tremendous investment in automotive equipment of all kinds."

Streamlined 4-Lane Road.

The Chicago firm offered a streamlined four lane roadway lifted above surface congestion by single pedestals made up of two supporting legs. The jury decided that the structure could be erected without causing heavy property damage and without impeding trafic on underlying streets.

The designers suggested an open grid floor for the roadway, a type used with success on lift bridges, in order to prevent the accumulation of snow or rain water.

Bridges designed by Hazelet of the winning firm may be found in many countries of the world. Before joining Erdal, Hazelet was with the Ford Motor company and the Boston and Albany railroad. Erdal is a former bridge designer for the Chicago, Burlington, and Quincy railway and the American Bridge company.

Other Award Winners.

The second prize of $2,000 went to Madigan-Hyland, consulting engineers for the department of parks in New York, while the third prize of $1,000 was awarded to Walter W. W. Jones, a civil service employé and bridge designer for Manhattan. Included in the designs given honorable mention and carrying $100 prizes were those submitted by George D. Recher of Chicago and Max Schlesinger of Springfield, Ill. Schlesinger is with the Illinois division of highways.

Among the foreign designs were four from Paris and entries from London, Stockholm, Holland, Budapest, Shanghai, the Canadian provinces and Venezuela. It was said the foreign contestants fell short of grasping the problems involved for no other country has trafic congestion comparable to that existing in the big cities of the United States.

Wins Annulment from Wife Reported Killed in Accident

Rochester, Ind., April 7.—[Special.]—Judge Robert Miller in Circuit court today annulled the marriage of James Abbott, wealthy resident of this city, and Edith Miller Abbott on grounds of bigamy. Abbott stated that they had met through a lonesome hearts magazine and they were married at Tipton Oct. 2, 1935. Then they lived together until Aug. 5, 1937, he said, when he accused his wife of bigamy, contending she was the wife of William John Miller of Milwaukee. She left him, he said, and later he heard she had been killed in a bus accident near St. Louis, Mo. Nevertheless, he asked an annulment.

Woman Writer of Extortion Note Is Granted Freedom

Mrs. Irene Skoczen, 24 years old, 3217 North Richmond street, who confessed to Sergt. Ray Venn of the Albany Park police that she wrote an extortion note to John Machnik, 5305 Henderson street, was released by the postal inspectors yesterday. After conferring with Assistant United States District Attorney John Moreschi, the inspectors said they would not prosecute.

Roomer Misses His $1,800; Landlady in Court Today

Mrs. Vera Jimenez, who runs a rooming house at 744 South Halsted street, and John De Lacruz, 1355 Newberry avenue, will appear in the Felony court today charged with the theft of $1,800 belonging to Joseph Moucinio, a roomer in Mrs. Jimenez's home. Moucinio's savings were taken from his trunk.

ASK COURT TODAY FOR 5 PCT. REBATE ON REALTY TAXES

Attorneys Charles H. Blumenfeld and William F. Struckmann, representing the Chicago Real Estate board, will appear before County Judge Jarecki today to ask for an order rebating to Chicago taxpayers approximately 5 per cent of their 1934 realty taxes paid in full and under protest, Blumenfeld said yesterday. The attorneys will ask that the portion of 1934 taxes held illegal by the courts be rebated under blanket objection suits entered two years ago.

If the order is granted by Judge Jarecki and sustained by the Illinois Supreme court, it is estimated that more than half of the small taxpayers in the city will be eligible for the refund. More than $7,000,000 of the 1934 taxes of the major governments in Chicago was voided by the courts. Attorney Robert S. Cushman, representing large taxpayers who made court objections to 1934 taxes, said he and other tax attorneys planned to ask Judge Jarecki today to sign orders applying the reductions to their clients' taxes.

INJURIES FATAL TO PAINTER HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

John Heringa, 59 years old, of 2218 Washburne avenue, a painter, died yesterday in the county hospital from injuries incurred last Saturday when he was struck by an automobile as he was crossing Roosevelt road at Wood street. David Weimer, 2122 North Richmond street, was the driver.

Leonard Kosatka, 21 years old, 1125 Farwell avenue, an engineering student in the University of Michigan, was killed yesterday in a collision of two automobiles in Jackson, Mich. Kosatka was returning to Chicago from Ann Arbor for spring vacation.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 225 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 184 were killed in Chicago, where 4,414 were injured in the same period.

SIX AUTOISTS GET JAIL TERMS FOR IGNORING FINES

All Sentenced on Charge of Reckless Driving.

Six men who had been given a chance to pay trafic fines in instalments, but failed to do so, were sentenced yesterday to terms in the county jail by Judge J. M. Braude in the Safety court. Judge Braude instituted the instalment system so that defendants without funds need not lose their jobs because of jail terms. Only one of the six made even the first payment.

"You didn't appreciate the chance to save your jobs," Judge Braude told them. "Now you can think it over for a few days."

Get Ten Day Sentences.

Five of the defendants were sentenced to ten days each for reckless driving. They are Edward Barry, 8458 Burley avenue; William Hunter, 1329 Division street; Herbert Bland, 1006 North Wolcott avenue; E. J. Lafferty, 2446 Sheffield avenue, and Walter Baginski, 1753 Crystal street. Garrett Smith, 6638 Carpenter street, was sentenced to five days in jail.

Judge Braude fined James Thames, 929 Fletcher street, $25 for driving while intoxicated, and George Karp, 3023 North Clifton avenue, $10 for reckless driving. Thames was suspended from driving for four months and Karp for one year.

Dismisses Charge.

Judge Charles S. Dougherty in the Jury court dismissed a charge of driving while intoxicated against Edward F. Mitchell, a salesman with headquarters at 1542 West 69th street, when Walter Roung, who works with Mitchell, insisted that he was driving the car which hit a street car at 63d street and St. Lawrence avenue on Feb. 2, injuring a young woman. The court then ordered that Roung be charged with reckless driving.

Chief Justice Harry H. Porter of the Evanston Municipal court yesterday held over all trafic cases for a special court session Saturday which the suburb's Boy Scouts will attend. One of the defendants will be Raymond Ickes, 25 years old, 900 South Private road, Winnetka, son of Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes. Young Ickes was arrested Saturday for speeding in Evanston.

Safety Council Commends Gutknecht's Speeder Drive

The directors of the Greater Chicago Safety council yesterday commended Judge John Gutknecht of Trafic court for his efforts to eliminate speeding and automobile accidents in Chicago. "Judge Gutknecht has brought the dangers of speeding to the public consciousness and has helped to eliminate the fixing of trafic tickets," the directors said.

SEES POPULATION OF U. S. REACHING ITS CREST IN 1950

By about 1950 the United States will reach the crest of its population, after which the population will remain stationary for a time and then begin to decline. This prediction was made by O. E. Baker, senior agricultural economist for the United States department of agriculture, in a talk yesterday before the conference on modern life and agriculture at Northwestern university.

"If present trends continue the United States in fifty years will be a country with many old people and relatively few youths," he said. A low birth rate is bound, ultimately, to affect agriculture adversely, he said, decreasing demands for farm products. The city birth rate is below the rural birth rate, he added, and to correct this disparity he urged a restoration of the dowry, particularly for young people entering professional careers, to encourage them to have children during their early married life.

Another speaker was Ralph Barsodi, economist, and president of the Independence foundation, which has sponsored a novel community at Suffern, N. Y. In this community the family breadwinners commute to New York City but raise much of their own foodstuffs, he said.

"I WAS BEING ROBBED EVERY MONDAY until I started to use American Family Soap!"

Says MRS. RICHARD G. BOYER

"I tried to economize by using cheap soaps to wash clothes. What little saving I made was more than offset by the extra hard work of trying to get clothes clean. While harsh chemicals, ruinous rubbing and boiling shortened the life of our clothes, too. Now that I use American Family Soap I realize I was being robbed every Monday!"

THERE'S no mystery about the amazing way American Family Soap turns out a far whiter, sweeter-smelling wash than ordinary soaps—without boiling, scrubbing, hard rubbing, or the use of strong bleaches.

For laboratory tests have proved that American Family contains as much as ⅓ more suds-making material than other leading brands of bar soap in this territory—including soaps containing naphtha.

It's this extra suds-making material that gives American Family Soap greater washing power. That produces the rich, creamy, active "DOUBLE-SUDS" which float out even the grimiest dirt in record time, and with utmost ease to clothes

Because these "DOUBLE-SUDS" take the place of boiling, scrubbing, hard rubbing and strong bleaches, colored fabrics retain their gay brilliance. White clothes come out snowy white. All washables last unbelievably longer. A short trial with American Family Soap will reveal why this famous brand has been the leading seller in this market for over 90 years. And why countless thousands of women know—"It's cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes."

DOCTOR REVEALS APOPLEXY CAN BE WARDED OFF

Finds 8 Warning Signals That Foretell Stroke.

New York, April 7.—(AP)—Apoplexy, the "stroke" which heretofore has killed without warning, now can be foreseen and warded off, the American College of Physicians was informed today.

The federal census ranks it as the fifth cause of death from disease in the United States. It has been one of the most feared of all diseases because it has seemed to strike in good health, without giving a chance to realize the danger.

Eight definite signs which foretell the approach of one of these apoplectic strokes were described to the college by Albert S. Hyman, M. D., director of the Witkin foundation for study and prevention of heart disease.

Warning Signals in Lead.

All these warning signals occur in the region of the head and in definite ways that show they are connected with the brain. They range from headaches to dizziness, always coupled with high blood pressure.

A treatment for them, he said, has been developed by the foundation and proved to be effective in 81 per cent of the cases treated. It has been under test for three years.

The new treatment was discovered more or less by accident, when it was noted that a patient who had received spinal anesthesia for an operation had such a big drop in blood pressure that it was not safe to operate.

Reduces High Blood Pressure.

Out of it grew the new treatment, known as subdural spinal anesthetic block. By this method the anesthetic is injected, not into the spine, but into the outer of three linings covering the spine. With this treatment high blood pressure is lowered in some persons for "relatively long periods of time," but never permanently.

"In selected cases," said Dr. Hyman, "the method may be lifesaving; it is simple to perform, requires no elaborate apparatus and can be successfully attempted at the bedside in the patient's own home."

The use of cobra venom, he reported, is another method of reducing high blood pressure, for the same purpose, which is being tried in the Bagnasco clinic in Buenos Aires.

Dr. O. H. Perry Pepper of Philadelphia was chosen president elect. He will succeed Dr. William J. Kerr of San Francisco, who took office today. Dr. James B. Herrick of Chicago was named first vice president.

Vermont Hospital Given 3 Millions by H. W. Putnam

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—The will of Henry Ware Putnam, hardware specialist, who died at Miami Beach, Fla., at the age of 73 on March 30, disclosed a bequest of $3,000,000 to the Henry W. Putnam Memorial hospital at Bennington, Vt., which was founded by his father in 1912. The residuary estate, of undetermined value, eventually will be shared by Harvard, Yale, and Princeton.

WHISTLES

By CALEB

BEN FRANKLIN as a boy bought a whistle. He offered the storekeeper in payment all the money he had. Young Ben tooted the whistle delightedly until he discovered that he had paid several times what it was worth. Blowing the whistle from then on was much less fun.

The world is full of figurative whistles—and most of us are paying for some of them. Beginning with bread-and-butter whistles, we find resources sooner or later with which to buy hobby whistles—and they help mightily to make life worth living.

Maybe the whistle you want is on a steamer bound for distant ports. Perhaps it's on a smaller boat, or a train to new scenes and settings. Sometimes the whistle of a golf stick's slender shaft is all that's necessary; again it is the whistle of a meadowlark across green-clad hills. As Ben Franklin found, so long as our whistles are bought at the right price, and satisfy—they are tremendous fun.

At Field's we spend a good deal of time matching whistles to the needs and desires of friends and patrons. Some of our friends like new and amusing whistles; we have those. Many more call on us for the useful, necessary whistles; we have them in abundance, of every shape and size.

But sometimes the whistles we all enjoy most are bought for the sheer pleasure of ownership. For whistles like those we scour the near corners and the far reaches of the world. Men and women who themselves love those whistles keep up an endless search for us. The fruits of their search come to us in many shapes: paintings, sculpture, rare books, splendid furniture, gorgeous new creations in clothes and fabrics of every sort, sports and games that challenge mind and body into alert happiness, colorful dishes, gleaming crystal, skilfully wrought silver and jewels—and so on, endlessly.

To many of our friends these special whistles mean as much over the years as the everyday, wholly practical sort. They depend on us to furnish the best in everyday whistles—and we try to. But sometimes they come to know us best—and we them—in the fascinating swapping of those extra fine whistles we both enjoy so much.

DICTATOR BILL'S DEATH IN HOUSE APPEARS LIKELY

Motion to Strip Measure Almost Victorious.

duties of the proposed secretary of welfare the promotion of education. This provision had been feared as leading to the federalization of education in the United States.

An amendment offered by Taber, taking away from the proposed secretary of welfare the authority to control unemployment relief was defeated, 138 to 105. Another amendment exempting the forestry service from provisions of the bill also was defeated, 109 to 63.

O'Connor Urges Bill's Death.

The vote on the O'Connor motion was prefaced by a fiery speech from its sponsor.

"The people fear this bill is a further surrender by congress of its functions under the government," the red headed New Yorker told members. "The people want no compromise on this measure. They want it killed outright."

O'Connor held up two issues of the Daily Worker, organ of the communist party.

"This paper violently supports the bill and denounces the opponents as Tories and Fascists who are fighting liberalism," he declared. "Liberalism is the mask behind which communists, Socialists, and collectivists of all kinds are hiding."

Representative Lindsay C. Warren [D., N. C.], leader of the fight for the bill, opposed O'Connor's motion.

Pledges Amendments.

"The gentleman from New York, in the parlance of the gutter, insinuates that the house conferees will sell out the house when this bill goes to conference," he remarked bitterly. "Let me repeat this pledge to the house: In behalf of all the house conferees, if the members accept the committee amendments, I promise that there will be no bill unless those amendments are in it when it goes to the White House."

The teller vote on the motion was then taken. In this form of vote, the members file between two tellers, who count them. It is thus not a record vote. It was observed that the Illinois Democrats voted solidly against the motion. Speaker William B. Bankhead was first in line to vote against it. This was a rare occurrence, as the speaker usually does not vote.

Mundelein Telegram Read.

Offering the amendment to remove from the bill any authority for the new secretary of welfare to supervise education in the United States, Warren read a telegram from Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, which had just been received at the White House and rushed to Capitol hill. The telegram said:

"As a result of my own investigation gathered from reliable and informed sources, I can not find that the welfare or freedom of the Catholic church is in any way hindered by the pending reorganization bill. My sole purpose in stating this to you is because we have been drawn into the discussion and my personal knowledge of your fairness to us would render any such action impossible on your part."

"Little did we ever expect," he said, "to see the day when a cardinal and a comrade would be marching upon Washington arm in arm. Yesterday Comrade Earl Browder was around here calling on the radical members and urging their support of this bill. Today we have a wire from a cardinal."

Ex-Gov. Fifer, Who Broke Hip at 97, Able to Sit Up

Bloomington, Ill., April 7.—[Special.]—Former Gov. Joseph W. Fifer, who suffered a hip fracture in a fall at his home March 13, was able to sit up in bed today for the first time since that accident. He is 97 years old and a civil war veteran. He expected to be able to sit in a wheel chair next week.

Icicle Insurance

Still digging its way out from under the April snow storm, Chicago faces considerable rain and possibly more snow today, according to Forecaster J. R. Lloyd. The temperature probably will not rise above 36, he said, but tomorrow may be somewhat warmer.

Snow plow gangs were rapidly clearing the drifted county roads last night, but the highways outside the county still were mostly impassable. Motor club officials warned against unnecessary travel in any direction by automobile. In northern Illinois and Indiana and neighboring states, high winds were covering many roads again as fast as drifted snow was removed.

Crop experts said the snow would afford protection against freezing. Recent freezes damaged peaches, they said, and a third to a half the fruit in the Centralia-Olney-Flora district has been killed.

FOREIGN THRILL RIDER TO APPEAR AT COLE CIRCUS

The man who rides an automobile into space and stays with it while it turns three somersaults in the air will arrive Sunday to prepare for his first American appearance on April 15 at the opening of the Cole Brothers-Clyde Beatty circus at the Chicago Stadium. He is Lorenzo of France, who heretofore has appeared only in Europe.

Workmen are erecting a high chute at the Stadium for Lorenzo's plunge. The automobile starts from near the top of the building roars down and is catapulted into the air by a sudden upturn of the chute. The machine turns three somersaults and lands on its wheels with Lorenzo still in the driver's seat. With Lorenzo, when he arrives Sunday, will be Maximo, also from France, a high wire aerialist.

TORNADO KILLS 10 IN SOUTH; MANY OTHERS INJURED

Birmingham, Ala., April 7.—(AP)—A tornado cut a path of death, suffering, and heavy property damage across a wide area along the Alabama-Mississippi boundary today.

Ten persons were killed and 30 to 40 injured at Aliceville, Ala., as the twister demolished more than a score of homes. Five persons were hurt near Philadelphia, Miss. At least a score more were injured as the storm swept Millport, Carrollton, Beaverton, Gordo, Dillburg, Reform, and other west Alabama centers.

Heavy rains, hail, and lightning accompanied the tornado.

PENALTY TAXES ARE WIPED OUT BY SENATE VOTE

Final Action on Measure Expected Today.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—The United States senate ripped through the finance committee's business tax relief bill with unprecedented speed today. All its main provisions were approved in one and one-half hours of action after two and one-half hours of general debate.

The committee amendment drastically revising the capital gains and losses tax, so that taxpayers will not have to pay more than a flat 15 per cent rate on gains from assets held more than 18 months, was adopted by unanimous consent. The committee amendment abolishing the principle of the punitive tax on undistributed corporation profits and substituting therefor a flat corporation income tax of 18 per cent was adopted on a voice vote, with a resounding chorus of "ayes" and only five audible "nays."

Only Five Opposed.

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], Senator George W. Norris [Rad., Neb.], Senator Robert M. La Follette [Rad., Wis.], Senator Robert J. Bulkley [D., Ohio], and Senator Tom Connally [D., Tex.], were the only members who said anything or voted in opposition to outright repeal of the widely condemned undistributed profits tax.

Remaining for senate action before final passage of the bill were only a few miscellaneous excise tax provisions and amendments to be offered from the floor. Chief of these are the La Follette amendments to broaden the individual income tax base, increase the normal tax from 4 to 6 per cent, and gradually step up the surtaxes in the brackets below $50,000, and the amendment of Senator James P. Pope [D., Idaho], to attach a 212 million dollar system of processing taxes on wheat, cotton, corn, tobacco, and rice to the business tax relief measure. Indications are that the senate will pass the bill and send it to conference with the house of representatives by tomorrow night.

Harrison Sees Benefits.

Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the finance committee, said he believed the bill, if enacted into law, would "go forward toward removing some of the fears that exist in the country and toward restoring some of the confidence which has been lost by some persons in their government."

Harrison assailed the principle of the undistributed profits tax and the complexities of the house bill, which retains it. In effect the house bill levies a flat 16 per cent tax on corporation income plus a supertax of 4 per cent on the undistributed earnings, so that the tax would vary from 16 to 20 per cent, according to the amount of dividends paid out. It is much more complicated than this, however, since it exempts all corporations having net income of less than $25,000 from the undistributed profits tax principle and contains various so-called "notch" provisions for those with incomes slightly more than $25,000.

Beautiful in Theory Only.

"In theory the undistributed profits tax is a beautiful thing," Harrison said. "It looks bad for a corporation to build up enormous surpluses and not distribute among its shareholders some dividends growing out of the profits that accrue. However, the tax has proven harmful. It has been so complicated in its workings that it has brought about almost unanimous condemnation upon the part of the business people of the country."

Harrison said the house bill was a "vast improvement" over existing law but was still highly complicated.

"There is hardly a lawyer in Washington who can understand it," he said. "There is hardly a senator who can understand it. I find that I have to have a lesson in it about every other day in order to grasp it. Even the three experts that I had—and I think they are the best in the country—differed somewhat as to the details of the matter.

Urges Against Complications.

"The average fellow who keeps books can figure what the profits are, and apply 18 per cent, and the corporation, under the senate bill, does not have to go through the complicated mess provided in the house bill or in the present law."

Harrison said the capital gains provision of the senate bill would "unfreeze" capital.

"It is estimated that in personal holding companies alone," he declared, there are frozen assets to the amount of 2 to 4 billions.

"It is my sincere conviction, and I believe it is the opinion of the majority of the finance committee, and I know it is of the business people of this country, from the expressions which have come to our committee, that the bill may unfreeze some of these frozen assets and start the building of new industries and the expansion of old industries.

"I think it is the duty of the congress of the United States and every one in public life to try to encourage private business at this time, in order that we might give employment to more people and reduce the great expenditures that we are making for the relief of the unemployed of this country."

Disagrees with Estimates.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] paid a tribute to Senator Harrison for his work on the tax bill but disagreed with the estimates of the experts that it will produce 5 billion, 332 million dollars of revenue for the calendar year 1938, $2,000,000 more than the budget estimate for the fiscal year 1939.

"I think it is perfectly absurd to say that this bill will raise five billion dollars in revenue," said Senator Vandenberg. "In spite of all the encouragement which it may incidentally bring by a correction of recent tax atrocities, in spite of all the stimulation which may come from a temporary reversion to some degree of sanity in dealing with business, still the fact remains that individual incomes and corporate incomes this year are going to be lower than they have been in many years past."

Senator Vandenberg was speaking in opposition to the committee amendment striking the house provision increasing the liquor excise tax from $2 to $2.25 a gallon. He also supported the La Follette amendments to broaden the income tax base.

Points to Large Deficit.

"In any degree that the bill fails to produce the contemplated revenue it increases the contemplated deficit," Senator Vandenberg said. "We already confront a tremendous deficit in the regular operation of government for this year. There has been no economy; there has been no remote attempt at economy. We are contemplating a substantial increase in relief expenditures.

"In spite of all this stimulation we may give to business, in spite of all the stimulation we may give to a greater confidence in the government, so long as we fail to make any approach whatsoever to a balanced budget, we are discouraging precisely the thing we want to encourage."

Life Begins At 40

JANE WEST is Largely Responsible for Success of Radio's Popular Program—"The O'Neills"

Now 45—She Writes, Helps Direct and Acts in this Appealing Story of Family Life

TWICE A DAY, five days a week, you can tune in on the ups and downs, hopes and disappointments of the lovable O'Neills—one of the most popular daytime programs on the air.

Jane West, who writes, acts in and helps direct "The O'Neills," began work on this series 5 years ago. She was then 40, with no money and with others dependent on her. She had to do something and make it pay

She had never done any writing, but always wanted to. As a girl, she had had wide experience acting in early movies and on the stage. She decided to turn this to account and started going to school again—taking a course in stage writing.

A year later she was making the rounds of the agencies with the first of her now famous O'Neill sketches. Weeks of turndowns followed. At last, two local stations agreed to try them out —without pay!

The O'Neills made a hit on the very first broadcast—and Jane West at 41 began an exciting new life.

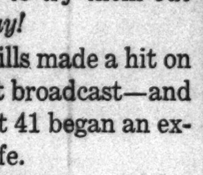
Miss West's sketches are human and real, because her warm interest in people is coupled with a mature outlook to give her writing a flavor no younger person could duplicate.

Keeping Plenty of Energy Is An Important Part of Her Formula for Success

"40 is the perfect age to start doing something seriously," says Miss West. "All the things you do before help build up a background. If you keep your health, so you can combine plenty of energy with your experience, you'll be surprised at how much you can do and how happy you can be."

Read these 3 letters from people OVER 40 who found good health the secret of more confident, happier living:

They Choose Her for "Special" Jobs



Mrs. George L. Hoyt Has energy now

Dear Life Begins:

Though I've always been quite nervous, I've carried on with my work—"personalizing" letters for publishing and mailing houses. At the same time, I have to run my home.

A while back, I had attacks of a throbbing feeling in my stomach. A friend who worked with me was a great believer in Fleischmann's Yeast. When the spells got worse and occurred oftener, I remembered how yeast helped her and began eating it.

Shortly after, I got a new and better position. I don't say Fleischmann's Yeast got me the job. I do say it's a good stomach tonic—and that other things started working out better for me about that time.

I still go to business and I'm always picked out for the "special" jobs. In the morning, I rush off full of energy and ready for anything—but first I take my orange juice and Fleischmann's Yeast cake.

LILLIAN F. HOYT

47—Never Off Pay for Sickness Now

E. R. McKinney Cleared up indigestion

Dear Life Begins:

In my job—passenger brakeman on a railroad—you need your health. You have to get out on the tracks with the lantern in all kinds of weather. As for meals, you get them when you can.

When I developed indigestion, a few years ago, I was on the "list"—that is, subject to being called for duty at any time. The distress I had from food didn't let up even for the limited time I had to sleep. I'd toss around and then get up feeling worse than ever.

It was natural for me to think of Fleischmann's Yeast—my father was a grocer and I'd seen a lot of his customers helped by it.

The yeast didn't work immediately, but after two weeks my indigestion cleared up. I've been eating it almost steadily ever since—I'm not sure how many years it's been. But I do know I've never been off pay for sickness since then.

E. R. McKINNEY

Friends Marvel at Her Health Improvement

Mrs. Patrick J. Sheehan Built up strength

Dear Life Begins:

My two unmarried daughters make their home with me, and though I am 59, I still have many duties. I do all the housework, with a little help from them when they come home from their jobs.

I always kept well until about a year ago, when I had an attack of flu. When I finally got going, after a fashion, I was in very bad condition. Food didn't appeal to me and I was run-down.

My daughter brought home a little booklet about Fleischmann's Yeast. I decided to try it. That very afternoon she got me 6 cakes and I began eating 3 a day every day after that.

At the end of two weeks I felt better in every way. My appetite revived and pretty soon I began to get enough strength so I didn't feel shaky or dizzy. At the end of a month I was well on the way to complete recovery.

I still keep Fleischmann's Yeast on hand and eat it regularly to help give me strength, good appetite and healthy digestion.

JULIA M. SHEEHAN

Slow Digestion May Make You Feel Older Than Your Age

A FULL, powerful flow of gastric juices is necessary, if your food is to be digested quickly and easily.

But these juices are likely to become scantier and weaker as people grow older. Slower digestive action makes many men and women over 40 feel run-down, de-energized.

There is an easy way to aid digestion to be more vigorous and youthful. Eat Fleischmann's Yeast regularly. Millions of tiny, living yeast plants in each cake of this fresh food have a quickening effect on digestion. They stimulate a freer, more powerful digestive flow.

You also get additional help from 4 vitamins in this important health food. These are the Nerve Vitamin, the Cold-Resistance Vitamin, the Bone Vitamin and the Vitality Vitamin. Their names show the valuable part each one plays in keeping your health in order.

You'll soon learn to like the fresh, malty flavor of Fleischmann's Yeast. Eat 3 cakes every day. The time is important. So that the extra flow of juices can be ready to act promptly on your food, eat one cake ½ hour before each meal.

PREPARE TO ASK 1½ BILLION MORE TO PRIME PUMP

Same Amount for Relief Also Considered.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt is about to send another pump priming program to cost 1 billion 500 million dollars to congress. This was learned today as Mr. Roosevelt conferred with WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and Deputy WPA Administrator Aubrey Williams.

The program contemplates a huge public works program to be carried out by states, cities, and communities through noninterest bearing loans. The federal government would raise the necessary amount through a bond issue for disbursement to lesser political subdivisions in the hope of ending the recession, restoring employment, and revitalizing business.

Ponders Relief Request.

At the same time it was learned that President Roosevelt is contemplating a request for from 1 billion 250 million to 1 billion 500 million dollars as a starter toward meeting the relief needs of the fiscal year which will begin July 1.

This would give the President a 3 billion dollar anti-depression fund in the next fiscal year. This amount was suggested to the chief executive yesterday by Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania. The governor insisted that the spending of 3 billion dollars a year for the next three years is necessary to end the depression and save the democratic form of government in this country.

The 3 billion dollar sum would approximate the outlay placed in the President's hands when he launched his drive against the 1929-'34 depression shortly after his inauguration in 1933. A similar sum launched the almost dead Public Work administration.

Cheered by New Spending.

Word of the administration's contemplated new spending program was received with rejoicing on Capitol hill. Democratic congressmen and senators who are up for reëlection are jubilant.

More conservative members of congress acknowledged that such a proposal would pass without the slightest difficulty. Spending is popular in an election year, they said.

Representative Dewey Johnson [F. L., Minn.] introduced two bills to revive the PWA with 1 billion 250 million dollars to spend in each of the next two years. One bill would authorize the government to make grants up to 45 per cent of the cost of projects and allow the government to loan the rest at an interest rate of 1½ per cent. The other bill would appropriate the money.

May Drop Interest Charges.

The plan Mr. Roosevelt is considering would loan the money to the political subdivisions conducting approved projects and provide that it be paid back without interest at the rate of 2 per cent of the loan each year.

The only opposition which the plan may meet in congress, it was believed, would be on the question of repayment. Many congressmen expressed the belief that the amortization period should be cut to ten years and that the communities be made to pay a nominal rate of interest, at least enough to carry the cost of the bond issue.

Chairman Carter Glass [D., Va.] of the senate appropriations committee predicted that Mr. Roosevelt will ask about 1 billion 500 million dollars "as a starter" for relief after July 1. He would not venture a prediction on the total amount that may be required for relief in the coming fiscal year.

Hopkins to Outline Needs.

WPA Administrator Hopkins said he will go before the house appropriations committee to outline relief needs next week. He is to appear before the senate unemployment committee tomorrow to give a picture of the entire relief situation.

To get the works program started quickly, the government has on file a reservoir of approximately 3,000 proposed works projects which can be brought up for reconsideration.

Sources close to the White House said the President desired primarily to stimulate business by this new program, suggestive in its size and extensiveness of the programs Mr. Roosevelt formulated to fight the depression in the early days of his administration.

Coupled with this, it was said, Mr. Roosevelt plans to push housing and slum clearance undertakings financed by federal appropriations and providing for construction of homes, multiple-family houses, and apartment buildings.

The column at left represents total expenditures by the federal government from 1789 to 1900. The shaded portion of the column at right represents the 14½ billion dollars spent by the federal government for WPA, PWA, TVA, CCC, relief, and roads in five years. The remainder of the column represents funds which President Roosevelt is preparing to ask for 1938.

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—B. W. Carrier, 27 years old, who is 7 feet 2 inches tall and weighs 320 pounds, came here from Buffalo, N. Y., today on a sightseeing tour. Vice President Garner assigned Policeman Edward F. Brown, who is 6 feet 9½ inches tall and weighs 328 pounds, to show the young Buffalo giant around.

COLORADO VOTE MAY SWING ON PENSION LAWS

Foes Say Treasury Is Being Exhausted.

Denver, Colo., April 7.—[Special.]—Dissension over the $45 a month old age pension system in Colorado, which opponents say is draining the state treasury, may become a major issue in the state election this fall.

One group has announced it will seek to submit a referendum proposal to voters for repeal of the present pension law amendment and substitute a workable plan, details of which would be left to the legislature.

Colorado's 36,000 pensioners are planning a vigorous campaign in defense of the present law. The National Unity league, composed principally of former Townsend club members, has purchased a weekly newspaper in Englewood, suburb of Denver, as a mouthpiece for its campaign.

53 Per Cent on Rolls.

Records show that Colorado is paying pensions to 53 per cent of its citizens who are over 65 years old. The federal government pays part of this cost. In addition to this support, the state bears the full cost of pensions being paid to 2,500 persons between the ages of 60 and 65 years. Colorado is the only state to pension persons under 65.

Before the adoption of the present plan, Colorado had a law which provided pensions up to $30 a month. Because of a delay by the legislature in clearing the way for the new law to become operative, a surplus was built up in the pension fund which made the situation look bright at the outset.

Last September pensioners without other income received their first checks for $45. That continued for the remaining three months of 1937. Then in January, 1938, a bonus was paid under the so-called jackpot provision of the pension.

Bonuses of $27 Paid.

This provided that any money left in the pension fund at the end of a year must be distributed to the pensioners. The January jackpot amounted to $27.77 for each pensioner and was paid in addition to the regular January payment of $45. This meant that a man and his wife, if both were qualified for full pensions, received a total of $145.54 for the month of January.

But the situation was somewhat different in February. It was found that new collections for the pension fund were inadequate to make the full payment of $45. The operation of the jackpot provision had used the surplus accumulated while the legislature dallied, so pensions had to be docked.

Each February check was cut $8. In March the collections were still less and $13 was deducted from each check. The March deduction brought the average pension payment to about $27, a little less than the average payment had been under the old $30 a month law.

The present amendment made a definite allocation to the pension fund of certain revenues. This included 85 per cent of the 2 per cent sales tax and 85 per cent of the liquor taxes. Under the amendment these taxes cannot be abolished by the legislature unless an equal amount of revenue is provided for the pension fund from other sources.

Others May Qualify.

The amendment stated that all persons over 60 years old who could meet certain qualifications to be set up by the legislature were to receive a pension of $45 a month.

In ruling on the validity of the amendment, the Supreme cort held that the part which set aside revenues for the fund went into effect Jan. 1, 1937, but that no payments could be made until the legislature set up the qualifications pensioners would have to meet. The legislature's delay in naming those qualifications kept the new law from becoming operative until last September.

Although pensions under the old law were continued until the legislature acted, the setting aside of revenues for the new law during the first eight months of 1937 caused the surplus to be accumulated.

SIX YOUNG MEN HELD FOR NIGHT OF 30 ROBBERIES

CRIMINAL COURT.

Joseph Spaletto, larceny, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell; Henry Selinos, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary; William Strope, larceny, sentenced to 2 years in the County jail by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

Howard Williams and Alonso Gabriel, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary; Nate Mogel, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph Sabath.

Six young men, known to one another by unusual nicknames, were held by Racine avenue police yesterday after five of them confessed that on the night of March 26 they committed thirty robberies on the northwest side. Their total loot was only $26. They also admitted, police said, stealing several automobiles in which they rode from one crime to another.

The five who confessed, all from 18 to 22 years old, are Joseph [Hunky] Barnas, 943 North Ashland avenue, alleged leader in whose possession was found a toy pistol; Edward [Doughnuts] Donat, 872 North Marshfield avenue; Edward [Goof] Gafron, 853 North Marshfield avenue; Stanley [Lazzy] Chlopek, 1261 Marion court, and Edward [Cup Cake] Szczrewicz, 1341 Huron street. Edward [Antics] Wozlek, 882 North Marshfield avenue, was not involved in the robberies, but admitted riding in one of the stolen automobiles.

Mother of Boy, 8, Kills Self in 4 Story Plunge

Mrs. Nell Bagne, 29 years old, leaped to her death yesterday from a fourth floor window at the rear of the Uptown Bank building, 4753 Broadway. She left a farewell note. Her brother-in-law, Walter Bagne, told Town Hall police Mrs. Bagne had been ill. She lived with her husband, Victor, an da son, 8 years old, at 6501 North Fairfield avenue.

Mrs. Wilma Phelps Wins Divorce in Waukegan

Judge Ralph J. Dady of the Lake County Circuit court in Waukegan granted a divorce yesterday to Mrs. Wilma Phelps from Robert W. Phelps, 275 Prospect avenue, Highland Park, an advertising man. She charged that Phelps deserted her Jan. 31, 1937. They were married in 1933. Mrs. Phelps was given custody of their son, Robert W. Phelps II, a property settlement and $5 weekly support for the boy, who is 2 years old. She is the daughter of William Knobloch, civilian superintendent of buildings at Fort Sheridan, with whom she now lives.

Church of Holy Sepulchre to Be Closed This Easter

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—Jerusalem's church of the Holy Sepulchre, venerated by Christians throughout the world, will be closed to Easter pilgrims this year. The government announced today structural damages had forced closing indefinitly the ancient edifice in which is the tomb generally credited with being the one in which Christ's body lay after the crucifixion.

Two Jews, U. S. Commune Members, Killed by Arabs

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

JERUSALEM, April 7.—Arab terrorists killed two Jewish pioneers in northern Palestine this afternoon. The victims were Ephraim Tiktin, 24 years old, of Detroit, Mich., and Eliezer Korngold, 21 years old, of Toronto, Canada. Both were members of the American commune of Ein Hashofet near Yokonam.

FIRE DESTROYS FACTORY.

A woodworking factory at 308 North Leavitt street was destroyed yesterday by fire of undetermined origin. Michael J. Corrigan, fire commissioner, estimated the damage at $5,000.

ATTACK SUICIDE THEORY IN TRIAL OF BALL PLAYER

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., April 7.—(AP)—Arthur W. Page, a provincial police sergeant who investigated the death of Miss Helen Grier in a north woods cabin last fall, testified today at the murder trial of Vernon Spencer that he was unable to find any evidence that the 28 year old stenographer from Michigan killed herself.

Spencer, prosperous dairy farmer of Wixom, Mich., and former New York Giants and Toronto baseball player, went on trial for his life yesterday. The defense has indicated it would contend Miss Grier shot herself, perhaps accidentally, and fractured her skull by falling against an obstruction in the cabin kitchen.

U. S. TO CONTEND CAPONE PLEA IS WRONGLY FILED

Assistant United States District Attorney A. Bradley Eben was instructed yesterday by the attorney general's office in Washington to resist the petition for a writ of habeas corpus filed last Saturday on behalf of Al Capone, former gang leader now in Alcatraz penitentiary. Eben said the government will contend Capone is in the jurisdiction of the San Francisco federal court district, and that any petition should have been filed there. The petition argues that Capone's term should have ended on March 20 with deduction for good behavior. A hearing is set for today before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

STOP, LOOK AND GO BACK.

Regardless of effect upon the governmental reorganization bill, the speech of Representative Hatton W. Sumners of Texas on that measure in the house of representatives should mark a turn in the practices of the national legislature and should have a great influence upon the thought of the American people. Mr. Sumners is the chairman of the house judiciary committee, a Democrat whose standing is eminent because of the restraint which characterizes his discussion of momentous public policies.

It is agreed that his speech against the court packing bill was of such a convincing nature that if the proposal had not been killed in the senate it would have been defeated in the house largely because of the presentation made by the judiciary committee chairman. He may not have done the same service against the reorganization bill, but he has left his colleagues and the people of the country to consider truths regarding the recent course of government in the United States which have never been presented to congress more convincingly or with better perception and analysis.

Mr. Sumners told his fellow members of the house of representatives that the people of the United States had been doing something which seemed to accord with the long history of the Anglo-Saxon people. He described it as a recurrence of one of the most fascinating phenomena to be observed in that history. The people, he said, had instinctively consented to a concentration of emergency powers in the government to deal with an emergency situation. It was realized that the historic institutions of democratic freedom might not be capable of the quick pickup required by extraordinary hazards. The instinct of the people was to permit an unusual use of authority, trusting to the security inherent in their understanding that it was a passing phase and normal government and the old institutions would be restored as soon as the danger was passed.

Now the people, in Mr. Sumners' view, demand that the concentration of power be ended and that the country return to the forms of government in which they put their supreme trust, knowing instinctively that extraordinary powers are not consistent with their manner of life and the conduct of government as they wish to be governed.

The administrative government has not sensed this and the legislative government has not as yet responded to it. Mr. Sumners thinks that congress must change its view. It represents the people and if the executive branch has not become aware of the excesses contained in the proposals for more concentration of power, or if that is desired by the administration, then congress must assert its independence.

"It is no reflection upon anybody," said Mr. Sumners, "to say that during the last several years we have not had in the ordinary sense an independent legislature. That is not due to the man who happened to be in the White House. The fact that throughout the length and breadth of the country now there is an instinctive urge to turn in the other direction is not due to the man in the White House. The country is not satisfied with the existing distribution of governmental power, and that is the biggest thing that has been manifest in this country in many days."

The country has not had, in the ordinary sense, an independent legislature and in consequence it has had in an extraordinary sense a dominating, unbalanced, and unchecked executive branch constantly in search of new powers, prerogatives, and privileges. The governmental reorganization bill is intended to consolidate the changes made in the American system. We have seen the many activities of the people brought under federal supervision and control exercised by commissions created from time to time. They affect, or are intended to affect, trade practices, methods of selling and buying, wages and hours of labor, the relations of employer and employé, the acreage planted in agriculture, the crops harvested and sold, the production of electric power and of fuel, the building of homes, the education of children, the value of life insurance, the return from investments, the accumulation of savings for family security, and the profit from business and industrial enterprise.

The federal control now covers, or is intended to cover, almost the complete life of the American citizen. At every turn he deals with a commission and with complicated law frequently obscure even to its administrators. This new structure of government has been put up timber by timber, as if there were no architect's blue prints for the erectors. The reorganization bill is the roof and when that has been put on the people will see that there was a design. Their government will have a new house and it will be a new form of government.

Now no one can go into the federal court against a law, decree, or ruling of the New Deal and be sure of justice. The commissions regulating American life are arbitrary. They are partisan tribunals, created for special purposes and special interests. Illustrations may be taken from the operations of the Guffey coal commission, intended to promote the political ambitions of John Lewis and Senator Guffey and the interests of certain coal operators, from the national labor relations board, intended to pay a political debt to the C. I. O., and from the TVA, intended to destroy the private utility industry.

If the instinct of the people does not cause them to withdraw from the federal government the sanction they seemed to give when, as Mr. Sumners said, they yielded to what they regarded as a great emergency, they will lose all their freedom of action and will be either in conflict or consultation with federal agents at every step they take. That's the purpose and trend of their federal government. Congress knows it. There isn't a congressman who would deny the truth of what Mr. Sumners said. Some might say they desired the creation of the new government with its control over American life and activity and the loss of individual freedom. Not many, however, will say that.

Mr. Sumners' speech may mean that congress is about to recover its independence. If it does the return to normal American government will be assured. But the people will have to indicate that they are withdrawing their support from dangerous measures. Then, the representative body will be certain to serve them and give them back their government as their agent and not their master.

LOW WAGES FOR SAVERS.

Prior to the enactment of the social security law a great number of persons had been making provision for the rainy day and old age. A commoner method was to accumulate savings in a bank account. Forty-four million thrifty American people have savings accounts as a provision for adversity. The amount thus saved plus the interest earned brought the balance in savings banks' accounts to nearly 25 billion dollars on June 30, 1937.

It is important that a fair income be paid on the rainy day funds of the American thrifty working man. For years the rate was 3 per cent. That rate had continued so long that calculations were regularly based upon it.

Savings banks were able to pay 3 per cent to depositors because they were able to obtain a higher rate on the funds either by investing in safe bonds or from secure loans. But no longer can savings banks employ their funds so as to be able to pay 3 per cent to those who supply them. The treasury department on Tuesday borrowed 250 million dollars and paid less than 1-10 of 1 per cent on it. Within recent weeks the city of Philadelphia sold an issue of bonds yielding 1⅝ per cent to the purchaser. New York City sold a short term issue of $35,000,000 on a ½ of 1 per cent basis. Eau Claire county, Wis. has just borrowed $250,000, paying from ½ of 1 per cent to 2.1 per cent. Very little return is to be had by buying the prime grade of corporation bonds, particularly those running for short periods.

This is a result of the low rate policy which the government has been following for a period of years. It is excellent from the standpoint of the borrower. But it has forced savings banks to cut their payments to depositors in half. The annual wage for the services of a thousand dollars of savings funds used to be $30. Now it is only $15. Safe 5 per cent bonds are a thing of the past. To get an income from savings as large as his father got a man must now save twice as much. This is hard enough. But it is a calamity for those millions of industrious men and women who have counted on from 3 to 5 per cent on their savings, and have now been made paupers.

EDUCATION AND LIVELIHOOD.

Half a hundred students of Grinnell college, Iowa, came to Chicago the other day on a useful errand. They were seeking an answer to the question: Is college education keeping step with American business and industry? In this inquiry they interviewed a hundred executives in business and industrial enterprise to ascertain what modern employers require in the preparation of prospective employés. They were not looking for jobs. They were looking for an education which would prepare them to find places in the world of practical life and help them to make good in them when found.

This was the third annual effort of what is rather ponderously called a vocational discovery project, but it is eminently sensible and should help Grinnell to serve its students in a practical way to useful living in the real world they will presently be launched upon. Recently a TRIBUNE editorial expressed the conviction that college education was falling short of the efficiency reasonably attainable in preparing young men and women to meet the problems of livelihood. We congratulate the Grinnell Alumni association, which devised this project, and Grinnell college in what we believe will prove a valuable contribution to college education in this country. There is nothing in this interest in the problems of vocational success that compromises the cultural interests of the college. We all know that man does not live by bread alone. But neither does he live without it.

UNCONQUERED ETHIOPIA.

[Boston Evening Transcript.]

Emperor Haile Selassie from his retreat in England has just announced that he will not go back to Ethiopia as an Italian puppet. His statement gives color to the report that Mussolini would be glad to use the former ruler as a peacemaker. There is evidently need of one, if current reports concerning conditions in Ethiopia approximate the truth. G. L. Steer, correspondent of the London Times in Ethiopia during the war, has recently written an article for the East London Daily Despatch, a South African newspaper, in which he deals with Ethiopian conditions. He tells of armed resistance to the Italians and also of the financial burden which the conquest of the country has placed upon Italy.

Military conditions, Mr. Steer says, "like Signor Mussolini's private approaches to the Emperor Haile Selassie, in order to persuade him to return to this uncontrollable Ethiopia, suggest that the country is as little conquered as it ever was, in connection with which it may be noted that the casualties of 1936-'37 far exceed any admitted by the Italians in the war itself between 1935-'36." As to the financial burden, it is stated that the war cost Italy 150,000,000 pounds and that Ethiopia, with no financial return, now costs about 5,000,000 pounds a month.

Without undertaking to pass judgment upon the accuracy of this description, the impression it makes strengthens the opinion that Mussolini's conquest has turned out to be a losing venture. The report concerning overtures to Haile Selassie, unless it is a tale made of whole cloth, is significant as bearing out that conclusion.

Little Fuehrer.

A janitor on the north side in the vicinity of Addison street has of recent years trimmed his mustache down until it is a replica of that worn by Hitler. A friend of ours encountered him the day anschluss was announced in the papers. He was swaggering along, taking up most of the sidewalk.

A CITY FELLER, William R. Harshe, relays the remark of the suburbanite as he waited for his train in April wind and snow, "Snow White and the Seven Drafts."

APRIL SNOW.

Oh, here are flakes for those who asked for flowers!
All night spring clouds exerted subtle powers
To heap
White snow upon us in our sleep.
There may be beauty in these starry showers,
This waltz of wings
Vibrant with Flutterings;
But so is there beauty in the false
Lover, and in the little child
Who grows up wild.
Why should we know
This finger numbness
Who prayed for flowers and not for snow?

CUFF NOTES—Fernand Gravet of the movies in town yesterday, a little feather in the side of his hat, his muffler wrapped high about his throat as he left the Blackstone to catch a train west. . . . Jewish owners of a Chicago department store probably are annoyed—justifiably—that there is a swastika design in the tiles of their store restaurant floor. . . . Did any of you see the elderly woman who got on a No. 3 bus at Jackson boulevard last Tuesday evening wearing a silk lamp shade—tassels and all—for a hat? Your Chicago and Mine. . . . The Ritz brothers, wisecracking between trains on their way east. Ruth Hilliard of the trial engagement to Jimmy in the party. They will be married in New York next week. . . . Lotte Lehmann, opera star and lieder singer, in a dark fur coat and turban, lunching in the Lantern room at the Drake with her husband, Otto Krause.

ADD CIGARET CASE NOVELTIES—Fernand Gravet's, a present from his wife. Its cover is an airways map of the United States in gold, with emeralds and rubies marking the big landing fields, the names engraved in French.

BEST WINTER TRAVELER STORY concerns two Glencoe gentlemen, Oliver Williams and Halbert Sampson, and an evening at Sloppy Joe's in Havana. An itinerant trickster had entered and was amusing the patrons with his stunts. He blew smoke from his cigaret out of one ear, then the other; then he put the cigaret in his ear and blew smoke through his nose. Mr. Williams gave him a Cuban 20 cent piece. Mr. Sampson then rose, hushed the crowd, and proceeded to do some cigaret tricks himself, ending with the one in which he held a lighted cigaret inside his mouth while he finished his drink, then produced it, still burning. The itinerant watched with interest. When Sampson had finished the vagrant produced the 20 cent piece from his pocket and handed it to him.

LOVE GROWS AMAZINGLY.

Love feeds on infinitesimal things
And grows amazingly:
Half-spoken thoughts, a little smile,
Hands touching tenderly;

Yesterday's kiss, lighting the day,
Tomorrow's lovely thought;
Splintering laughter in the night,
Soft phrases, shyly wrought.

Gris.

April Night in Chicago.

The wind whipped the dark water against the ice-coated sea wall, tore at the little new trees set out along the widened drive, shook fiercely the ice-sheathed buds and tender new leaves of the shrubbery. . . . At the Lake Shore Athletic club people sat around a blue pool across which palms slanted, watching girl swimmers race the pool length holding lighted candles aloft with one hand; applauded Jane Fauntz, black-eyed, scarlet-suited, looking like a streamlined version of the type of Persian beauty seen on old enamels, diving with incomparable grace; were entertained, as they sat in summer ease, watching a girl swimmer with a white carnation in her hair, which had been placed there at the bottom of the pool by a lad in flowered trunks, while the accordion played "Moon of Manakoora."

DINERS AT THE TAVERN CLUB, on the twenty-fifth floor at 333 North Michigan, heard the wind howl down the elevator shaft, its muted roar distinguishable throughout the snug little club; ate soft shell crabs amandine and thick steak, looked at the Columbian exposition drawings from the collection of Joseph T. Ryerson on exhibit, played backgammon in the bar overlooking the snow-covered terrace lighted by the illumined towers of adjacent buildings.

A DESERTED STATE STREET in the loop, and women of wax posturing under brilliant lights behind plate glass, in pastel summer evening gowns, their coiffures and filmy draperies undisturbed by the bitter blasts. Farther south, under a snow-fringed mission sign, "Mother's Prayer Follows You," a lone figure squeezed against the doorway.

AROUND THE CORNER ON WABASH, in a dim and dusky dive hung with sleazy scarlet draperies, most of the women were drinking, surprisingly, fruit punches, and the customers' voices were raised in the strains of "I Want a Girl Just Like the Girl Who Married Dear Old Dad" and "My Wild Irish Rose." The floor show interrupted—broke the mood of ballad singing with a dozen varieties of strip tease, arousing cheers from the spectators when a blonde with long scarlet tassels as her principal adornment outdid the remembered gyrations of Gilda Gray.

MEN CROWDED INTO FLOP HOUSES on West Madison street to escape the harrying blasts. At the Chez Paree a girl sang, "There'll Be a Garden in Granada." And one wondered. At the Drake, diners in the sophisticated white-pillared security of the Gold Coast room heard the wind howling outside the scarlet brocade draperies as Bob Hope sang with the orchestra "Take a Tip from a Tulip." April night in Chicago. Poor little tulips that didn't get a tip-off.

PLAYING DETECTIVE WITH HIVES.

ONLY a relatively small number of those who have hives are obliged to call a physician. There are few, however, who have not experienced the symptom at some time or other. Following the ingestion of a food to which the individual is sensitive, great wheals or blotches break out, some of which may persist for several days. As a rule, a saline laxative and the avoidance in the future of the offending articles of diet will prevent subsequent attacks. For the most part, these acute seizures—which come and go—are without much danger.

There are sufferers, however, who are obliged to put up with chronic urticaria [hives] some signs of which may be present constantly. Such a person cannot scratch the skin without producing a raised area which later may spread into a broad red band. So responsive is the epidermis with a few that words can be spelled out on the skin with the fingernail where they will remain visible for several hours.

Because hives may arise after any sharp digestive upset, the question is asked, "What has happened along the alimentary tract to bring about this condition?" The answer may be that proposed by Harold Orr who—in a study of 146 patients afflicted with chronic urticaria—found that 65 per cent showed too little hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Accordingly, these 95 persons were fed this essential substance by mouth and, in many instances, the results were spectacular.

One patient who had exhibited daily attacks for fifteen years and who had submitted to two operations in the hope of removing a hidden infection, was a member of this group. Two days after taking the chemical she was free from all symptoms and remained so for five months. On her summer vacation she lost her bottle of medicine, whereupon the wheals returned and continued until she was able to replenish her supply.

But—as Orr points out—every one will not react so favorably. Twenty of this series were not aided. In one, however, an infected tooth was located following the removal of which all manifestations disappeared.

Some authors believe that many of these victims finally develop an immunity to the irritant and, in this connection, will cite great sensitivity to mosquito bites at the beginning of a summer season whereas later—although a bite may cause a minimal amount of itching—no longer is there evidence of swelling.

Since most of the causes will be found in foods such as strawberries, tomatoes, eggs, pineapples, shellfish, etc., search should be confined first of all to the several items of the daily menu. Begin with a saline laxative [sodium sulfate or sodium phosphate], then take only milk and rice for an entire week. If the trouble ceases, add foods one by one until discomfort recurs, whereupon that particular nutriment is dropped and placed on the proscribed list. Other edibles are tried seriatim until sufficient are obtained to make up a satisfactory diet. In the meanwhile, the stomach should be examined for hydrochloric, which may be administered if it is found lacking or deficient.

Stubborn cases may require a long search for a focus of infection which is acting as a "starter." Pus pockets about the teeth and the nasal passages may play an important rôle.

While drugs are not frequently causative agents, yet they are sometimes responsible. I have in mind a patient who is unable to take even a grain of aspirin without a severe puffing of the face.

We must be willing to take chronic hives seriously because now and then the mucous membrane of the throat, including the larynx, may become so engorged as to interfere with breathing.

SEEKING PAIN SOURCES.

G. J. V. writes: My mother has been bothered with pains in her back from the nape of the neck down to the end of the spinal column. She also experiences pains in the forehead radiating toward the back. She has tried every remedy imaginable and nothing seems to relieve her misery. Can you tell me what can be done?

REPLY.

Search should be made for some infection about the head—including sinus, teeth, and tonsils. An X-ray of the spine probably will disclose some arthritis. Occasionally a neurosis is responsible. If a focus of pus is located this can be removed. Those with a severe arthritis must learn to live with the disease and much can be done for relief. We have material on arthritis which we will be glad to send on receipt of a stamped addressed envelope.

QUINSY SORE THROAT.

T. R. writes: What is quinsy sore throat? What is the treatment?

REPLY.

An abscess that forms about the tonsil. Rest in bed will conserve strength. The throat may be irrigated with a strong solution of salt [1 or 2 tablespoonfuls to each pint]. This should be as hot as can be borne. The patient's head may be allowed to hang over the side of the bed and a glass nozzle from the irrigator will direct the stream against the inflamed part. Aspirin is helpful. The diet should be liquid. Occasionally the pocket of pus will need to be evacuated surgically.

TOO YOUNG FOR THIS.

I. R. writes: My physician advises that I have marked asthenia, and I would like to know what this is. I am 28 years old. Can it be cured? I also have tremors of the hands and loss of weight.

REPLY.

Asthenia means weakness. You are quite too young to be suffering from generalized debility without some tangible cause. Careful search should be made promptly for the basis of your difficulty.

CARE OF BABY'S TEETH.

M. K. writes: At what age should we begin brushing a baby's teeth? My son is 15 months old. Should paste or powder be used?

REPLY.

As soon as the first molars appear [15 months], the child should be provided with a soft brush. A little later the cuspids will come and soon the child can be taught to brush the teeth up and down. Salt water is better than cleansing powder at this stage. Keep the brush sweet and clean. One that is too stiff is likely to injure the gums.

NO DICTATOR.

Solon Springs, Wis., April 5.—How happy the American people should be to learn from Mr. Roosevelt's famous midnight letter that there need be no fear of there being an American dictator! No, friends, Mr. Roosevelt really doesn't desire to be a dictator, so that's that. Of course, had he really wanted to be a dictator it would have been different. We are to have no dictator, not because a dictator should be contrary to the provisions of the constitution, or contrary to the American spirit, or contrary to the opinions of the nine old men, or contrary to the wishes of the majority of the American people, but simply because, up to the present at any rate, Mr. Roosevelt feels that he can get along well enough as it is. He is really too busy to take up such a life.

So don't worry, friends. Mr. Roosevelt will not be a dictator so long as he doesn't care to be one. Of course he might change his mind as he has done about several other promises. But for the present rest secure. The constitution is safe. The nine old men are in no danger. The government of, for, and by the people still stands. Mr. Roosevelt will not be a dictator till he gets good and ready. That is, until he really wants to be a dictator. Then it will be, Hail Roosevelt! Hail the Leader! But not till then. For why? Why, for the sufficient reason that Mr. Roosevelt does not want to be a dictator. Not at present. Not till he hamstrings congress and kicks out the nine old men and gets rid of the constitution. No, Mr. Roosevelt doesn't want to be a dictator. Heck, no!

ABOUT A CARTOON.

Waukegan, Ill., April 5.—I have been a reader of your paper for many years and have been a close observer of your cartoons on the editorial page. There have been many attacks on your political enemies through this medium, and it is true that many of them have been justified, but I wish to express my opinion of the political cartoon you had in the issue of April 5 in which you made another attack on the administration's TVA plan.

This cartoon represents a backwoods cabin in the TVA area with the hillbilly woman of the house in the act of throwing out an electric toaster in which she has just attempted to cook some "corn pone." The toaster has been preceded by an electric washer, iron, vacuum cleaner and other household appliances which every American housewife has a right to own.

I don't know whether you are implying that the intelligence of the women of this great area is not sufficient to enable them to operate such work-savers, or that these women are not sufficiently socially developed to merit such things. In either case I am sure that you will hear from these women if they ever learn of your attitude toward a project that will mean so much to so many millions of people who have been denied the boon of electricity in their homes.

THE DEATH OF RAY EMERY.

Springfield, Ill., April 5.—All accounts published by THE TRIBUNE of the death of Ray Gordon Emery, a world war veteran, at the Elgin State hospital on April 1, 1938, have left the impression that this patient's injuries may have been received at that institution, even though the evidence taken by the coroner's jury and other inquirers established beyond doubt that Mr. Emery was well cared for at Elgin and did not sustain any injuries while a patient there.

THE TRIBUNE has never published the verdict of the coroner's jury. May I ask that it be given in full as follows:

> Ray Gordon Emery came to his death April 1, 1938, from exhaustion due to mental illness, a fractured nose, two fractured ribs, and bronchial pneumonia as contributory causes at the Elgin State hospital. We, the jurors, find that Mr. Emery's body was considerably bruised when he first was admitted to the Elgin hospital, but we believe that he received these injuries, the broken nose and the fractured ribs, before being brought here, possibly while he was in the Chicago Psychopathic hospital from which he was transferred here, or possibly while being taken from one institution to the other, although there was no evidence introduced to indicate that he had to be subdued or restrained while en route to Elgin. We believe Mr. Emery's death was due to natural causes with his injuries and pneumonia as secondary causes.

The family were present at the inquest. They had an attorney with them. They had asked that their physician attend the autopsy which was delayed two hours awaiting his arrival, but he did not appear. The American Legion, of which Mr. Emery was a member, conducted its own inquiry and was represented at the inquest by its authorized agents.

The attorney interviewed in private all employés whom he wished to see. The state's attorney of Kane county was present by deputy. The testimony and evidence were conclusive and complete and fully justified the verdict exonerating the state hospital.

A representative of the American Legion was present when Mr. Emery arrived at the hospital, saw him stripped and testified to the bruises that were present and that were charted on the hospital's records.

The only complaint the family lodged was that the hospital had not sooner discovered the fractured nose and rib. But that was explained by the patient's disturbance and restlessness which made examination by either physical or x-ray methods almost impossible.

Neither the Elgin State hospital nor the department of public welfare countenances or shields improper or rough treatment of patients. No one is more concerned to know the facts about injuries which mental patients receive in state hospitals than the department of public welfare and never during my association with the department has even the slightest effort been made to cover up. We have followed the practice of finding the facts and making them public even though they may be unfavorable to the department. In the Emery case, I am convinced and I believe all of interested parties are convinced that Emery was not injured after his arrival in the Elgin institution.

A. L. BOWEN,
Director, Department of Public Welfare.

INTELLIGENCE IN ANIMALS.

Oak Park, Ill., April 4.—May I thank you for assisting me to keep my one New Year's resolution?

It was to disprove the contention of so many people that animals do not think, that all their acts are purely instinctive. To do this, I resolved to collect stories which would, in bulk, disprove this statement.

Through the efforts of your doughty reporters, I have, since Jan. 3, collected twelve such stories.

In all fairness I must admit that the mouse in today's story should be committed to a mouse psychopathic ward. However he did act contrary to the strongest of all instincts, that of self-preservation. For that reason alone the little nut rests between the covers of my scrap book. There are still many blank pages to be filled, so keep on with the good work.

ESTATE PROBATE.

Chicago, April 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. My mother died recently leaving no will. I have sold her property—it was to have been foreclosed because of the increasing taxes and now since the property is sold, is it compulsory that I pay the taxes out of the sale price?

2. My mother's lawyer sent me a bill for $400 for his services in aiding my mother before her death. Is it compulsory that I pay this amount? I have paid half of this sum and feel that it is sufficient. Mother had a few valuables left in the vault in her name.

Since the [3] Probate court has taken care of this I am asking if I can take some of the things in the vault for personal use.

4. How long must I wait before I can have full control of my mother's estate?

5. I have a lawyer to take care of the estate, yet I wish to understand what the legal requirements are in accordance with the above inquiries.

1. Compulsory in what sense? It is not clear that the fact of her death makes any substantial change in the pressure to pay the taxes.

2. You state no facts which would place you under any relationship to the probate of your mother's estate. The only way for the lawyer to enforce his claim would be by forcing probate proceedings and filing a claim in those proceedings.

3. You have given us no previous information as to probate proceedings.

4. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing who is the administrator and other facts that are not covered by your letter.

5. He is in a better position to advise you than we are.

BIRTH

by ENID BAGNOLD

With enchanted excitement, the household had waited, everything in readiness. And the Mother, waiting, waiting, had thought of her children, herself, of love in the past and ahead . . .

HERE is one of the most completely revealing reviews of woman's life that you have ever read. It is so close to the lives of women everywhere that it is like a heartbeat—warm, rhythmically pulsing.

Here, in one woman's experience, are answers to questions that women everywhere have asked.

Is it true that to some women children are the greatest love experience?

Do some women feel that there is a conflict between romantic love and maternity?

How does childbearing affect a woman's relation to her husband? What does it do to her? How does it change her?

Are you a woman to whom the love of men seems incomplete without the triumphant fulfillment of motherhood? You are in this story. Are you one who at heart shrinks from the changes, the sacrifices that motherhood brings? You, too, are here.

Are you one who instinctively turns from children, cheated out of your natural right to them? Or one who has poured out her youth and devotion in caring for other women's children? Both of you are here.

* * *

This is a drama of passionate motherhood. Challenging . . . Frank . . . Yet compellingly tender. . . . A story no woman who reads can ever forget, because in it she will find something of herself—something of her own deepest, most elemental feeling about life and love and the infinite mysteries which every individual woman must, because she is a woman, face.

Some readers will be startled by the daring of "Birth." Millions, we believe, will be grateful to the Journal for having the courage to publish it.

* * *

The author, Enid Bagnold, is the wife of Sir Roderick Jones, well known in British South African affairs; she is the daughter of a distinguished British colonel, mother of four children.

Her novel, "National Velvet," published in 1935, won fame as a best seller. Her newest work, "Birth," is sure to be one of the outstanding literary events of the year.

The Journal is proud to present this new serial to its millions of women readers.

What the Women of America Think About Morals

Would you have young people taught more about sex?

Do you believe that "petting" is right or wrong?

Would you stand by a daughter if she "got into trouble"?

Ask yourself what are your own honest reactions. Then—sit down with a copy of this month's Journal—see how your judgment compares with that of the majority of women, as shown by the Journal's latest nation-wide survey, "What the Women of America Think About Morals."

Each month, the Journal is publishing findings from a coast-to-coast investigation—cross-sectioning the 37,000,000 women of the nation—showing how they stand on marriage — divorce — birth-control—money—and other vital subjects.

This month's Journal carries one of the most provocative and interesting reports in the whole series. It will be discussed, argued about in millions of homes. Get your copy today.

MEAT IS HIGHER; VEGETABLES AND STAPLES LOWER

Coffee, Eggs and Sugar Among Bargains.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Retail prices have a tendency downward in staple and green grocer departments and up in butcher shops this week compared with last.

In this week's price survey Tribune reporters found many retailers talking about lower prices on coffee. Merchants in many cases already have cut their prices on the higher grades of coffee. Others who had sales of the lower priced brands last week marked their prices up again. But coffee is expected to go lower soon.

Egg Prices Reduced.

All grades of eggs have been reduced 1 to 2 cents a dozen in some stores, while others cut their prices only on the lower grades.

Sugar prices continue to go down. Reductions are from 1 to 4 cents a 10 pound bag in some stores. Several stores are holding banana sales at reductions of 2 cents a dozen.

The quality of green beans is improving and the price is 1½ to 2½ cents a pound less in shopping districts generally. Spinach, rhubarb, and cabbage are cheaper in most places. Cucumbers are much lower, they are gradually approaching summer prices. Florida growers are now supplying most of them. Asparagus, broccoli, and strawberries are less in some stores. A few merchants have cut their prices on roll butter.

Staples Are Steady.

There are few advances on prices in the staple departments this week. Green grocers have almost doubled their prices on head lettuce during the last two weeks; 2 to 4 cents a head was added this week. Dry onions are higher in some places. Fresh tomatoes are up 2½ to 3½ cents a pound.

Old potatoes are up 3 to 4 cents a 15 pound bag generally. New potatoes and cauliflower have been raised slightly by some retailers.

Price changes in most retail meat markets are higher. A few shops marked up nearly all of their regular cuts of beef, pork, and lamb, while others made few changes.

Rib roasts of beef are up 2 to 4 cents a pound in most shops. Several shops have raised their prices 2 to 4 cents on round steaks, 1 to 4 cents on sirloin and porterhouse steaks, and on pork loin roasts 2 to 6 cents a pound.

Ham and Chickens Lower.

Lamb chops, leg of lamb and pork spare ribs are higher in a few shops.

Cured ham will be found down 2 cents a pound here and there in the city and suburbs. Frying chickens are off 3 cents a pound in some shops and up 6 cents a pound in several places, while still other shops are offering them at last week's prices. Stewing chickens are off 2 cents in some places and up 4 cents a pound in others.

Retail fish markets in most shopping districts are offering trout, whitefish, and pike at 2 to 5 cents a pound under last week. Some cut perch prices 2 cents a pound.

John Campbell, federal live stock reporter, says that the Union stockyards had a typical storm market this week. The snow storm swept across the northern part of the country extending through the heart of the live stock territory. Supplies of cattle, hogs, and sheep have been light during the last few days and prices of live stock and meats are higher.

Better Steers Raised.

Good and choice steers are 25 to 50 cents a hundred pounds higher than last week. The week's top was $10.75 a hundredweight. Beef from the better grades of steers is 50 cents a hundred higher. The scarcity of hogs pushed prices up on the local market 10 to 20 cents a hundred with the top for the week reaching $9.15 a hundred pounds. Dressed pork took a big jump; it is $2 to $2.50 a hundred above last week. Fat lambs brought farmers 25 to 40 cents a hundred more than a week ago. The highest price paid for lambs this week was $9.25 a hundred for lambs of last year's crop and $10.25 a hundred for spring lambs. Dressed lambs are 50 cents a hundred higher.

More prices went up than down this week on the wholesale fruit and vegetable market, according to federal reports. Head lettuce took another sharp advance. Broccoli, cabbage, both old and new potatoes, fresh tomatoes, dry onions, grapefruit, and sweet potatoes are higher. Asparagus, green beans, cucumbers, and strawberries are lower than a week ago. The first cantaloupes of the season arrived this week from Mexico.

Names of Pupils of 1908 Found in Buried Bottle

Belvidere, Ill., April 7.—A bottle planted thirty years ago was dug up by pupils of the Rollinsville school near here today as they were preparing to plant a tree. Inside the bottle was found a list of the pupils attending the school at that time and the name of the teacher. Names of the present pupils and teacher were added to the paper, which was replaced in the bottle and buried under the new tree.

ENGLISH MUFFINS BEST DESCRIBED 'AS YEAST CAKES

English muffins really aren't muffins at all. One might better describe them as tall yeast griddle cakes. They are best when the batter contains potatoes.

ENGLISH MUFFINS.

[About 18.]

¼ cup riced cooked potato, firmly packed
2 cups boiling water
2 yeast cakes
1 teaspoon salt
4 cups flour

Let water cool to lukewarm, add yeast and potato and stir to dissolve yeast. Add flour and salt and beat thoroughly, about 2 minutes. Let rise until very light [about 1½ hours].

Flour a board well, turn dough onto it, dredge top with flour so that dough, which is very soft, can be handled. Flour a second board and place on it pieces of dough large enough to make a three-inch round about ½ inch thick. Let rise until doubled in bulk [about 1 to 1½ hours] being very careful not to jar the dough, which will fall unless carefully handled. Cover carefully so that cloth does not touch dough.

Bake on hot and very lightly greased griddle. Allow 15 minutes for each side. Serve split and toasted.

WARM UP PITCHING ARMS, BAKERS! IT'S CUSTARD PIE TIME

This is custard pie baking season and one should find no trouble at all in picking out just the pie to suit the family taste when there are so many varieties possible. One variation that's sure to become a favorite is maple sugar custard pie.

MAPLE SUGAR CUSTARD PIE.

2 cups scalded milk
4 eggs
⅓ cups finely shaved maple sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
Pastry for one crust

Beat eggs slightly. Add maple sugar, salt and vanilla. Stir until dissolved. Add the milk and pour into the crust, which has been chilled after rolling. Bake in a moderately slow oven [340 degrees F.] until an inserted knife comes out clean. Serve cold with a topping of whipped cream sprinkled with thin shavings of maple sugar.

MALTED MILK IS RICH TOUCH IN NEW DISHES

Powder Adds Nutritive Value, Too.

Selecting the right sauce, stuffing, or garnish never is more important than in the service of fish. Mary Meade's booklet "What to Serve with Fish" solves this problem. It is on sale for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. It will be mailed for 5 cents in stamps. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Tribune Tower.

BY MARY MEADE.

Years ago, while on a "building up" diet, I found that home made malted milk drinks were a pleasant source of needed calories, and acquired a habit of keeping a jar of the powdered "malt" on a cupboard shelf.

Since then I've discovered that the flavor of malted milk makes many good things "gooder"—icings, cookies, puddings and other foods. And, of course, the nutritive qualities of any cooked or uncooked product are improved if malted milk is a recipe ingredient.

Malted Milk Brownies.

2 eggs
⅓ cup melted butter
⅔ cup brown sugar
½ cup flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ cup malted milk powder
⅓ cup cocoa
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nuts

Beat the eggs well. Add melted butter and brown sugar and blend. Measure and sift dry ingredients together, and beat gradually into the egg mixture. Add vanilla and chopped nuts. Line an 8 inch pan with waxed paper and spread the mixture over it. Bake at 350 degrees for half an hour. Remove cake from pan, take off waxed paper, and cut into strips, using a sharp knife. Cut strips crosswise to make brownies the size desired.

Malted Milk Custard.

5 eggs
¾ cup malted milk powder
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
4 cups milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat eggs slightly, and add malted milk, salt, and sugar. Beat until well mixed. Add milk and vanilla. Pour into greased custard cups or a greased baking dish. Place in a pan of warm water, and bake at 325 degrees until firm.

Malted Milk Butter Icing.
[Enough for 3 layers.]

2-3 cup butter
3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon cocoa
1 tablespoon malted milk powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons cream

Cream butter thoroughly and add 1 cup confectioners' sugar, with the cocoa and malted milk powder. Add vanilla and 1 tablespoon cream, then work in remaining sugar and cream, until the mixture has a good spreading consistency.

Uncooked Malted Milk Icing with Egg.

1 tablespoon softened butter
1 egg
2 teaspoons malted milk powder
½ teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
Cream [about 1 tablespoon]

Cream the butter and beat the egg into it. Add malted milk powder, vanilla and confectioners' sugar, working the mixture smooth. Add enough cream to give a spreading consistency.

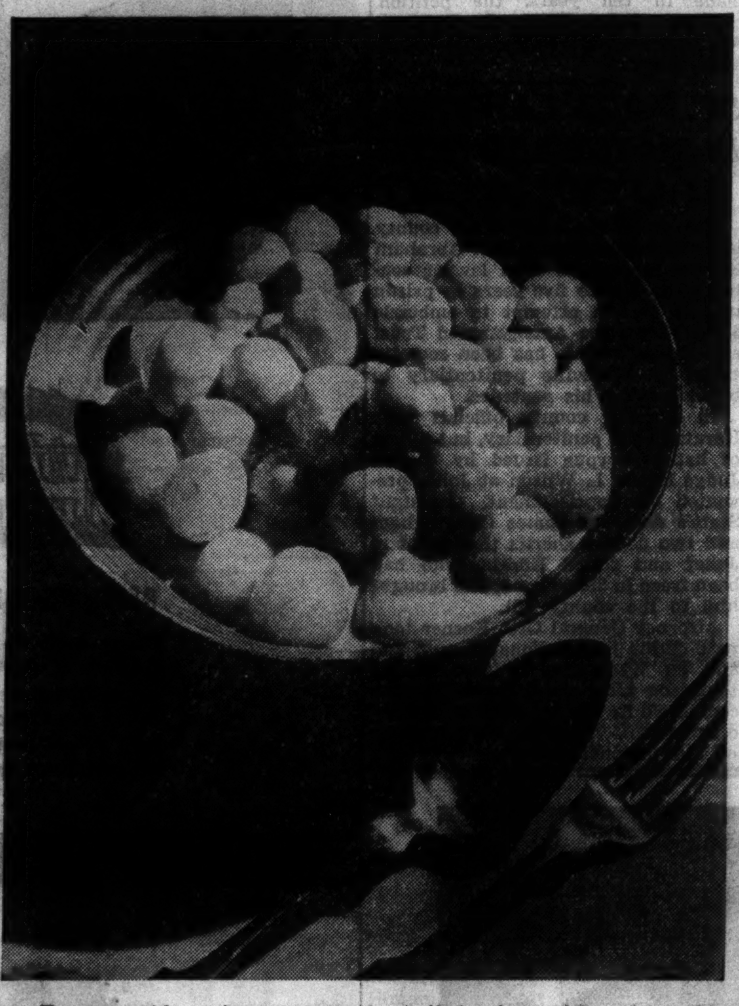
For Variety in Vegetables



For vegetable variety serve tender boiled onions with a rich golden cheese sauce. The sauce is made simply by melting one-quarter pound of grated American cheese in one cup of irradiated evaporated milk over boiling water. This is enough sauce for three cups of cooked onions and will give six servings.

Army Looking for a Stenog, but Sex Appeal Won't Help

The army is looking for a stenographer, between the ages of 18 and 25 years. Only a man can qualify and he must be willing to enlist in the army at $21 a month for services in the 6th corps area headquarters in the new Postoffice building. According to Col. William W. Edwards, recruiting officer, the successful applicant can eventually earn $157.50 a month.

TRY NEW ORLEANS PRUNE PIE FOR A PALATE PLEASER

From the south comes this recipe for palate-pleasing New Orleans prune pie. Sour cream, molasses, and brown sugar are responsible for its lusciousness.

NEW ORLEANS PRUNE PIE
[One deep nine-inch pie]

2 cups uncooked prunes
1⅓ cups sour cream,
2 tablespoons dark molasses
2 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
Pastry for single nine-inch crust

Rinse prunes, cut from pits, and put through food chopper, using medium blade. Combine cream, molasses, eggs, salt, sugar, and spice, and mix thoroughly. Moisten flour in a small amount of cream mixture, stir until smooth, then add to cream mixture. Add prunes and beat well. Pour into pastry lined pie pan and bake for 10 minutes in a very hot oven [475 degrees F.], reduce temperature to moderate [350 degrees F.], and continue making for 20 to 25 minutes or until custard is set. Makes one deep nine-inch pie.

Pineapple and Apricots Make an Excellent Jam

This is the between-season for jams and jellies—last summer's supply nearly gone and too early for this year's fruits and berries. Dried fruits come to the rescue. A jam of pineapple and apricots, for instance, will held tide you over until early summer.

DRIED APRICOT AND PINEAPPLE JAM.
[Eleven 6 ounce glasses.]

¼ pound dried apricots [¾ cup]
1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple [2½ cups]
7 cups [3 pounds] sugar
1 bottle commercial pectin

Add 2 cups water to the apricots, cover and let stand for four hours or overnight. Drain fruit. Grind or chop it fine. Add to pineapple and measure. If necessary add enough water to make 4 cups. Mix sugar and fruit well. Bring to a boil. Boil hard, stirring constantly for one minute. Remove from heat and stir in the fruit pectin. Skim. Pour quickly. Cover with paraffin at once.

A KIDNEY STEW WITH CLARET IS HELP TO HOSTESS

Kidney stew with a claret sauce is one of those dishes that may easily become the specialty on which a clever hostess stakes her reputation. While it is inexpensive, it has an expensive taste.

KIDNEY STEW WITH CLARET SAUCE
[Serves six.]

6 veal or 9 lamb kidneys
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons butter
1½ cups stock
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup currant jelly
⅔ cup claret wine

Wash kidneys, split, remove skin and fat, and soak in cold salted water one-half hour; drain and slice thin. Stir flour into butter and brown slightly; add stock gradually and cook five minutes, stirring until thickened. Add kidneys and seasonings and cook ten minutes, or until tender; add jelly beaten slightly with a fork, and wine. Heat and serve at once.

SHE'S A CAT!—TO TALK THAT WAY ABOUT MY LEGS!
YOU'VE GOT VERY NICE LEGS, JOAN, BUT YOU'RE SO CARELESS ABOUT THE WAY YOUR STOCKINGS LOOK.
BUT WHAT CAN I DO? WASHING STOCKINGS ALWAYS MAKES THEM LOOK COTTONY AND DOWDY. I CAN'T AFFORD NEW STOCKINGS ALL THE TIME.
THAT'S BECAUSE YOU'VE BEEN WASHING THEM WITH SOAP. LOOK AT THIS AD. IT'S FOR A NEW SUDS CALLED DREFT. IT SAYS DREFT IS WONDERFUL FOR STOCKINGS.
DREFT? WHY THE GIRLS AT THE OFFICE WERE TALKING ABOUT IT ONLY THE OTHER DAY. I THINK I'LL TRY IT.
A PACKAGE OF DREFT, PLEASE.
MY CUSTOMERS SAY DREFT IS WONDERFUL THE WAY IT KEEPS STOCKINGS LOOKING SO NEW AND RICH.
THAT EVENING... JOAN MAKES THE DREFT TEST
I'D NEVER HAVE BELIEVED IT. THIS DREFT WASHED STOCKING LOOKS SHADES RICHER. THE OTHER IS ALL DOWDY AND COTTONY IN COMPARISON.

Dreft Test: Take a pair of "clean" soap-washed stockings. Wash one in Dreft. Compare. The Dreft-washed stocking will look "younger" and richer. The other seems old, "cottony" looking in comparison.

WHO'S THAT GIRL OVER THERE WITH THE STUNNING LEGS? I'D LIKE TO MEET HER.
THAT'S JOAN NORTH. SHE GETS BETTER LOOKING EVERY DAY.

DREFT GIVES STOCKINGS 100% LONGER LIFE, Declares Chicago Girl
At last—the first truly modern washing suds. A suds that actually improves the appearance of your stockings instead of hurting them.
No wonder women everywhere are forsaking old-fashioned soap flakes . . . switching to Dreft.
Dreft not only keeps stockings looking rich and new . . . it helps them to wear longer, say women. Read the testimony of Miss Florence Jakes at right.
Dreft does a better job washing your stockings, because it has all the advantages of soap flakes and not one of the disadvantages.
Soap scum is one of the things that spoil stockings and Dreft never forms scum—not even in the hardest water. Dreft makes suds as easily in hard water, as in soft—5 times more suds, than any soap flakes in hardest water.
Dreft dissolves as easily in cold water, as in hot. Never leaves any undissolved particles.
And Dreft is so mild its suds won't hurt your eyes any more than water will. Dreft suds don't contain any alkali at all. So it's literally "safe in water, safe in Dreft."

"Too, my silk stockings not only looked richer, but lasted longer when I washed them in Dreft. I found that they lasted about twice as long without getting runs, as when I washed them in soap flakes."

TRADE SUBJECTS IN 2,728 SCHOOLS GET FULL CREDITS

Awarded Equal Rank with Academic Courses.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

High school courses in shop work, typewriting, cooking, and sewing yesterday were raised to the academic dignity of Latin, history, and mathematics in so far as the standings of 2,728 high schools in twenty central states are concerned. These schools are members of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Such a break with American education tradition was made when the association's commission on secondary schools unanimously adopted a report embodying new policies, regulations and criteria for standard high schools of the North Central association's area.

This action puts an official stamp of approval on the new vocational program developed by Superintendent William H. Johnson for Chicago public schools and identifies the city's high schools with progressive schools of the country.

New System of Grading.

On the recommendation of Hal Baird, of Francis W. Parker school, 330 Webster avenue, a private institution, the commission on secondary education approved a revision of the new code for high schools regarded by the educators as even more sensationally progressive than the abolition of distinctions between vocational and academic subjects.

Under the Baird revision, high schools no longer need award pupils comparative grades in their studies with other students. In fact, the adopted revision does away with the necessity of all letter or numerical grades for students, such as A, B, or C, or 80, 90, or 100 per cent.

The revision instead, calls for grades that are merely passing, or not passing, except for evaluations on the individual student's abilities. Baird said this will do away with such evaluations on students as "members of the upper 25 per cent of their class," which are emphasized by some college and university admissions departments.

"The capabilities of the lower 25 per cent of a class of one school might surpass those of the upper 25 per cent in another school," he explained.

Vote Inquiry in North Dakota.

The association's commission on higher education voted to conduct an inquiry of administrative procedures and practices of the state board of education of North Dakota and to drop North Dakota Agricultural college, Fargo, N. D., from the accredited list because of alleged political situations detrimental to academic success.

Six colleges were added to the accredited list by the commission. They are Kenyon college at Gambier, O.; Aurora college at Aurora, Bethel college at Bethel, Kas.; New Mexico Military institute at Roswell, N. M.; the College of St. Francis at Joliet, and Ashland college at Ashland, O.

The commission approved a report that 117 high schools in twenty states had been warned they were not up to the standards required by the association. Eleven of these are in Illinois. The names of none were made public. A total of 2,513 high schools were reapproved and 110 high schools newly approved.

BAR DISMISSES COMPLAINT ON CROWE, SAVAGE

The grievance committee of the Chicago Bar association yesterday dismissed the complaint brought by the Better Government association against former State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe and Joseph P. Savage, his erstwhile law partner. The complaint was filed last October. It charged that actions of the two lawyers tended to bring the legal profession into disrepute, and asked their disbarment or censure.

Members of the grievance committee, sitting as commissioners of the Illinois Supreme court, held that the association failed to present competent or material evidence to support the complaint.

The complaint was an outgrowth of the litigation between Crowe and Savage in the Circuit court in 1936 when they quarreled over division of $300,000 in assets of the dissolved law firm of Crowe, Gorman & Savage. Master in Chancery Samuel Epstein recommended that the court should not order an accounting as the contract by which the partners agreed to share their fees—particularly fees earned in public office—was against public policy and therefore void. In January, 1937, Crowe was reported to have paid Savage $37,500 as a settlement.

Threat with Horse Whip Lands Woman in a Cell

Mrs. Jennie Umlauf tried to take the law into her own hands yesterday afternoon and landed in a Central police station cell. Carrying a three foot whip, she went to the office of Attorney Frank Goldberg at 11 South LaSalle street to discuss her legal efforts to regain her restaurant at 1205 West 69th street. Attorney Goldberg represents the present owners. Soon the police were called. Goldberg said Mrs. Umlauf had not struck him, but signed a disorderly conduct complaint against her. She lives at 553 East 75th street.

Courtney Police Arrest 3 on Policy Game Charge

Police from the state's attorney's office continued their so-called fact finding raids on alleged gambling places yesterday. On the second floor at 5029 State street they arrested James Williams, colored, accused of operating a policy game, and two colored assistants. The men were taken to the state's attorney's offices for questioning.

DELAY HEARING ON PRINCIPAL'S SUIT TO MONDAY

Testimony Offered by Only One Examiner.

A hearing before Master in Chancery James P. Harrold on the mandamus suit of Lemuel E. Minnis to have his name placed on the school principals' eligibility list was continued yesterday until Monday. Only one of the members of the oral examining board whose testimony is sought appeared.

Four others declined to appear, explaining that their attorney had advised them the hearing was irregular.

Seeks Court Order Tomorrow.

Minnis, assistant principal of the Wells High school, is fighting his case before Judge Donald S. McKinlay of the Superior court, who is being assisted by Master Harrold. Minnis' lawyer, Cameron Latter, said he will appear before Judge McKinlay tomorrow with a petition for an order to compel the four examiners to testify before the master.

The four are George F. Cassell, assistant superintendent of high schools; Miss Minnie E. Fallon, assistant superintendent of elementary schools, and Harry Keeler and Lillian M. Tobing, district superintendents. They were among seven members of the examining board who signed a statement declaring that oral examinations for the principals' list were honest and fair.

Testifies About Examination.

J. J. Zmrhal, a district superintendent who was a member of the examining borad, was the only one who testified before Master Harrold yesterday. He asserted that William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, had given orders that four persons who had failed to pass the oral examinations be passed by the board, and that nine others who had passed, be marked as failed.

Zmrhal identified these nine by their last names after consulting a little black notebook. In connection with the notebook, he testified that one of the examiners had told him not to take notes, but that he had taken them anyway.

PASTOR NIEMOELLER WILL BE RELEASED SOON, FRIENDS SAY

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, April 7.—The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, dissident Protestant pastor no longer is in a concentration camp. He was removed Monday from Oranienburg camp at Sachsenhausen to Alexanderplatz police prison and, it is believed, will be released or transferred to honorable "fortress imprisonment."

His wife saw him Monday afternoon and left Tuesday with the family for an undisclosed destination. This incident is regarded by his friends as proof he is either to be released or that he is to be imprisoned under conditions enabling him to see his family. There is reasonably good authority for the report that he is already in Glatz fortress in Silesia, some miles from Breslau.

The names of Dr. Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister, and the acting secret political police chief are now being connected with Niemoeller's imprisonment, and Field Marshal Herman Goering's name is being connected with the reported transfer to a fortress and the possible eventual release.

SENATOR FRAZIER AGREES TO SERVE ON TVA INQUIRY

Washington, D. C., April 7.—(AP)—Senator Lynn J. Frazier [R., N. D.] announced today he would accept membership on the joint congressional committee to investigate the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Frazier's acceptance left only one vacancy on the ten-man body, with Senator James J. Davis [R., Pa.] reliably reported as slated for the remaining appointment, to be made by Vice President Garner.

The North Dakota senator said he was not anxious for the job but felt "some one has to do it."

Senator Vic Donahey [D., Ohio], who is expected to be temporary chairman of the group, said he would not attempt to call an organization meeting until Vice President Garner had completed the personnel of the committee.

DELAY INQUESTS TO HUNT CAUSES OF 2 FATAL FIRES

Inquests into two fires which cost the lives of nine persons Wednesday were continued yesterday pending complete investigation and the recovery of several persons injured.

Kenneth Phillipi.

The parents of Miss Sadie Palmer, 17 years old, 3510 North Harlem avenue, testified that they had pleaded with their daughter, who was killed in an explosion and fire at the plant of the Match corporation of America, 6041 Grand avenue, to quit her job. The father, Joseph, charged that the factory doors were too small for safety. This was denied by Kenneth Phillipi, factory superintendent, who said each was more than four feet wide. The inquest was continued to April 20.

The inquest into the fire at the Center hotel, 1426 Madison street, where eight men were killed, was continued to May 3. Earl Downes, assistant corporation counsel, is investigating the causes of both blazes.

EXPERT OFFERS COMPROMISE ON LAKE DIVERSION

Washington, D. C., April 7.—(AP)—A compromise in the Great Lakes water diversion controversy was proposed today before the house rivers and harbors committee.

Roy Miller of the port of Corpus Christi, Tex., suggested an amendment to the 1930 rivers and harbors act extending the present rate of Lake Michigan water diversion at Chicago until completion of the Illinois waterway.

"It would be better for the cause of all waterways to work out some such compromise," Miller said. He contended the 1930 act provided army engineers were to determine a reasonable diversion after completion of the waterway.

GREEN ASKS UNIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA TO DEFEAT C. I. O. SLATE

Harrisburg, Pa., April 7.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, today called upon the craft unions of Pennsylvania to defeat C. I. O. backed candidates in the state's 1938 elections.

By inference, he voiced opposition to the candidacy of Lieut. Gov. Thomas Kennedy, who is running for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination with the backing of John L. Lewis and United States Senator Joseph F. Guffey.

As he told the story of the C. I. O.'s break with the A. F. of L., assailing Lewis as "an autocrat and a dictator," Green stamped his foot sharply, roared his challenge and banged his fists. He was speaking before the convention of some 1,900 delegates of craft unions reorganizing the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor following revocation of the federation's charter for refusing to expel C. I. O. unions.

ORDERS WITNESS IN ORTON DIVORCE CASE ARRESTED

Judge Thomas J. Lynch issued an order yesterday for the arrest of Miss Annabel Adams, 215 East Chestnut street, for failure to give a deposition on March 21 in the Orton divorce case, as ordered by the court. The attachment was issued at the request of William Dillon, attorney for Mrs. Marie Orton, 61 years old, of 5204 Greenwood avenue, who is suing her husband, Philo A. Orton, 64 years old, for temporary alimony. He has filed a cross petition for divorce.

Mrs. Orton's attorneys asked permission to question Miss Adams, whose connection with the case was not stated. When she failed to appear, contempt proceedings were started. Mrs. Orton has accused her husband of misconduct with a Miss R. and a Miss S. Orton, who is president of the Orton Crane and Shovel company, accuses his wife of misconduct with a Mr. X. Judge Lynch set a hearing on the alimony plea for next Wednesday before Judge Philip J. Finnegan.

SENATOR BERRY AND PRESS UNION NAMED IN SUIT

United States Senator George L. Berry of Tennessee, the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union, of North America, of which he is president, and seven Chicago officers of the union were charged with conspiracy to seize and control the union in a suit filed in the United States District court here yesterday by twenty-three members of Franklin union No. 4 of Chicago. The plaintifs ask a temporary injunction to prevent the defendants from doing them bodily harm, from intimidating them, and from concealing or transferring funds of the union.

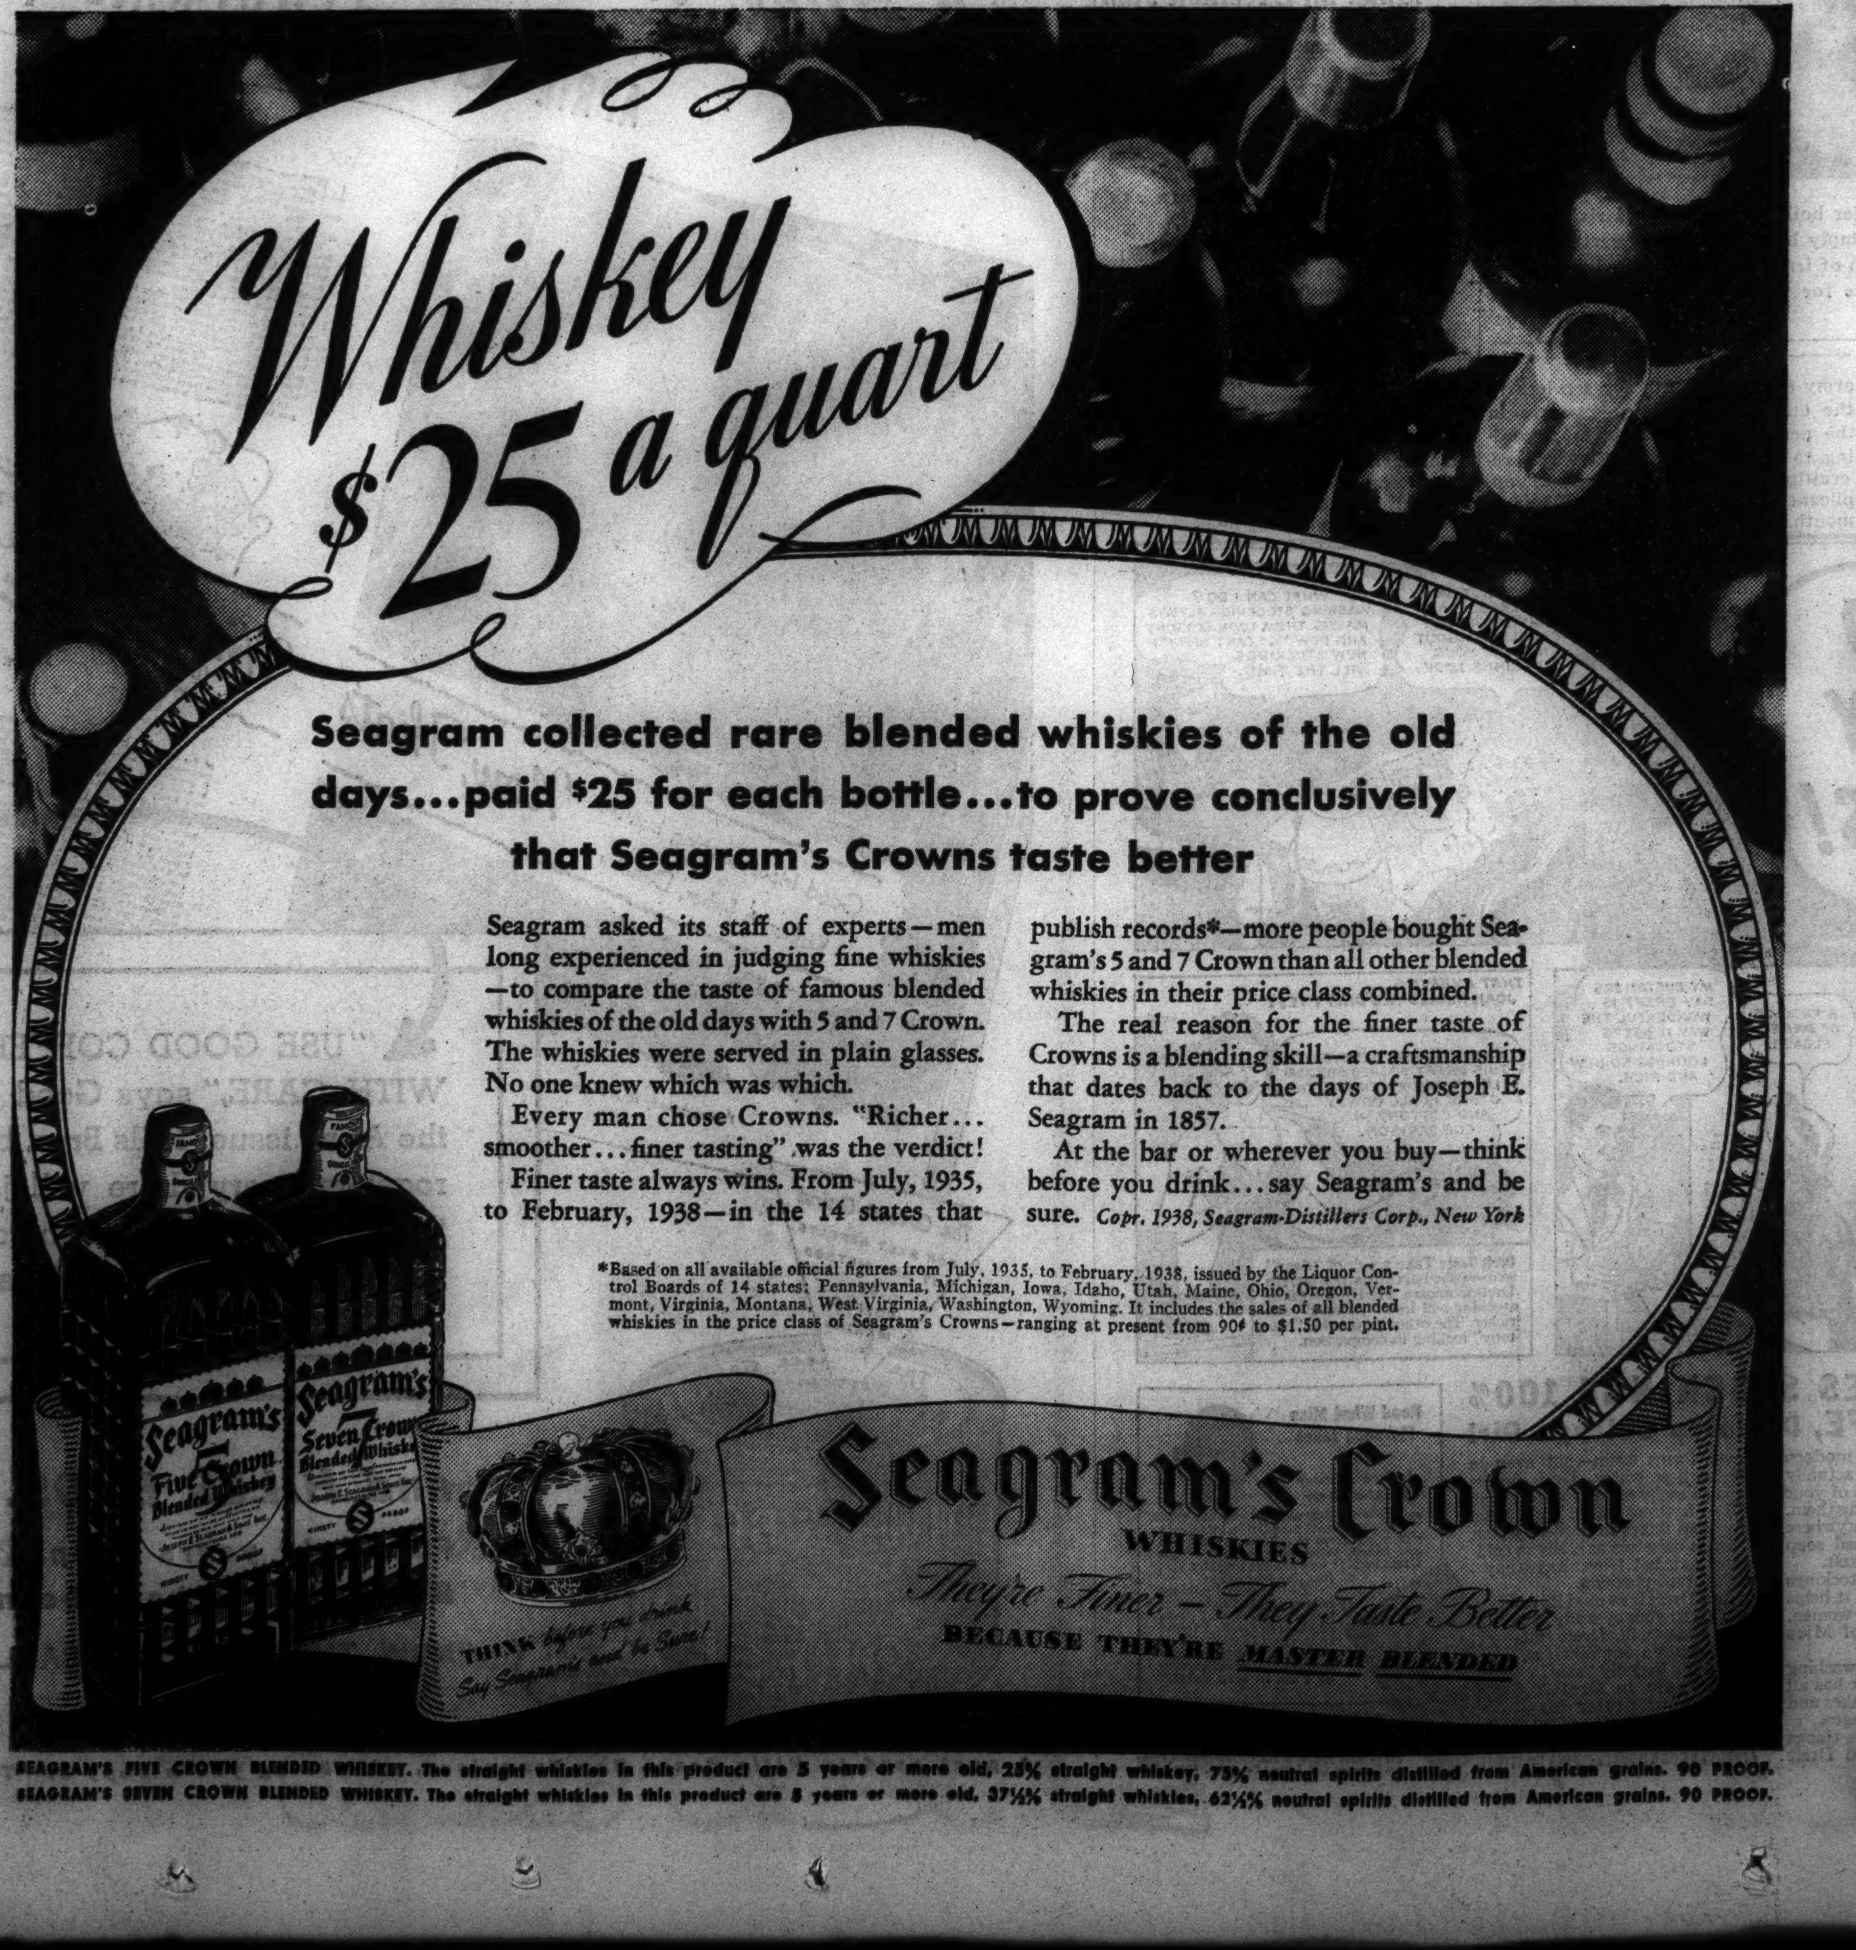
The suit, which was filed by Attorneys John R. Sullivan and James Daniels, charges that Senator Berry and other officers have refused to permit an election of officers since 1928 and that members who have tried to bring about an election have been either intimidated or threatened with expulsion from the union. Gag rule at meetings has been invoked since 1934 and no accounting of funds has been made in ten years, the petition charges. Judge Philip L. Sullivan will hear the injunction petition at 10 a. m. today.

ST. PAUL LAWYER IS SMUGGLED INTO STATEVILLE CELL

Warden Frank Sain of the county jail revealed yesterday that Abraham Karatz, former St. Paul lawyer sentenced to one to five years in prison in 1935 for an attempt to embezzle $55,473 from the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank, has been secretly taken to Stateville penitentiary to begin serving his sentence.

In January county officials took Karatz to the penitentiary, but a writ of habeas corpus issued by Circuit Judge Edwin L. Wilson at Joliet prevented his imprisonment. Assistant State's Attorney James Cunningham and two deputy sherifs then went to Joliet and seized Karatz, who had been freed in $5,000 bond, and brought him to the county jail.

Attorney General Otto Kerner took note of the jurisdictional dispute and and on Wednesday ordered Karatz to prison after the Illinois Supreme court held he was not entitled to freedom on bail. Warden Sain's transfer of the prisoner followed.



Whiskey $25 a quart

Seagram collected rare blended whiskies of the old days...paid $25 for each bottle...to prove conclusively that Seagram's Crowns taste better

Seagram asked its staff of experts—men long experienced in judging fine whiskies—to compare the taste of famous blended whiskies of the old days with 5 and 7 Crown. The whiskies were served in plain glasses. No one knew which was which.

Every man chose Crowns. "Richer... smoother... finer tasting" was the verdict!

Finer taste always wins. From July, 1935, to February, 1938—in the 14 states that publish records*—more people bought Seagram's 5 and 7 Crown than all other blended whiskies in their price class combined.

The real reason for the finer taste of Crowns is a blending skill—a craftsmanship that dates back to the days of Joseph E. Seagram in 1857.

At the bar or wherever you buy—think before you drink... say Seagram's and be sure. Copr. 1938, Seagram-Distillers Corp., New York

Even Cautious Souls Can Revel in Colors Now

BY RHEA SEEGER.

It's a wide open season for color. You've heard that one before, now you'll believe it without further discussion as you watch the early fashion parades of new clothes.

Black outfits have two or three vivid colors to take the eye—scarlet gloves, yellow bag, and a blue facing to a brimmed hat. Or a copper brown with chalk blue accessories, or slate blue clothes highlighted with a reddish tone called vita-red in bag and hats.

If you like color, this is the time to mix your favorites. Even flowers, real flowers, can be bunched in combines of tints or shades to repeat a color in the dress or accessories.

Brown and white with gay green make another grand threesome; navy blue with lime enlivened with a bit of red make still another trio. The results are the most exciting contrasts of the season.

Simple one piece daytime dresses are ideal foundation pieces for colored accessories. Navy blue or brown or deep green are grand basic colors. Hats, belts, gloves, bags, shoes, and even hosiery and rainy day slickers are shopping bait for the accessory and color mixer ready to assemble a distinctive spring wardrobe.

Fashion photograph. . . . Dull white crinkled fabric is used for this form fitting evening gown cut with an extremely low outline bodice top. Loose folds over the shoulder continue as a fold around the décolletage and three jeweled clips accent the corners. A short train at the back accents the slight flare of the skirt.

Mrs. Harry Mulberry of Chicago Nominated by Illinois P.-T. A.

Bloomington, Ill., April 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Harry Mulberry of 9345 Winchester avenue, Chicago, was nominated for president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, the nominating committe reported today. Unopposed for election at the annual convention in Quincy May 3 to 5, she will succeed Mrs. Arthur R. Williams of Normal, who held office four years.

Others nominated included Mrs. Russell Lyon, 6100 Newburg avenue, Chicago, first vice president; Mrs. W. H. Withey, Springfield, second vice president; Mrs. Theo Gleichman, Moline, third vice president, and Mrs. Frank A. Damm, 4915 North Kilpatrick avenue, Chicago, treasurer.

Women Smile, Then Approve Easter Styles

At least half of the Easter paraders this year will be very amused. The other half, who also may be amused, will be much too demure and feminine to admit it.

In defiance of the dripping weather State street merchants yesterday leagued with fashion and brought out their most beguiling costumes for spring. At their annual Easter preview, held in the Palmer house, slim mannequins sauntered and turned in their short, full skirted suits, defining in each swaying step the new alliance of color movement and whimsy that is the pride of women's new clothes.

Hats were small and flippant or enormous and floppy. If they were tiny, they were only moorings for clumps of flowers, and were tied securely to smooth, curled heads by trailing veils. The models smiled as they wore them.

One girl, tall and dark, wore a black crêpe afternoon dress with a sunburst plaited skirt and a turquoise tweed jacket that would have been incongruous a year ago but is high style, she insisted, this year. With it were paired dusty pink accessories.

Another pinned a corsage of felt flowers, tiny hats they were, on a beach costume, which was already a rainbow combination of yellow pullover shirt, red shorts, blue culotte, blue skull cap, and thick soled beach shoes. The flowers were "just to be crazy," she explained.

For evening a black lace and net gown, with the strapless shoulders of Winterhalter, brought gasps of admiration and apprehension from the audience. It had a wide, wide skirt, an hour glass waistline, a wicked heart-shaped bodice. It was charming, but how, queried the observers, did it stay on? A model demonstrated.

"You know about corsets," she said, wearily. "Well, this dress has one of its own. It's all boned." She tugged at it purposefully. "It could not come down if it wanted to."

Mrs. Gambrill Will Give Tea for Mrs. Simms

BY JUDITH CASS.

LATE in the summer Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gambrill Jr. will be issuing invitations to a tea to introduce to society their eldest daughter, Helen, but just now Mrs. Gambrill's thoughts are more on a tea she will give Wednesday, April 20, for Mrs. Albert Gallatin Simms.

Mrs. Simms founded the Sandia School for Girls in Albuquerque, N. M., about five years ago when she moved there shortly after her marriage to Mr. Simms, so that her younger daughter, Ruth Elizabeth McCormick, could have proper schooling and still live at home.

Ruth Elizabeth, always called Bazy by her family and friends, now is at the Foxcroft school in Middlebury, Va., but the day school her mother started in New Mexico has flourished and grown until it now is a boarding school, and the Gambrills' younger daughter, Joan, will be a student there next year. Mrs. Simms has not lost interest in the school just because her daughter no longer is there, and she is coming to Chicago right after Easter to give several talks here and in Milwaukee about the school.

Friend to Fountain Valley School.

Mrs. Simms is a good friend to another school in the west, the Fountain Valley in Colorado Springs, where her son, John Medill McCormick, went to preparatory school, and several years ago she gave a large tea here at the Casino for the headmaster. Medill preferred traveling to going to college, so since being graduated from the Fountain Valley he has been in South America, but he is back in this country now, living in Albuquerque.

Mr. and Mrs. Simms will be on their way home to New Mexico from having spent the winter and early spring in Charleston, S. C., when they come through Chicago week after next. They have been occupying a charming old house, new to them, though, in Charleston, for it was while visiting there last year that Mr. and Mrs. Simms saw the old Gibbes house and bought it. They restored the house, changing it as little as possible, and installing replicas of the beautiful chandeliers and doors that had been in it originally.

House Stands in Famous Grove.

The house stands in a tract formerly known as Lowndes' grove, the scene of many a noted duel, the most outstanding of which was between Gen. Christopher Gadsden and Gen. Howe. The mansion, which commands a sweeping view of the Ashley river, is furnished mainly with things Mrs. Simms had in her Washington house when she lived there.

Miss Helen Gambrill just has gone back to Vassar after spending the spring holidays in Evanston. She plans to return to Vassar next year, also, so she will make her debut at an early season tea, probably at the Exmoor club in Highland Park. The tea Mrs. Gambrill will give for Mrs. Simms will be at the Gambrill residence, 1426 Chicago avenue, Evanston.

Wattses to Entertain for Two Daughters.

Not a formal debut but just to welcome them home is a party Mr. and Mrs. Harry Watts are giving on Easter Sunday for their daughters, Susana and Henrietta, who are returning from school in England next week. The girls are landing in New York on the Europa next Tuesday, but they will visit Glenn Martin in Baltimore for several days before coming to Chicago, so they will arrive just in time for the party probably.

Mr. and Mrs. Watts are entertaining between 4 and 6 in their Wheaton farmhouse, Hubbard manor, on the Wiesbrook road. The house, low and sprawling on a low hilltop, has a strong Chilean atmosphere indoors, although the exterior is typically that of a prosperous Illinois farmhouse. Mrs. Watts' home was in Chile before she met Mr. Watts while she and her mother and sister were touring the United States on their way home after the girls had been educated in England.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Wildflowers.

Hollywood, Cal., April 7.—If the Southern California Auto club hadn't sent the pamphlet about the wildflowers, everything would have been all right, but the pamphlet said that all members would forever regret it if they did not travel north to Bakersfield, Cal., and feast their eyes on the acres of wildflowers, so that's how it happened.

When I broke the news to the little woman, the effect was the same as though I'd knocked her down with a bowling pin. "Wildflowers?" she asked suspiciously.

"It may never have struck you," I said, with great dignity, "but there is something else to life than moving pictures. There is a vast uncharted sea of beauty which offers itself at our very doorstep and I propose to take advantage of it."

She shook her head, completely mystified, but as we clambered into the car, she muttered something that sounded like: "Drunk again."

One hundred and fifty miles out, I stopped at a gas station. "Where are the wildflowers?" I asked pleasantly. The man glared at me: "Wildflowers? All I got is regular gas or ethyl."

So we drove on: "A rough lout," I said, conversationally. "Here he is in the wildflower belt and he is so insensitive to beauty that he can't get his mind off gasoline." Fifty miles more and the little woman sniffed suspiciously: "I smell something burning," she said. "Maybe you are going too fast."

The remark was so preposterous that your reporter laughed aloud: "This car is built to run at this speed all day long and night long, if necessary." Just then the fan belt broke and the car shuddered all over.

Luckily it was on a down grade and we coasted three-quarters of a mile to a gas station. Long before we got there they knew we were coming. Strange, strangling noises were coming from under the hood as though the motor was cooking a reluctant duck. The radiator cap was moving uneasily, and clouds of hot steam were belching from it. We arrived at the gas station as unobtrusively as a tornado.

The gas station man was busy serving cold drinks and sandwiches, but he finally got around to us, and as he put on the new fan belt, I filled the tank with water. Away we started again. This time I broke down at the next gas station. The garage man tinkered around with it and then said: "Start up your motor." I pressed the starter and the only noise was a dull "clunk." The man shook his head. "Your starter has 'frozen,'" he said. "I will call a tow car."

For an hour and a half we sat and waited for the tow car. To while away the time I decided to climb a nearby hill. "Don't go through that fence," warned the little woman, "the barbed wire will tear your suit." I looked at her tolerantly: "Are you suggesting that I am so old and feeble that I can't get through a fence?" So I got stuck on the fence and ripped my suit. I came back and sat in the car, wordlessly.

The tow car came and towed us twenty miles to the driver's garage. He pried off the head of the engine. "Step on your starter now," he said. I did as he bid and a stream of water shot out and hit him right in the face. He dried himself off savagely, yanked off the head and found it cracked: "I thought so," he said happily, "you will have to leave the car here while I get the parts from Los Angeles."

I asked him how it had cracked. "Some jackass poured cold water in while the car was overheated." I accepted the nomination modestly.

At 10 o'clock that night we boarded a bus for Hollywood. Unhappily I tried to doze off and sleep, but a drunken man behind our seat was raising an uproar. As he quieted down two salesmen stated talking about their products: "This is the first time I've ever traveled on a bus," said one. "It certainly is a lot cheaper," said the other. "I did not mean that," said the first with asperity. "I am just doing this for the experience." After a while they stopped talking.

Then the girl ahead of us made friends with her seatmate. She had, it seemed, taken up palmistry and phrenology. "Read my hand," said the fellow. "It's too dark," she giggled, "but I'll feel your head if you don't think I'm getting too personal."

"You are very honest," she said after touching his head. "And you have got a temper. If anybody tries to shove you around they'd better watch out."

The man replaced his hat and said: "That's marvelous. It must be wonderful to know things like that, honestly."

The girl cluck-clucked modestly: "People never realize," she said, "that I just use them as guinea pigs." The man said: "Me a guinea pig?" And she said. "Not you, silly; that's just a figure of speech." He said, "O," doubtfully.

At the next stop a man got on and sat down opposite the salesmen. He asked for a match, and that led to introductions all around. "I'm an investigator," he told them after they'd identified themselves. "It's pretty secretive work." Twenty minutes later the secretive newcomer had told them every detail of his family and business life.

At 4:43 a. m., after seven hours, we arrived in Hollywood. Half an hour later we were home, and there, in the hallway, tastefully arranged, was a small bowl of wildflowers.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

From the notebook:

Maybe you think those movie stars don't take their hairdress seriously. We learned yesterday that a movie star saw one of the winning hair styles of a recent coiffure contest pictured in a California newspaper. She had no idea who had executed the hairdress, but knew it came out of Chicago.

When she came to Chicago the other day she sent experts on the trail of the man who created it, had him come to her hotel to do her hair and ended up by offering him a job as her hairdresser in Hollywood!

Pretty soon there will be a black lipstick on the market here. It's actually a black stick and in a black case, but we're told it turns red on the lips. We're told, too, that it doesn't come off on glasses or linen or the face of any one you might kiss! We'll give you the details when it arrives in town.

Have you seen the "beau pourri?" It's a smart little ivory jar filled with a sweet, old fashioned mixture of dried herbs and flowers—pungent enough to scent a room delicately.

This is a leaf from an old, old book, a whim that was fashionable when grandma was a girl. In those days the jar of dried rose leaves or of a mixture similar to this was considered a bright bit of subtlety that knocked the beaux off their feet. Now it's amusing, but a nice thought for people who like rooms to be freshly fragrant.

Stock's Troupe Makes History with Concert

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra is in love. Even its most experienced and disillusioned members sang as freshly and gloriously last night as if spring were here and they were twenty again. The result was one of the most superb concerts which Orchestra hall has ever housed or these old ears have ever heard.

Lotte Lehmann was supposed to be the feature of the evening, but the evening turned out to have so many features that a lesser singer would inevitably have been lost somewhere in the shuffle. And if you think that Frederick Stock and his men are the collective soul of gallantry, know ye that they all but elbowed the great German soprano out of the limelight by a performance of the Beethoven Second symphony so superlatively good that all of the words in the thesaurus would fail to do justice.

But to pull out a few of them, and give them their chance to make good, the slow movement of the symphony betrayed such exquisite care for coloring and dynamics that its gradual unfolding became physically exciting. If the most recent of its angelic little melodies had stolen in so gently and with so ravishing a quality of tone that any improvement seemed impossible, you could be sure that the next one would quite outdo it on both these points.

And if a certain phrase had been welded into so gracious and personal a shape that the idea of a living, pulsating music appeared to find therein its perfect realization, then the chances were ten to one that the one to follow would make its predecessor seem gauche and forced.

Quite naturally, this wonderful freshness and aliveness characterized the three fast movements of the symphony as well as the slow one. The men of the woodwind section blew themselves to glory in the trio of the scherzo just as their fellows of the brass band were to do a little later in——

But this is getting ahead of the story. In the early part of the evening Mme. Lehmann sang Leonore's Scene and Aria from the first act of Beethoven's "Fidelio," bringing to the passionately unhappy music the intensity of the operatic stage itself. This was preceded by the "Fidelio" overture and followed by the Beethoven second symphony, a piece which received passing mention a paragraph or two ago.

Immediately after the intermission came the prelude to the third act of "Tannhäuser," in which the brass players proved that they were partaking to the full of the excitement of the evening. Their playing had a windy, epic quality which set the scene nicely for the Wagner half of the program.

Mme. Lehmann returned for "Elsa's Dream" [from "Lohengrin"] and disappeared again to give the orchestra an opportunity to wax windier and more epic than ever in the prelude to the second act of "The Valkyrie" and in "The Ride of the Valkyries" from the same work. The latter piece roused audience enthusiasm to another peak and the valkyries, in the person of Mr. Stock, were compelled to return to the stage to bow in the face of the tempest of applause which swept the house.

After singing so convincingly of her Florestan and of her shining grail knight, Mme. Lehmann returned to the stage after an orchestral performance of excerpts from the third act of "Tristan and Isolde" to deliver the piercing Love Death which concludes the opera. Voice, manner, and intelligence all fit the singer for the type of music which she attempted on last night's program, and even the Love Death, by far the most difficult of three songs, found her quite able on every score except possibly that of sheer volume to realize the tremendous musical ideal of the piece.

South Shore Follies Tonight

Miss Kay Cronin is a member of the cast of the South Shore Country club follies, "Sawdust and Spangles," to be given tonight and tomorrow night.

Circus Theme of Follies at Country Club

BY ELEANOR PAGE.

The circus has come to town and will be performing at the South Shore Country club for two nights, tonight and tomorrow night. The show is known to all as the club's annual Follies. Balloon men, hawkers, popcorn venders, barkers, side-show freaks, gypsy fortune tellers, Little Egypt, and beautiful Nautch and oriental dancers; animal trainers, magicians, trapeze artists, and even con men and sharpers are on hand to entertain the big audiences expected.

"Sawdust and Spangles" is the title of the show which is a different sort from any the Follies committee has presented in recent years. Although the performers go through their acts in the club's big ballroom instead of under the traditional "big top" there is little of the circus air that is lacking.

Mr. and Mrs. Karle B. Meyer head the Follies committee, assisted by the Dennett D. Bells, the Herbert Beidlers, Edward Camenisch, Mrs. Helen G. Du Plessis, the Paul Flaggs, the junior S. Ward Hamiltons, Fred Gundrum, the J. Chris Hempels, the Fred Herendeens and the Clifford Klines.

Most of these have parts in the circus to play: Mrs. Kline is an animal trainer, Mr. Meyer is a barker, Mr. Bell is the ranch foreman, Mr. Camenisch is the head clown, and Mr. Kline and Mr. Beidler, with Emmett Curme and Aubrey Sykes, are the end men in the minstrel band.

Among the featured performers is a newcomer to the Follies group, Mrs. John J. Gibbons, who will be heard in several songs. Others are Marion Gilbert, who does a toe tap on a drum; Mrs. John Gage, who is the star comedienne; Margaret Goes, the leader of the parade numbers; Dorothy Winter, who does a takeoff of the Duncan Sisters, and Loretta Galvin as Lulu Belle from Tennessee.

Most important of all in making the show the success that the dress rehearsal last night proved it will be is the snappy performance of the choruses, in which the pretty young women who are daughters of club members take part.

WEDDING

Mrs. Eugene C. Hall of Glen Ellyn announces the approaching marriage on April 16 of her daughter, Ruth White, to Chase Cutler Coffey of St. Louis, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Coffey of Bethany, Ill. Mr. Coffey and his bride will make their home in St. Louis.

HOW TO CLEAN YOUR SKIN OF BLACKHEADS

Blackheads? Whiteheads? Surface Pimples? Gritty, coarse-pored bumpy complexion? They're nuisances! But you can correct them with the two-way cleansing action of DIOXOGEN CREAM!

First, it softens those hard secretions which clog up the pores and in which blackheads and pimples lodge.

Second, its invisible oxygen bubbles force every fleck of dust, powder, grit to the surface, where it can easily be wiped away. Leaves your skin clear, soft, smooth, wonderfully clean and noticeably fairer. Treat your complexion tonight! Good Housekeeping Approval. 50¢ and $1. jars everywhere

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

An intelligent use of racial material from the point of view of the American Negro may be found in "Big White Fog," a drama which was staged by the WPA theatrical bureau in the Great Northern last night. This work deals with the domestic life of Negroes in Chicago, and in particular with one family whose head follows the Marcus Garvey movement ["back to Africa"] into heartbreak and economic disaster.

This father and husband, an idealistic plasterer with a smattering of education and a natural gift for eloquent statement of his race's problems, is acted with dignity and poise by William McBride. The other characters, which are fairly numerous, also are handled with skill; and the production as a whole represents sound, professional stagecraft.

The play runs to discussion more than to incident, but its arguments on familiar aspects of the Negro's sociological status in the United States never become tedious. Its picture of life in a self-respecting Negro home on the south side is rich with realistic detail.

The Marcus Garvey movement, which supplies background, dates back some 20 years. It ended with Garvey's deportation, after serving part of a prison term for using the mails to defraud, in 1925. He also was deported from Canada in 1928, and two years later he was sentenced to six months in prison in Jamaica for seditious libel against the British government in his newspaper.

The brigadier uniforms and plumed cocked hats which were affected by Garvey's American followers are faithfully reproduced in "Big White Fog." In its handling of the Garvey episode the play has some value as an imaginative footnote to recent Negro history.

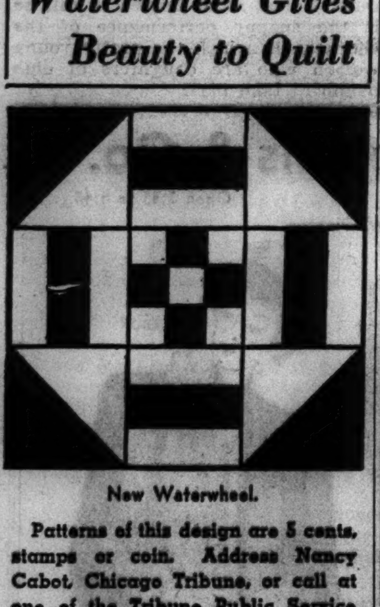
Child Welfare Conference to Meet in City Today

More than 600 representatives of private and public child welfare agencies of the midwest are expected to attend the annual regional meeting of the Child Welfare League of America today and tomorrow at the Knickerbocker hotel. Speakers include Charlotte Carr, director of Hull house; Grace Abbott, professor of social service of the University of Chicago; Dr. Orlo L. Crissey, director of the Flint [Mich.] child guidance center, and Fred K. Hoehler of Chicago, director of the American Public Welfare association.

Flowing Grace of Waterwheel Gives Beauty to Quilt



New Waterwheel.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The original "Waterwheel" block was a simple four patch pattern with four light and four dark triangles. "New Waterwheel" is more complicated, as is the more modern waterwheel for which it was named. This pieced block is a variation of a nine patch pattern, and is done in two colors, blue and white. The 13½ inch blocks are set together with three inch bands of material between the blocks and surrounded by a five inch border and a half inch bias binding. This is an ideal block for the beginning quiltmaker, because she can make nine blocks and then set them together to complete the block.

The Housewife

The front door of your home will appear twice as attractive if you have an artistic light hanging near it. Fixtures that look like old fashioned lanterns are attractive.

Among ten different styles an especially handsome lantern was one that imitated the old carriage lamp. This would be ideal for use beside a colonial doorway. Then there is the ship's lantern with its thick glass sides and its frame of shining brass. And there are the black iron ones that, somehow, have a Japanese effect. All prove that lighting your entrance way may be done artistically as well as efficiently, and at small cost.

EDITH WEIGLE.

SYNOPSIS.

Karen Gilbert meets Gordon Stone returning to Barranca after eight years in prison. Gordon was framed by Karen's ruthless uncle and guardian, Lyn Gilbert, owner of Bar B B ranch, and his foreman, Curt Ford. Because Karen has a friend take her to the hideout of Gordon and Jack Turnbull and warn them in time to save them from a posse of Gilbert's riders her uncle imprisons her at his ranch. Gordon and Jack start a campaign against Gilbert. The affidavit of Linc Conway, who was kept by threats from coming to Gordon's aid, is published in the Courier. It accuses Gilbert and Ford. Gilbert hires his rider, Cheyenne, to rub Linc out. Gordon rescues Karen from the ranch. Driving back he discovers a band of Gilbert's men rustling cattle for Curt Ford. He captures one of them. The cattle belong to Gordon's uncle, John Fleming, owner of the J F ranch. Gordon leaves Karen and his prisoner with his uncle. Then, heading a band of men, he rounds up the other rustlers.

INSTALMENT XXIX.

A MATRIMONIAL BARGAIN.

"I know the L B ranch as well as you do. No need to sell it to me." Cheyenne added, after a moment: "You're a hell of a guardian. Miss Gilbert sure got a bad break in the uncle she drew. What's the idea in offering her a man like me?"

"You'd make as good a husband as Gordon Stone, wouldn't you?"

"Stone!" The interest in the narrowed eyes quickened. "What's he got to do with it?"

"Only that the little fool thinks she's in love with him. I can't have her marry a convict. You may be a hard case, but you are not a disgraced man."

Cheyenne thought, swiftly, in flashes. If it was a choice between him and Stone, that was different. It was true he had been liked by many women in his time. His insolence and his recklessness had fascinated several, usually to their sorrow in the end. But there could be no happiness for Karen Gilbert in a marriage with Stone any more than one with him. Given a chance, it was possible the girl might take a fancy to him. She looked capable of wild and impulsive decisions.

"Aren't you trying to swap nothing for something, Lyn?" the puncher asked, dragging the words lazily. "Miss Gilbert won't take your say-so about a husband. She's free, grown-up, and sassy."

"I notice she didn't stay at the Bar B B when you told her."

"She would have stayed if that fellow Stone hadn't got her to leave. Fellows like you and he fascinate her. That's one reason I'm picking you. She might fall for your type. I'm not claiming to be any dear friend of yours, but you suit me a lot better than he does."

"If I take a crack at this, how do I know you'll stick to yore agreement?" Cheyenne asked.

"Why, you know I'd do what was right," the Bar B B owner murmured in a grieved voice.

"Sure." The puncher's words dripped with sarcasm. "You're honorable as all get out. Ask anybody about that. But I don't want any misunderstanding. If Miss Gilbert can't see me for the dust—even after you have explained what a swell catch I am—where do I get off?"

"O, I'll handle the girl."

"Maybe so. And maybe not. But let's suppose Stone oozes outa the picture and after that I don't get to first base with the girl."

"No use figuring it that way. I'm telling you——"

"Yes, I heard you before. Since you're so certain, I'll let you back your opinion with hard cash. When Stone . . . quits annoyin' you . . . if you can't deliver the L B ranch and its mistress, you'll crash through with five thousand cash and I'll light out of here for keeps."

After much whispered argument Gilbert assented. In his mind he held a reservation. It might be possible to avoid payment by charging Cheyenne with the murder of Stone and so getting off scot free.

The killer read his mind. "I know what you're thinkin', Lyn," he said in a low voice, his shallow flinty eyes fixed on the other. "But it won't be thataway. You'll settle, if it's the last thing you ever do in this world. I'll never let you welch. Be sure of that."

"I wouldn't think of doing such a thing," Gilbert protested. His beady little eyes were narrowed in deep thought. "No use hunting him down in the brush. He'd be as liable to get you as you would him. The thing is to lay a trap. Couldn't we use my niece as bait? Have him walk into a spot where you're waiting for him? I'll figure out something before night."

"That'll be okay with me. I'll take all the breaks I can get against that bird." The cowpuncher moved toward the door.

"You want to be careful," his employer whispered across the room at him.

"Don't I know that?" the bad man answered. "When I'm hunting a wolf like the one I'm after. He'll never know what hit him."

As Karen walked down Dolores street with Gordon Stone, his uncle and Dave Landers bringing up the rear, a quick excitement stirred in her. She could not match his long stride, but she moved with the light free step of one who loved the air and the sun.

She knew the little procession was being watched, and that the story of it would run like a prairie fire all over town. This was the first time in many years that Barranca had seen John Fleming and his nephew together. It was evidence that they had buried the hatchet and were again friends. The presence of Landers was important, too, for he had much influence with the smaller cattlemen and was accepted as a leader by them. More interesting still from a dramatic angle was this public confirmation of the report that Lyn Gilbert's niece had formed an alliance with his enemies.

It was a pleasure for Karen to appear in the sight of her little world beside this strong brown man who was just now so much in the popular eye. It identified her with him, made a bond between them. This was one more thread that tied them together.

The trip to town was an excursion into what had been enemy territory. Here Lyn Gilbert owned the machinery of the law, but Gordon Stone was playing the hunch that his foe was too wise to outrage community sentiment by moving legally against him or by enforcing his guardian's rights over the girl. It would be more like him to pose as an injured and maligned man and to strike at them from under cover.

Karen was coming to town to stay with her friend Rhoda Pinckney, a granddaughter of old Jasper. After the party had dropped into the office of the Courier for a conference with the publisher Hatfield, Gordon drove the girl to the home of her friend.

A vivid young thing ran down to the gate to meet them. She was a slim girl of about eighteen with eyes like wood violets and hair painted by the sun's rays to a ruddy gold.

"Darling, I haven't seen you for a thousand years," she cried. "Everybody's so excited. You've had such thrilling adventures. I can't wait to hear about them. I'm just dying of envy."

Karen introduced her companion to Miss Pinckney.

"I'll be moving along to keep an appointment. Nice to have met you, Miss Pinckney. Your grandparents and I used to be great friends."

Stone drove downtown from the residence district to the Longhorn club. He had made an appointment to meet his uncle and Landers there. Neither of them had arrived, but he found Jasper Pinckney and three other substantial citizens playing whist. At sight of him Pinckney gave a whoop and turned his hand face down on the table.

"Look who's here," he announced. "Nobody but Jack the Giant Killer. Boy, we been talkin' about voting you a medal as Barranca's most useful citizen."

He shook hands eagerly, then introduced the young man to his friends. One of them Gordon had known in the old days, a ranchman named Venner. Another was a hardware merchant, the third a realtor. All of them met Stone in a friendly spirit.

Even Loveliest Frock Can Fail with Faulty Posture

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

During the rush of fashion shows one has the best of opportunities to observe the influence of carriage on dress. This fact was brought home with double force one fashion showing day, when we attended two shows in succession. You understand, of course, that when these shows are on there is a rush for the best models, and the best models are those who know how to walk and who do walk with superb grace.

It so happened that at one of the aforementioned showings a group of the "seconds" in models paraded the clothes, and everywhere we heard comments on how disappointing the clothes were at this showing. In addition, it was plain that shoes did not fit properly, so that the particular show was more or less of a flop. Truth is, there wasn't a thing wrong with the clothes. They were lovely, but the exhibition merely proved the old point that a frock cannot stand on its own merits. It requires the coöperation of a graceful body in motion.

* * *

We understand fully that there is no news in the announcement; that it has been said time and time again. But so has it been said that the voice is an instrument of great beauty possibility. That you'll get fat if you overeat and continue sitting. But the fact remains that women do go on buying clothes, sometimes paying dearly for them, all to no effect, pictorially speaking. That they keep on speaking in raucous tones and that they keep on gobbling up forbidden foods. What is more, they know themselves that they are all wrong, but refuse to right themselves, so that a special plea has to be introduced every now and then. And our plea today is to get the right kind of carriage and posture for your new outfit.

You have the outfit by now, no doubt. Anyway, it soon will be yours. Now, please make it a triumphant affair by giving it the chance of a lifetime to show off. Walk in it as if you owed it this compliment. Correct that sway back. Pull that abdomen back and derriére in. Lift the chest up. Hold the head tall and glide along. Anyway, move along lightly and just see what it does for the frock.

We noted one young woman, in the fashion show spoken of above, who lifted her whole foot in one piece up off the floor with every step. The effect was clumsy. No grace of movement permitted, as if she had risen on the ball of the foot lightly and stepped along. And do PLEASE see if you are one of the old timers who walk with feet turned out.

How to manicure your nails properly is one of the important subjects of Antoinette Donnelly's booklet, "Handmade Hand Beauty." Get a copy of this valuable aid to maintaining beautiful hands. Miss Graham Gives America Its Own Dance

BY CECIL SMITH.

With each visit of Martha Graham the modern American dance achieves new and increased stature. Her recital in the Auditorium theater last night with her company of twelve girls proved unarguably that her dancing and choregraphy have now passed wholly out of the experimental stage into the realm of mature, impressive art.

One of the most forceful individualists in the contemporary artistic scene in America, Miss Graham has spent more than a decade exploring the possibilities of dance movement overlooked by the traditional ballet. Since she is an active and not a contemplative person, she has carried on her work of exploration by developing in herself a body control and flexibility far beyond that of any of the other chief American dancers.

* * *

Even though you may lift an eyebrow at so superlative a statement, it is a fact that no dancer anywhere, whether conservative or radical, has developed a technique more completely adequate to the demands of his or her particular style of movement.

Whereas the very freedom and richness of her vocabulary of movement formerly hampered Miss Graham a good deal and left much of her work inconclusive, her wonderful gift for form and composition have finally enabled her to match the freshness of her dancing with an equal clarity of design. In other words, it is fun to watch Miss Graham and her group, for one does not have to belong to any mystical artistic cult to be enormously impressed and moved by it.

Of the three compositions in the program new to Chicago, "Chronicle" was the longest and most varied. Its three socially minded parts, "Dance Before Catastrophe," "Dance After Catastrophe," and "Prelude to Action," distill much of the tension of the present European political situation into group patterns of powerful conflict and resolution.

* * *

"American Lyric," another group dance, has a gentleness and freedom from excessive vigor that shows a new and more tender side to Miss Grahams imagination. "Deep Song," a solo dance drawing its downcast and pathetic movements from the sorry plight of a homeless mother in Spain, moved the audience greatly.

The virtuosity and perfection of the whole group are more amazing than ever. In solo episodes May O'Donnell showed that she has gone particularly far in her teacher's footsteps, and that she bids fair to win future distinction in her own plight.

The recital was sponsored by Northwestern university.

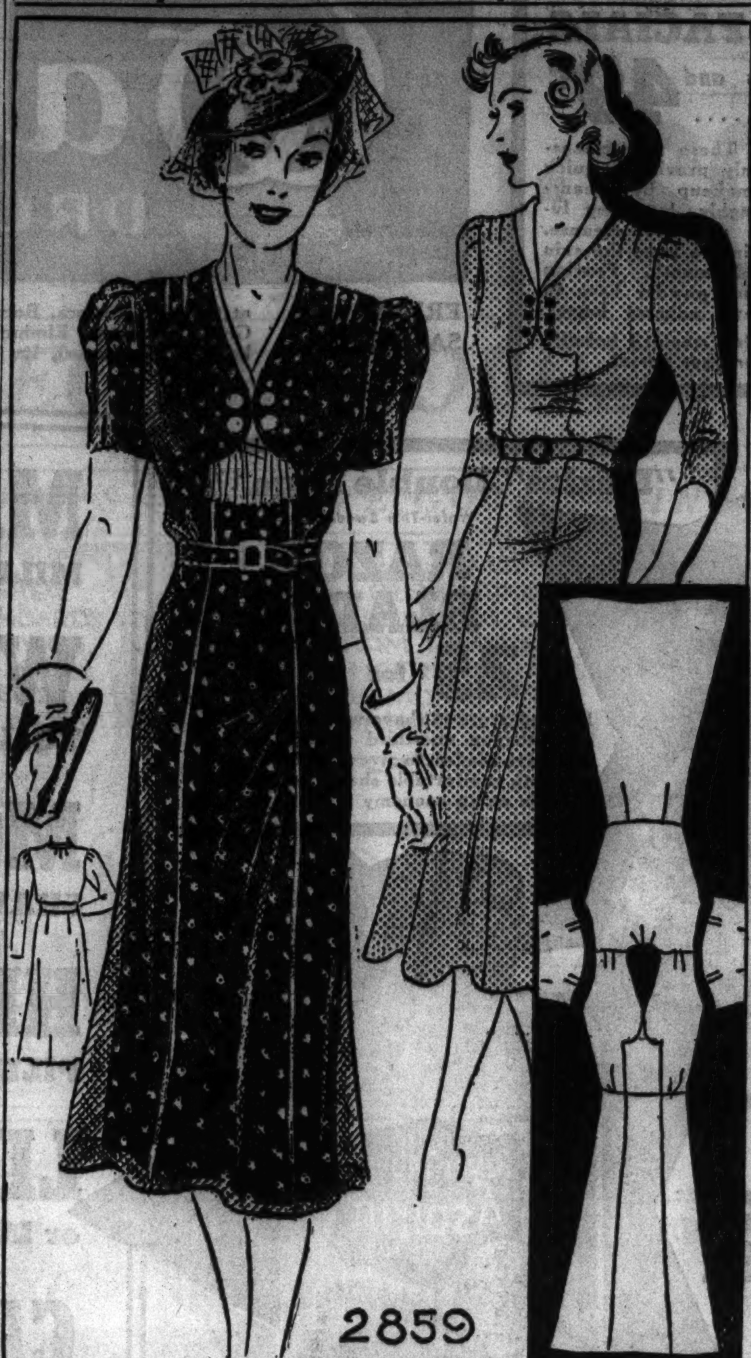
Styled in Sizes Up to 50



WOMAN'S DRESS.

If you wear a size up to 50 you will appreciate this modish spring dress with youthful lines. The stylist has scrupulously avoided all those details which designers so often put into dresses for the mature figure, with undeniably dowdy results. This frock has all the smartness usually confined to modes for the slim figure. There is the currently fashionable V neckline, which may have either a facing or a soft rolled collar for contrast. The sleeves are squared and puffed at the shoulders, and may reach to above the elbow or be bracelet length.

Paneling keeps the skirt smooth and snugly fitted over the hips and affords plenty of flare for the hem. The original is fashioned of dotted sheer over a taffeta slip. All types of crêpes make up well, prints as well as plain shades.

Style No. 2859 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material, with ½ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

The bidding at most tables was:

South	West	North	East
1 club	1 diamond	2 clubs	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the diamond king and, on receiving the deuce from East, shifted to the spade ten. Whether this was won in dummy or in the closed hand was immaterial. Declarer then drew two rounds of hearts and carefully cashed the other spade honor before running clubs. West hung onto his high heart, choosing to discard diamonds on the last two clubs. But his security was short lived. Declarer laid down the diamond queen and it was all over West could cash his heart queen, but after that could not exit without giving declarer a discard in one hand and a ruff in the other, which, of course, obviated the necessity for conceding a spade trick.

This hand might be used as a model for players who want to brush up on their strip-and-throw-in plays.

It will be noted that a complete strip was not possible. If West, for example, had held three spades instead of two, or if East had been the defender with the three trumps, no method of play whatever could have fulfilled the contract. This does not mean, however, that the declarer was extraordinarily lucky. His one hope, after failing to drop the queen and jack of hearts in two leads, was to avoid the loss of a spade trick. The only chance for this was to find a lay of cards precisely like that actually existing.

If declarer had gone on the assumption that "there was no place to put the losing spade," and had failed to strip two rounds of spades from the North-South hands, West, on taking the lead with either the high heart or diamond, would have had his second spade as an exit card.

Oxnam Says Enemies Are Creating Unity of Religious Forces

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of Omaha, Neb., former president of DePauw university, Greencastle, Ind., yesterday told 1,000 women at the Palmer house that enemies common to Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths rather than ideals which have always been common to them, are forcing a unity between the three. Bishop Oxnam spoke before sessions of the second institute of human relations conducted by the women's division of the National Conference of Jews and Christians.

Bishop Oxnam said "religious ideals demand democracy and insist that the first objective of all social endeavor is the enrichment of personality."

Other speakers included Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York, Samuel A. Goldsmith of the Jewish charities, the Rev. J. W. R. Maguire of St. Viator college, Bourbonnais, and Lea D. Taylor of Chicago commons.

usually charming young girls. Mr. and Mrs. Watts and their two daughters and three sons lived in Winnetka before they moved to Wheaton several years ago.

Miss Sara Peace Visits Her Parents.

Miss Sara Peace, who is to be one of next autumn's debutantes, has been spending the spring holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Peace. She will return to Wellesley on Sunday. Miss Peace has just taken part in a dance recital at college, where she is a freshman. She is a member of the Wellesley Review board.

Others who have been distinguishing themselves at college are Miss Cynthia Walsh of Winnetka, who has been elected president of the Smith College Student Government association, and Miss Nancy Forgan, who has been chosen secretary of the coöperative store board at Bennington. Miss Forgan will hold office only for the spring term as she is planning to complete her education at the University of Chicago in the fall. She will be married to George Bronson Farnam in Vermont on June 25.

Chicagoans to Usher at Memphis Wedding.

Three Chicagoans are to be ushers at the wedding in Memphis on April 30 of Miss Frances Lathrop Chapman, daughter of the William Burr Chapmans of Memphis, to John Hollister, son of the Raymond A. Hollisters of Oshkosh. They are Francis G. Fabian Jr., Theodore S. Proxmire Jr., and Samuel Adams Lynde II.

Mr. Fabian probably will be the next of the three Yale friends to become a Benedick, for he is engaged to Miss Gretchen Hauschild of Minneapolis. No plans have been made for their marraige, but after it takes place the Chicago or Evanston Junior league will be welcoming Miss Hauschild as a transfer. Mr. Proxmire recently completed his training for the United States Air force in Texas, and has been transferred to Selfridge field at Detroit.

Charming Foreigners Guests in Chicago.

An interesting and attractive visitor is Miss Charlotte de Hajek, who is spending several days with the Mitchell D. Follansbees. Miss de Hajek is on her way home to Hungary after lecturing for several months on the history and folk art of her native country. She is one of two European women ever to have become play directors, and has been a director of the National theater at Budapest. She studied two years at Vassar.

There are an unusual number of interesting foreign women visiting in the city now; yesterday at a luncheon, for instance, there were five Swedish women, all delightful. There was Mrs. Gunnar Asplund, wife of one of Sweden's best known architects; Miss Elsa-Maria Gullberg, daughter of the famous textile designer and manufacturer; Mrs. Timme Wiborgh, Miss Ella Heckscher, and Mme. Jean Hebrard. All are from Stockholm except Mme. Hebrard, and although she came originally from Sweden she now lives in Ann Arbor, Mich. Her French husband is professor of architecture at the University of Michigan.

Yesterday was a busy and cosmopolitan day for this reporter, for after meeting Miss de Hajek and the Swedish guests earlier in the day, at the cocktail hour she met pretty young Princess Baba, one of three daughters of the only white rajah in Sarawak, Sir Charles Vyner Brooke, and Lady Brooke. And, of course, Princess Baba's husband, Bob Gregory, for they are on their wedding trip. The evening was spent with Mrs. Constance Spry of London, who lectures this morning at the Contemporary club on "Flower Decoration in England," and this afternoon at Carson Pirie Scott's.

Last Fortnightly Dance Tonight.

The last Fortnightly dance of the season will be given tonight at the Fortnightly. Mrs. Selim W. McArthur is entertaining at dinner, also at the Fortnightly, for her subdebutante daughter, Betty, preceding the dance.

When the Lawrence Denmans made plans for a ski movie party they will give tomorrow night at the home of his father and mother, the Burt J. Denmans, in Wilmette, they did not expect to have such appropriate atmosphere outdoors. The Denmans have invited their guests for 8:30 o'clock, and after the movies of Engen, the famous skier, have been seen, supper will be served.

There will be a tea at the Cordon from 4 until 6 o'clock this afternoon to open an exhibition of etchings, oils, and water colors by F. Farrand Dodge. The exhibit will remain at the club until May 1.

The story of the four Roman soldiers assigned to duty at the Crucifixion can be viewed as a modern parable, said Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf yesterday in his noonday address at the Chicago Temple. It proves, he pointed out, that multitudes are poor judges of real values when Christ means but little to them—illustrated by the fact that soldiers appropriated Christ's garments—but they eagerly seek the blessings which find their source in Christ.

"People choose that which is evanescent or trifing and pass by the things which are essential and eternal," said Bishop Waldorf. "They accept the liberty and freedom in a Christian country and the blessings of Christian civilization without so much as a thought of the Christ, without whom none of these would be possible. It is neither honest nor just to live in a Christian community without some recognition of Christ by a suitable dedication of time, talent, and tithes.

* * *

"The reasons underlying the indifference of the four soldiers are much the same as those that cause our indifference. They, even as we, were blinded by the customary and put to sleep by seductive influences."

Children, Like Chinese, Need to "Save Face"

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The Chinese, as you probably know, have an expression, "to save face."

Did you ever notice that children show this need of saving face? Sometimes when they're little it's funny, to see them get out of an embarrassing situation—one which puts them in an awkward position. There's nothing deliberate about it; it's purely instinctive. And because it's instinctive it shows a real need there. And it's something we parents need to connive at, too. We should make it our business, at times, to save their face for them.

* * *

If you aren't sensitive to the more subtle shades of his personality and the less obvious needs of a child, you may exclaim, "Nonsense! Right's right, and wrong's wrong. And a child's got to learn to take it and like it." But dealing with children isn't as simple as all that, because human nature isn't as simple as all that. And if you lend yourself to your child's need, whether in his effort to save his face or yours to do it for him, you'll be meeting on the common ground of understanding.

* * *

Sometimes a child's pride of achievement will totter because an older child scorns it; sometimes a tactless grownup will place a child on the edge of a humiliating situation; sometimes before a group of his young "peers" his needed self-esteem is pricked and almost collapses; sometimes ridicule almost lays him low. A dash of tact, or a casual explanation, or a change of subject by a grownup may save his face; or he, in amazing quick wittedness, may save his face himself with little people or big.

EUROPEAN MEET TO DECIDE GOLDEN GLOVERS' FOES

ELEVEN NATIONS WILL COMPETE IN BERLIN APRIL 29

Winners to Fight in Chicago May 18.

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 7.—Europe's representatives in the International Golden Gloves match against THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S tournament winners in Chicago Stadium on May 18 will be chosen in Berlin on April 29. Eleven nations have agreed to send their strongest and bravest boxers to a central championship tournament here on that date.

The countries which will compete are France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Finland, Ireland, Poland, and Czechoslovakia. Meanwhile various boxing associations are conducting sectional, national, or international bouts to determine their candidates for the All-European tournament in Berlin.

The success of the European team in holding Chicago's champions to a 4 to 4 tie last year and reports of the reception accorded the battlers from the old world have given amateur boxing an amazing stimulus on this side of the Atlantic.

Swamped with Requests.

Arthur De Kankovzky of Budapest, secretary and treasurer of the International Amateur Boxing association, who arrived today to discuss plans for the championship tournament, said that a year ago several countries showed little interest in THE TRIBUNE'S invitation to send Europe's best fighters to Chicago. Some predicted it would be impossible to recruit the best talent because many of the leading fighters could not leave their employment or get furloughs from the army. This year the association has been swamped with requests from nearly every nation on the continent for representation on the team.

The German national tournament will be held in Frankfort from April 11 to 15. The bouts originally were scheduled for today and tomorrow, but were postponed to avoid conflict with the national plebiscite on Sunday.

Hungary Faces Poland.

The strength of Hungary and Poland will be tested Sunday in Budapest in a match between teams from those two countries. Poland is the only nation to defeat Germany in international boxing this year. Henry Chmielewski, middleweight, and Alexander Polus, featherweight, who represented Poland in Chicago last year, have turned professional since that time, but a number of new contenders have developed to take their places.

Berlin streets are placarded with announcements of the European championship bouts, the posters displaying a huge ocean liner and reading, "The nations of Europe will box for a ticket to America."

Dr. Franz Metzner, who supervises both professional and amateur boxing in Germany, returned today from Max Schmeling's camp in Hamburg, where the former champion is training for his title bout with Joe Louis, to work with Hans Hieronimus in completing arrangements for the national tournament next week. Dr. Metzner will accompany the European champions to Chicago as Germany's representative. The eight champions of Europe, two substitutes, and four representatives of the various associations will sail from Cherbourg aboard the Queen Mary on May 4.

Len Harvey Wins British Light Heavyweight Title

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—Len Harvey, former British and Empire heavyweight champion, won the British light heavyweight title tonight by outpointing Jock McAvoy in a 15 round bout.

RIDDLE SUGGESTS 2 MATCH RACES FOR TURF GIANTS

Seabiscuit-War Admiral Site Battle Goes On.

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—With directors of Belmont Park and Arlington Park tossing important money around rather recklessly in rival bidding for a race between War Admiral and Seabiscuit, Samuel D. Riddle, owner of the former, today suggested what he considers a satisfactory solution.

"Why not have two races?" suggested Riddle over the phone from his home in Glen Riddle, Pa. "One at Arlington, the other at Belmont. That should please every one. Herbert Swope and John Hertz are friends of mine, and I wouldn't like to give a decision unfavorable to either.

"The only stipulation I make is that the weight isn't too high. I certainly wouldn't object to each horse carrying 126 pounds at a mile and a quarter. War Admiral isn't particular about the course. He doesn't carry his track around with him. He'd race as well at Arlington as he would at Belmont."

Howard Prefers Race in September.

C. S. Howard, owner of Seabiscuit, is willing to send his thoroughbred to the post at either track, provided conditions are to his liking. In a telephone conversation with Mr. Swope, chairman of the New York Racing commission, Mr. Howard said the Belmont track would have to match the $100,000 Arlington offer, and that he preferred the race in September, because of California engagements that Seabiscuit must fill this summer.

If there's to be only one meeting of Seabiscuit and War Admiral, Riddle suggests an earlier date than September. "September is a long way off for a match race," he said. "I intend to keep my horse in competition, and by September he may be tailed off. You never know when a thoroughbred will go wrong. But I have no objection to War Admiral running in September if he's fit. I will be in New York tomorrow to discuss the matter with Mr. Hertz and the Belmont people."

Mr. Hertz, who is in business here, is chairman of the board of the Arlington Park Jocky club. He insists that he has no intention of entering into a purse raising debate with Belmont Park for the race.

$100,000 Is Highest Figure.

"At present," he said, "we do not propose to bid any higher than $100,000. I do not think such action would be for the best interests of the sport. As I see it, Chicago would be the ideal place for a meeting of War Admiral and Seabiscuit. It's neutral ground. Neither horse has raced there, and it's practically midway between their respective homes.

"I do feel, too, that we, instead of Belmont, took the initiative in bringing about such a race. Last January Roy Carruthers, our general manager got Howard's consent, and ours was the first bona fide offer for a match race. I received a wire from Riddle this week saying he would be pleased to talk it over with me when he arrives here."

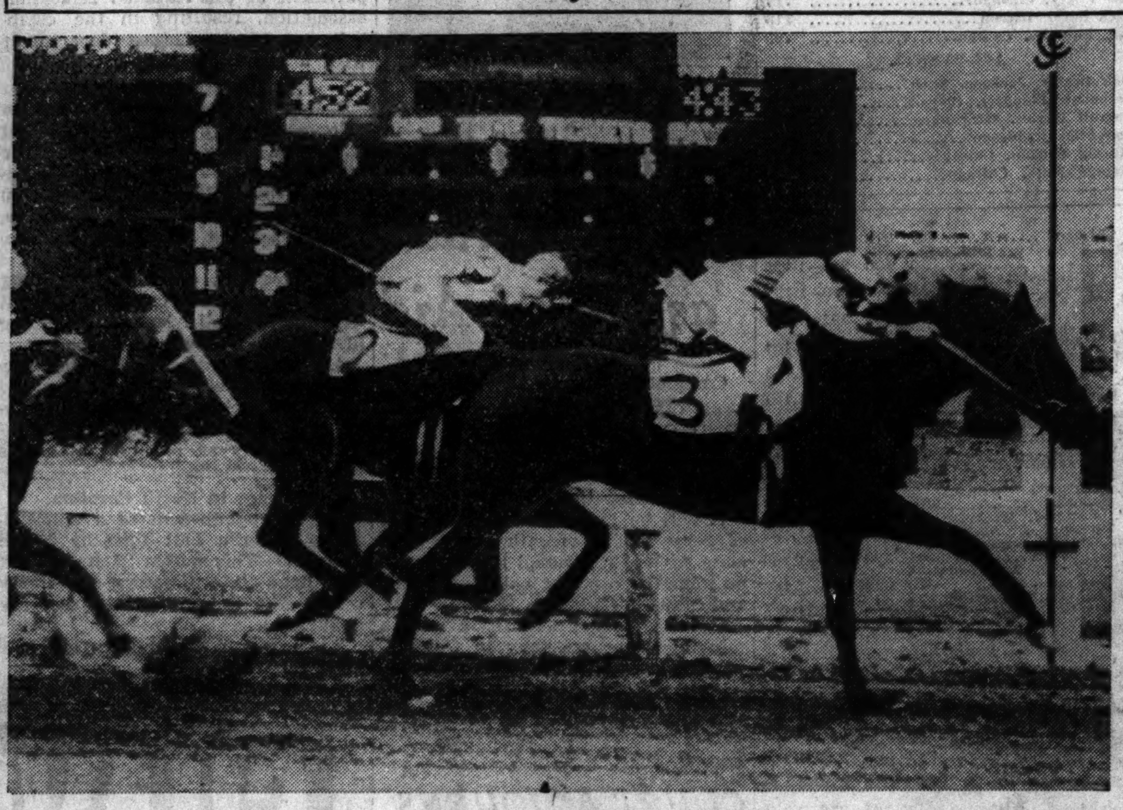
Riddle Holds Deciding Vote.

Commissioner Swope, acting as matchmaker for Belmont Park, thinks Arlington Park is muscling in. "This match race originally was our idea, regardless of what the Chicago people claim," he said. "Belmont is the cradle of American racing. Where else does such a race belong? Howard has agreed in preliminary negotiations—and while we have not as yet heard from Riddle, we are confident he will accept."

It all sums up to Riddle who holds the deciding vote.

War Admiral, along with twenty-five stablemates, arrived yesterday at Belmont Park from Berlin, Md., after some excitement en route, when the van preceding the one conveying War Admiral caught fire. The flames quickly were extinguished without frightening the thoroughbreds.

Just One-Sixth of a Very Unusual Afternoon



Jocky Johnny Adams rode six winners at Bay Meadows track in California yesterday. Here is the fifth of his victories, coming on Monsweep in the feature seventh race. Air Chute was second and Star Singer third.

Six Winners in Row; a $64,407 Dream Parlay

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Mateo, Cal., April 7.—The dream of the race track player could have been realized at the Bay Meadows track this afternoon.

A $1 parlay on Jocky Johnny Adams' mounts in the last six races would have taken down $64,407.50. The trouble is that no one at the track was "dream" minded.

So when the 100 pound fellow from Iola, Kas., who was the nation's leading rider last year, whipped and kicked those last six mounts of his past the winning post there wasn't any one around to collect on such a parlay.

The same lack of a dream complex prevailed in all of America's thousands of race track betting poolrooms. At least no such killing was reported here.

Adams Goes to Work.

After finishing third on Strident in the first race Adams loafed while the second race was run. Then he went into action.

In the third race he rode Miss Amie and home Miss Amie came, paying $19.60 for a $2 ticket. Danke Schon was his mount in the fourth race. The horse rolled home to pay $10 for each $2 mutuel ticket, or 4 to 1 as the bookmakers quote it.

The fifth found Adams in the saddle on the back of Rock X. The veteran sprinter was in front from start to finish. He paid $14. Adams' next chore was to ride Dr. Spoon in the sixth race. He got the old Doctor up in the final strides to win at a $16 mutuel payoff.

The seventh and feature race was at a mile. Air Chute was an odds-on favorite. Adams was in the pilot house on Monsweep. Once more Adams drove his mount up from behind to win at a $16.80 mutuel payoff.

Rides Favorite in Last Race.

Finally Adams was on a favorite in the last race. Undulate was the steed's name. He trailed during a big part of the journey. Adams went to work on him in the stretch with whip and heel. He got home in front to pay $5.80 for $2.

And ho, hum! How easy it would have been to win more than a half million by risking a $10 bill.

Numerous jockies have ridden six winners in one afternoon in America. Only one ever has ridden seven. That was Joe Sylvester. He did it at Ravenna Park in Ohio in 1930.

While a great hero on western tracks, Adams is unknown to turf patrons of the middle west and east. He has ridden at the Riverside track in Kansas City. That's as far east as he ever traveled.

DUNLAP ENTERS SEMI-FINALS OF PINEHURST GOLF

Pinehurst, N. C., April 7.—[Special.]—George T. Dunlap Jr. of Pinehurst today continued his march toward the North and South amateur golf championship by defeating Robert W. Knowles, Boston, Mass., 2 and 1. The victory sent Dunlap into the semi-final round, where he will meet Morton McCarthy, Norfolk, Va., who eliminated Hobb Anderson, 5 and 4.

Frank Strafaci, New York, and Charles Clare, New Haven, Conn., also advanced to the semi-finals. Strafaci won from Richard Chapman, Greenwich, Conn., 4 and 3, and Clare triumphed over Pat Mucci, New York, 3 and 1.

Shamrocks Rout Cleveland Poloists, 12-4

Lieut. James S. McAnulty scored eight goals to lead the Chicago Shamrocks polo team to victory over the Cleveland 1st cavalry, 12 to 4, last night in the 124th field artillery armory. The victory gave the Shamrocks the western championship in the Sherman cup class and qualified them to meet Blue Hill Farm of Philadelphia, eastern champions, in the title tournament starting tomorrow night.

The Shamrocks were upset a year ago by the Cleveland team, which went on to capture the national championship in the Sherman class.

Scoring Record Tied.

Lieut. McAnulty's eight goals tied the season's individual record, but team play proved the decisive factor in favor of the Shamrocks. Cleveland rode hard, but pressure from the Shamrocks caused the visitors to hurry their shots. Only in the third period did the Cleveland team figure in the scoring.

Fort Sheridan defeated the Chicago Black Horse troop, 9 to 6, in the first game to win the Metropolitan Polo league junior championship. The final standing for the army trio was four games won and one lost.

Fort Sheridan Leads Throughout.

Fort Sheridan held the lead throughout, starting with a one point handicap award and increasing the margin to 3 to 0 before Capt. Roy D. Keehn Jr., scored for the Black Horse troop.

Except in the second period when Lieut. Harry Owen Jr. scored twice in succession for the troop to come within a point of a tie, Fort Sheridan was never threatened.

The David B. Silbermann trophy was presented to the 124th Field Artillery team of Lieut. William D. Fergus, Capt. Romeo E. Mura, and Lieut. Don J. Rice, for winning the Metropolitan Polo league senior title.

VINES SAYS HE'LL BEAT PERRY, AND HE DOES, 6-0, 6-3

1,500 See Match; They Play Again Tonight.

BY HOWARD MARTIN.

Ellsworth Vines, the elongated Californian, announced last night before meeting Fred Perry that he was going to deal the Englishman his first Chicago tennis defeat. On a court laid out in the International Amphitheater Vines then proceeded to carry out his threat convincingly. The score was 6-0, 6-3.

The match between two of the greatest tennis players in the world featured a program of three matches between the professional troupe being guided about the country by Jack Harris of Chicago. The pro stars will play again this evening in the Chicago Arena, McClurg court and Erie street, starting at 8:15 o'clock.

Perry never had lost a Chicago match, either as a professional or amateur, and that is why Vines issued his boastful pronunciamento before the match. The way the Californian went after the Briton, it appeared as if he would win in love sets.

Wins 11 Straight Games.

As steady as ever with his formidable forehand, Vines displayed a powerful backhand and a withering service that enabled him to win 11 straight games. During this walkaway, Vines served ten aces. In the first set Perry was limited to six points.

Facing a second love defeat, Perry rallied on his service in the sixth game of the second set, and fighting point for point, succeeded in winning a game when Vines sent a difficult backhand shot into the net. Perry, aided by a double default, went on to win the seventh game when Vines netted a forehand drive on game point.

Vines still needed only one more game for the match and victory. But Perry made his service count and finally won the eighth game when Vines again had trouble with his forehand drive. The ninth and last game was dueced before Vines scored a placement and then an ace to end the match.

1,500 See Match.

A crowd of 1,500 saw the match, the fifty-first between Vines and Perry. The season series now stands at twenty-nine victories for Vines and twenty-two for Perry. Don Budge, world amateur champion, refereed the principal match. He also will referee tonight.

The professional troupe will go to St. Louis after tonight's appearance in the Arena and then will perform in Peoria, Indianapolis and Toledo. In all, seventy-five programs have been booked. Five more will be arranged before the boys conclude their tour and audit the books, which promise a handsome profit, it is said.

Senior Defeats Bell.

In the opening match of the program Walter Senior of San Francisco defeated Berkeley Bell of Texas, 6-4, 6-3, running out the first set on his own service and breaking through Bell's for the deciding points in the second. Senior, who campaigned on Illinois courts as an amateur last year, always was superior, but the Texan gave him a stiff argument most of the time.

In the doubles that ended the program Vines and Senior took the measure of Perry and Bell, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4.

Helen Jacobs Writes Novel Without Mentioning Tennis

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—Helen Jacobs revealed tonight she recently had published a novel, "Barry Cort," under the pen name of H. Braxton Hull—and there isn't a single word about tennis in it. Not yet published in the United States, the novel has been favorably reviewed here. Miss Jacobs is former American and British champion.

Jacobus Denies Sarazen Claim of Favoritism

New York, April 7.—(AP)—George R. Jacobus, president of the Professional Golfers' association, returned from the south today with a soft denial to Gene Sarazen's charge that politics and favoritism kept him from being captain of the Ryder cup team.

George Jacobus.

Sarazen, at Augusta, Ga., coupled his attack upon Jacobus with announcement of his retirement from cup competition.

"I have known for some time that Sarazen resented not being selected for the Ryder cup captaincy by the P. G. A., but he did not tell me personally that it was the reason for his withdrawal," said Jacobus.

Hagen Best Qualified.

"As a matter of fact he insisted he had played in enough international matches; that it was time the younger players got more chance, and that the trips were either too long or too tiresome for him.

"I named Walter Hagen to the captaincy of the 1937 Ryder cup team because I considered him the best qualified and most popular man for the position. On the way to England, where Hagen joined the team, I appointed Ed Dudley acting captain, only for routine purposes.

"There was no prejudice against Sarazen, last year or at any other time. Hagen has been the logical man for the captaincy since the cup matches started, just as Francis Ouimet has become a standby as leader of the amateurs in Walker cup competition. I would not hesitate to name Hagen again, under similar circumstances."

Next Matches in 1939.

The next Ryder cup matches, between British and American professionals, are due to be played in the United States in 1939.

Hagen, Jacobus added, plans to return from the far east in May, in time to try qualifying for the national open at Denver.

FORMER WINNERS MUST QUALIFY FOR '38 NATIONAL OPEN

New York, April 6.—(AP)—The United States Golf association is thinking over a proposal to exempt former national open champions from sectional qualifying rounds, but can do nothing about it before this year's tournament in Denver, June 9 to 11.

The proposal arose over a report that Bobby Jones might try a come back if exempt from qualifying play, but Jones has denied any interest in pushing such a rule modification.

Chief argument against the proposal at the moment is that it would cut the number of sectional qualifying places available in the championship field of 170 golfers.

Under the rule in force, the top thirty finishers in the open each year are exempt from qualifying sectionally for the following year's tournament, and are automatically eligible to compete. In addition, the home club pro is also exempt, leaving 139 places for which the hundreds of golfing hopefuls throughout the country may compete by sections.

The U. S. G. A. feels now that further reduction would not be fair to sections which have few qualifying places.

Menow Reaches Kentucky; Makes Debut at Keeneland

Lexington, Ky., April 7.—[Special.]—Hal Price Headley's Menow, 1937 2 year old champion and Kentucky Derby candidate, arrived here today from Florida, where the colt was in training for three months. Menow probably will make his Kentucky 3 year old debut during the Keeneland spring meeting.

TORONTO STARS FIRE PUCK PAST ROOKIE GOALIE

Moore Is Barred by League Rule.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., April 7. — The Stanley cup finals, professional hocky's world series, was evened up at one game apiece tonight in a vicious match which saw the Toronto Maple Leafs, National league champions, defeat the Chicago Blackhawks, 5 to 1, before 14,471.

Bitter feeling between the two teams, engendered by disputes over a substitute goalie for the Blackhawks and intensified by lax officiating, led to several open clashes among the players as the Leafs turned to a bruising style of hocky to overpower the crippled Chicagoans. Gordon Drillon and George Parsons led the Leaf's scoring, each blasting two goals past Goalie Paul Goodman, a rookie making his first appearance in a major league contest.

Goodman Forced to Play.

Goodman, recently purchased from Wichita in the American association, was forced into the Chicago nets today, although he had not been on skates for three weeks, when Frank J. Calder, president of the league, ruled Alfie Moore ineligible. Moore, the property of the New York Americans had filled in for Mike Karakas in the first game of the series and starred as the Hawks won, 3 to 1.

Chicago's goal was scored in the first period by Earl Seibert, husky defense man. It tied the score after Drillon had put the Leafs ahead, 1 to 0, in the second minute of play.

The Hawks, minus Karakas and the veteran wing, Mush March, both of whom are in Chicago under the care of physicians, were handicaped further when Doc Romnes, their regular center, was forced out with a broken nose in the second period. Romnes was one of six Chicago players hurt in the rough contest. Six stitches were necessary to close a wound on Louis Trudell's head; Alex Levinsky had two stitches over an eye; two were taken in Roger Jenkins' scalp; Art Wiebe finished the game with four in his head, and Johnny Gottselig, veteran wing, was lashed over the foot with a stick. He played throughout the second and third periods with a badly swollen foot and made the Hawks' train with difficulty. It was not certain last night that he would be able to play Sunday.

Hawks Blame Red Horner.

All the injuries, except that to Wiebe, were attributable to the high sticking and slashing which has been prevalent throughout the four play-off series to date. Wiebe was injured by a flying puck while sitting on the bench. The Hawks blame Capt. Red Horner for the four other injuries.

The Blackhawks left for Chicago immediately after the game to prepare for the third contest of the series in the stadium on Sunday night. The fourth game will be played in Chicago on Tuesday. If a fifth is necessary, the teams will return to Toronto to settle the championship and possession of the coveted cup one week from tonight.

The Boys Meant Business.

It was evident from the opening faceoff that the favored Leafs, aroused by the publicity resulting from Tuesday's unexpected defeat were intent on making the beating physical as well as official. They checked viciously and needlessly and completely mastered the Hawks until the latter began retaliating in kind.

Goodman, apparently suffering from stage fright, made a good stop of Apps' hard shot, but was helpless against Drillon's rebound which flashed into the cage at 1:42 of the first period. The Hawks tied the score at 8:46 while Boll was off on the first penalty of the game for tripping Cully Dahlstrom. Seibert intercepted Horner's attempt to clear the puck and skated in from the blue line at the left boards. He faked a pass to Gottselig and Jenkins, then lifted the puck over Goalie Walter Broda's outstretched arm. Up to this time, the pattern of the game had been identical to that of the first contest.

LEAFS CONQUER HAWKS, 5-1, TO SQUARE SERIES

Rookie Lets One In.

One of the few amateurish plays in Goodman's otherwise creditable exhibition allowed the Leafs to go ahead in the seventh minute of the second period. Harvey Jackson fired a long shot at the youngster and before Goodman could close his legs it had slipped through.

The Hawks remained in the running until the tenth minute of the third period when Drillon, Parsons, Syl Apps, and Pep Kelly caught the Hawk defense down ice three times within a minute and twenty-five seconds. Drillon drove home one goal at 9:40, Parsons beat Goodman at 10:29 and repeated at 11:09.

At the start of the game the Leafs ganged on the rookie goalie and took a lead at 1:42 on Drillon's short shot past Goodman from a mêlée in front of the cage. The Hawks then evened the count when the Leafs were a man short through the first penalty of the game, as was the case Tuesday night.

Penalty Aids Hawks.

Boll tripped Dahlstrom in the seventh minute and the Hawks immediately went on the attack. Seibert retrieved the puck along the boards inside the Leafs' blue line and skated right up to Broda, faking passes to Gottselig and Voss. As Broda came out, Seibert hammered it into the corner of the net in 8:46.

Jackson and MacKenzie, who had been sent off for high sticking, still had a minute and a half to serve when the second period opened. When they returned both teams again reverted to roughhouse tactics. Goodman made excellent saves in quick succession on Davidson and Apps. Thompson eluded Horner and Fowler and skated in on Broda, but the trapped goalie was reprieved when Thompson's shot failed to lift.

Jackson and Thoms broke away on a combination play, perfectly executed, and Jackson drove a hard shot from the foul line through the lunging Goodman's legs to put Toronto ahead, 2 to 1 at 6:10.

Then Came the War.

The inevitable clash came in the last few seconds of the period when Hamilton charged Shill into the boards. All the players took part in the brawl back of the Leafs cage. Shill and Parsons were given minors as the period ended.

Seibert and Parsons were given minors for high sticking in the third minute of the last period and a minute later Kampman and Jenkins were ruled off for the same offense, leaving both teams two men short.

Apps broke beyond the Hawk defense, trailed by Drillon. Goodman made a perfect save on Apps' hard shot, but had no chance to cover up as Drillon rifled the rebound into the open net in 9:40. Another such play, in which the Hawk defense was caught down the ice, resulted in the fourth Leaf goal at 10:29 when Parsons skated up to the net and punched a shot past the bewildered Goodman. Forty seconds later Parsons again swept in on the youngster and flipped the fifth goal past him. The time was 11:09.

MacKenzie and Jackson came to blows in the 18th minute of the final period and, after punching Jackson briskly, MacKenzie was given a major penalty. The Leaf star drew a minor.

100 Entered in City High School Mat Meet

Ten schools have entered 100 athletes in the annual city high school wrestling meet, which will start in the University of Chicago fieldhouse tonight. Tilden Tech will defend its team title against Amundsen, Bowen, Calumet, Crane, Englewood, Fenger, Lindblom, Morgan Park, Parker. Individual championships will be decided in ten weight classes. The semi finals and finals will be held tomorrow night.

Four Chicago Teams Enter Military, Naval Basket Meet

Four Chicago teams will compete in the state tournament of the Illinois Military and Naval Basketball league tomorrow and Sunday nights in the National Guard armory in Rockford. The Chicago quintets represent the Naval Reserves, the 8th Infantry, the 124th Field Artillery, and the 108th Medical regiment. They will play against teams from Kankakee, Aurora, Sycamore, and Rockford.

Pabsts Bowl 3,036 for Fourth Place in A. B. C.

Chicago's Pabst Blue Ribbons pounded out 3,036 last night to go into fourth place in the five-man team standings of the American Bowling congress tournament before one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a bowling contest. Paul Krumske led the attack with a 637 series and the veteran Ad [Swede] Carlson hit the pocket with machine-like precision for 622. Joe Sinke tabulated 621, Eddie Zajac added 587, and Herb Freitag contributed 569.

In the pocket, on every first ball fired except two, the Pabsts thrilled the crowd with their exhibition. Only five errors marked the thirty frames and only two strikes of the Brooklyn variety were posted.

High Game Is 1,085.

The Pabsts, starting the almost hopeless task of overhauling their fellow townsmen's huge total of earlier in the week—that all-time A. B. C. mark of 3,234, rung by the Birk Bros.' veterans—opened under pressure with 937. They drove hard on the one-three pocket, earning every pin with an exhibition of bowling at its best, to count 1,014 in the second game. In the last game, kept from near record proportions by untimely splits, they fought their way to 1,085.

Gary Pair Gets 1,301.

Scoring games of 504, 444, and 353, Mike Spotilla and Walter Reczek of Gary, Ind., went into third place in the doubles yesterday with 1,301. Six splits in the final game prevented the Gary pair from overtaking Dick Kriese and Sam Vanini of Buffalo, N. Y., who are leading with 1,322. In the first two games Spotilla hit 237 and 219 and Reczek clustered strikes for 267 and 225. With a chance for the title in their grasp, Spotilla crowded the head pin in the final stanza and ran into five difficult splits, winding up with 149. Reczek, with one open frame, hit 204.

Smith, Falcaro Bowl Tonight.

Jimmy Smith and Joe Falcaro will lead the attack on the pins tonight. The New Yorkers are two of bowling's most colorful figures.

Smith, regarded by many as the greatest bowler of all time, will roll with the New York Brunswick Red Crowns. Falcaro, former match champion, will pilot his Falcaro Recreations on one of the best programs of the meet, which is entering its last ten days of competition.

The Bowes Seal Fast team, Indianapolis, which defeated the best lineups of the midwest in winning Ray Schalk's holiday sweepstakes in the Beverly Recreation, is among the seventy-seven teams on the card.

Grange Signs 1938 Contract as Halas' Aid

Completely recovered from an operation of several weeks ago, Harold [Red] Grange walked into the Chicago Bears office yesterday and signed with President George Halas, as back field coach for the 1938 season.

It will be his third season in this capacity; his thirteenth as an associate with the National league, which he joined as a player with the Bears, and his twenty-first in football.

Because he has a position with a mineral water company in Chicago, which permits him to coach locally, Grange turned down several out of town coaching offers from college and professional clubs.

COURT ADJOURNS SEPARATION SUIT OF MRS. GOMEZ

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—A check for $825 changed hands today in Supreme court with the result that Justice Isadore Wasservogel adjourned until May 2 the separation suit of June O'Dea, showgirl, versus Vernon [Lefty] Gomez, baseball player.

Previously the court had agreed to the postponement on condition that Gomez, who is busy with the Yankees in the south, pay up alimony and counsel fees today. Payment was made by Lowel S. Birrell, attorney for Gomez, to Melvin Kleeblatt, attorney for Miss O'Dea. Mr. Kleeblatt argued for $400 more, but finally gave in.

Explains Great Need of Expert Gym Teachers

The demand for physical education teachers has become greater than the supply, James E. Rogers, director of the National Physical Education service, told the Midwest Physical Education association yesterday in the Sherman hotel.

School administrators, he said, were looking for coaches who could function along the broad lines of general physical education and health teaching and play leadership.

Rogers cited this need as one of ten outstanding developments in health and physical education during the last year. The others:

1. Merger of the American Physical Education association as a department of the National Education association, resulting in the establishment of the largest department with a membership of over 8,000.

A Rapid Development.

2. Rapid current growth and development of health and physical education. Fifty per cent of all the schools are making adequate provision in this field and more than 50 per cent of the 30,000,000 school population is being reached by definite, required programs.

3. States and cities are providing excellent modern curricula in all fields of physical education from the first grade through high schools.

4. Standards set up by state departments of education.

5. Delaware's achievement of giving small rural schools play and athletic supplies as teaching materials from public funds.

Director in North Carolina.

6. The appointment of a state director for the first time by North Carolina. This makes 23 states that now have state directors, and represents more than 70 per cent of the population.

7. An increasing number of new books on the subject.

8. Recognition of physical education as one of the required subjects in the 15 units of college entrants.

9. Development of outdoor and indoor facilities. All schools are getting playrooms and playgrounds, and new athletic fields. Three great developments in colleges have been the new buildings for physical education and intramurals at Purdue, North Carolina, and the University of Oregon."

Purdue to Open Football Clinic; Dorais to Speak

Lafayette, Ind., April 7.—[Special.]—Leading collegiate coaches from three different sections of the country—Frank Thomas of Alabama, Gus Dorais of Detroit, and Pete Cawthon of Texas Tech—are among the most prominent of the men on the program of the 7th annual Purdue football clinic which opens tomorrow morning and continues through Saturday.

The new fieldhouse will make it possible to hold the demonstrations indoors in the event that outdoor conditions are unsuitable.

◆

Thomas, Dorais, and Cawthon, along with Franklin M. Reck of Detroit, managing editor of The American Boy, who is a member of the national rules committee in six-man football, all will appear on tomorrow night's banquet program. They also will speak before the sessions Saturday morning.

Lincolnshire to Hold 1938 Reunion Tomorrow

Lincolnshire Country club will hold its annual spring reunion tomorrow to mark the official opening of the season. Because of the heavy snows this week, the program has been altered. Golf events originally scheduled will be dispensed with, but the dance and entertainment will go on as planned in the evening. The golf tournament at the club previously carded for tomorrow will be held the following Saturday.

Men's A. A. U. Swim Meet Opens Today

Columbus, O., April 7.—(AP)—More than 140 swimming stars from sixteen states and the District of Columbia worked out in Ohio State university's pool today in final tune-ups for the National A. A. U. men's senior title events tomorrow and Saturday.

For the first time in history a college sqquad was expected to win the team laurels, breaking the hold of the athletic clubs. Ohio State, Michigan, and Harvard were conceded the best chances to take the team crown.

Practically every topnotch star in the country was listed among the entrants, only Jack Medica of Seattle, Wash., being on the sidelines because of illness.

Ten Events on Program.

The ten event, two day program has drawn swimmers and divers from Rhode Island, Florida, Michigan, Massachusetts, Illinois, Ohio, New Jersey, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Texas, Missouri, Maryland, New Hampshire, New York, Iowa, and the District of Columbia.

Commanding considerable attention from the college coaches is Otto Jaretz, Chicago Lane Tech High school boy, who is entered in the 100 yard free style. The youngster has been timed in 52 seconds in that sprint this year.

Kiefer Enters Three Events.

Adolph Kiefer, winner of the 150 yard backstroke a year ago as a representative of the champion Lake Shore A. C. of Chicago, is back in the fold although his club no longer has a swimming team. Kiefer surrendered his backstroke crown without a struggle by entering only the 100 and 220 yard free styles and the 300 yard individual medley.

TRAINING NEARS END, BUT CUBS' PROBLEMS GO ON

Series with Browns Will Provide New Tests.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., April 7.—Charley Grimm's fragile Cubs who are in midseason form so far as physical complaints, imaginative or otherwise, are concerned, rolled in here late this afternoon.

Tomorrow, unless there is an outbreak of hangnails, ingrown toe nails, plain old fashioned belly aches, or maladies equally terrible, the regulars, so far as possible, will assemble for the start of the final phase of preparing for the championship race.

Getting an 8 to 5 game edge on the White Sox, whom they seldom beat, may have given Grimm's athletes, as well as the Cub partisans, a feeling of satisfaction, but this shouldn't be taken too seriously. James Dykes, the Sox manager, entrusted much of his pitching to the rawest sort of rookies.

Pitching the Question.

But Grimm, having had his orders to stop this more than 30 year old weakness against the Sox, pitched the best men available. The Sox pummeled these fellows most of the time and that may be the tipoff on the outstanding defect of the Cubs this coming summer.

The start of the last phase of getting into shape for world series competition will be against the St. Louis Browns tomorrow and the same competition will be encountered during the five subsequent days. The pitching assignment in the opener of these arguments with the Browns will be given to Clay Bryant, the tall boy who can't locate the plate.

Pitching Bryant tomorrow is of no importance, except that it is another step in the effort to throw the husky boy into winning production. If he can come through during the title race the Yankees may visit Wrigley field next fall.

Looking for Reserves.

Grimm still is looking around for reserve help which he can call on when the Dresden china members of his ensemble go on vacation. There is a possibility that he still will be looking for that help as late as next September, provided the present incongruous setup doesn't provide a new manager by that time.

A week ago it was evident that the Cub manager had given up, despite front office inclinations, on George Stainback, who came to the team from Los Angeles in 1934 as another sensation.

Two Disappointments.

Grimm figured Jim Asbell or Herman Coaker Triplett, the Southern association hitting twins, would develop into acceptable outfield reserves. Thus far neither has hit or fielded impressively, so Stainback is right back as a first line substitute, although shipping him into a minor league for a year might bring out the ability he was suspected of having when the Cubs bought him from the cousin team in the coast league.

Augie Galan, who had to remain in Los Angeles for treatment of the eye from which a film was removed, joined the Cubs here but he will not be asked to peddle his professional wares for several days. Grimm, being a kindly gentleman, wants to allow the California kid a few days in which to run around and become acclimated.

Along with his outfield, pitching, and front office problems, Grimm has another matter to get off his mind. He owns Rip Collins, the first baseman taken from St. Louis a year ago along with Leroy Parmelee for Lon Warneke. Collins was good, according to reports, during the early part of last season. Later he slumped and after that suffered a broken ankle.

Without a Job.

Now Rip is without a job because of the inclination to play Phil Cavarretta at first base. The difference between the play of the two men last season justifies this allocation. Collins can operate at only one position, whereas Cavarretta also can work in the outfield. So Grimm must decide early whether Cavarretta can keep Collins on the bench.

The Cubs will be here until Sunday evening and, for the three following days, along with the Browns, will visit daily for exhibition purposes in Fort Worth, Tex.; Wichita, Kas., and Kansas City, Mo. April 14 the Cubs will perform with their forty-eighth cousin team in Moline, Ill.

Then they will be entitled to go home for three games with the Sox who, if they can win three in a row, will tie up the spring city series at eight victories each. But after this the Cubs will be concerned exclusively with their own league, at least until they find themselves confronted with the world series Yankees or the city series White Sox next October.

Snowdrifts in Sunny Texas Keep Sox Idle

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sweetwater, Tex., April 7.—The White Sox and the Pittsburgh Pirates will play baseball in Abilene tomorrow, provided the snow melts, the diamond dries and the mercury jumps 35 or 40 notches.

In the meantime residents of Sweetwater were so busy talking about the blizzard which swept middle Texas last night they didn't have time to bemoan the cancelation of the Sox-Pirates encounter scheduled here today. When the Texans said "unusual" they meant it in the literal, not the California way of describing ornery weather. Snowdrifts three feet deep adorn the road between here and Midland, Tex., a stretch where temperatures of 90 degrees are common at this season.

Dykes Faces a Job.

All the problems were solved by the big league whittlers and Manager Jim Dykes, who must get his team in shape before April 19 and can't do it in this kind of weather, even went so far as to reveal how the American league teams will finish in the 1938 pennant race. Here's the way James rates 'em: Yankees, Tigers, Indians, White Sox, Red Sox, Senators, Athletics, and Browns.

Notice that Jimmy rates his own lads a peg lower than they finished in 1936 and 1937. He said: "I was confident we would finish second or third until that black hour on the afternoon of March 27 when Luke Appling and Monty Stratton were injured. With those two boys out indefinitly I'm just hoping for a spot in the first division."

Stratton Still a Puzzle.

There has been no indication that Appling will return to service before the predicted date, July 1. Stratton remains a mystery. He says his arm feels fine, but he has done no throwing. He expects to cut loose with a few medium hard ones Sunday if the weather returns to normal.

At this moment it seems rather idle to talk of tomorrow's game in Abilene. Although it was 85 there yesterday, only five hours later a dust storm, followed by the blizzard, started raging. The hope is held, therefore, that things can get good as fast as they got bad and that there will be a contest.

Abilene will see first string pitching talent. Johnny Whitehead will start for the Sox and will be followed by Thornton Lee. Ed Brandt is scheduled to start for the Pirates and Mace Brown to finish up.

The remaining schedule between the Sox and the Pirates now is reduced to seven games, enough to enable the Sox to finish better than .500 in their exhibition schedule.

To date the Sox have lost one game to the Pirates [in San Bernardino, Cal.], one each to the Los Angeles Angels and the Hollywood Stars, and eight to the Cubs. Against these eleven losses they have won five games, all from the Cubs.

SENATORS WHIP BEES, 5-4, AFTER LOSING 8 IN ROW

Orlando, Fla., April 7.—(AP)—Washington ended an eight game losing streak to major league teams today, beating the Boston Bees, 5 to 4.

Although he was the losing pitcher, Jim Turner let only one Senator reach base after the second inning, and picked that one off. Washington scored three runs off Turner in the first and two in the second.

Wesley Ferrell hurled eight innings for Washington, giving up nine hits. Mueller and Di Maggio hit homers for the Bees. Score:

Boston [N.] ....000 011 100—4 9 0
Washington [A.] ....320 000 00*—5 8 0

BRIDGES BACK; TIGERS WIN.

Lakeland, Fla., April 7.—(AP)—Tommy Bridges, returning to duty after a long idleness caused by an elbow injury, helped the Detroit Tigers beat the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3 to 1, today in a game in which Toronto got eight hits to Detroit's three.

Walter La Franconi, right handed recruit, held the Tigers to one hit and one run, scored without benefit of a hit, in the first five innings. The Tigers got their other runs off Joe Mulligan. Three Maple Leaf errors helped the Tiger cause. Bridges allowed five singles and one run in five innings. Cletus Poffenberger, who succeeded him, was touched for three hits. Score:

Toronto [I.] ....000 100 000—1 8 3

CARDS WIN, 16 TO 6.

Albany, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean struck out three batters in the fourth but yielded six runs in five innings as the St. Louis Cardinals pounded out a 16 to 6 victory over Albany of the Georgia-Florida league today.

A ball thrown by Catcher Rhawn of Albany struck Don Gutteridge on the jaw as he tried to steal third in the first inning, forcing the Cardinal shortstop from the game. Score:

St. Louis [N. L.] .322 231 102—16 20 4

MOSES PACES A'S.

Clinton, S. C., April 7.—(AP)—Playing his first game of the year, Outfielder Wally Moses today led the Philadelphia Athletics to a 17 to 4 victory over Presbyterian college.

Moses, a holdout until several days ago, got five consecutive hits in six times at bat, including a home run and two doubles, to bat in five runs. The A's pounded out twenty hits while Lefty Kalfass held the collegians to five hits, one a homer by Horne. Score:

Philadelphia [A.] ..342 321 110—17 20 1
Presbyterian ....000 000 022— 4 5 4

DODGERS HOLD LONG DRILL.

Clearwater, Fla., April 7.—(AP)—Manager Burleigh Grimes of the Brooklyn Dodgers sent his players through an extensive four hour routine drill today for their final workout in this city. The team breaks camp tomorrow.

The resignation of L. W. St. John, athletic director at Ohio State university, as chairman of the national basketball rules committee was announced yesterday as committeemen left Chicago for their homes. St. John, who has been connected with the rules body since 1912 and served as its chairman many years, has been made a life member of the rules group and its chairman emeritus.

He will be succeeded by H. H. Salmon of Princeton university.

C. Y. O. FIGHTERS TRIUMPH, 3 TO 2, AT ST. NORBERT

Green Bay, Wis., April 7.—[Special.]—Chicago C. Y. O. boxers pounded out three victories in five bouts here tonight against the St. Norbert college team.

Al Oddo, Eddie Foys, and Joe Bittner were the winners for the C. Y. O., while Anderson and Scarlata of St. Norbert scored three round decisions over Tom Dorff and Jesse Garcia, respectively. In the two preliminary fights Johnny Francisco of the C. Y. O. beat Salvatore Diaz, C. Y. O., and Mike Sanchez slugged out a decision over Wayne Fidler. The losers to Oddo, Foys, and Bittner were Pat Clark, Al Urlich, and Johnny Platt.

POLISH CATHOLIC QUINTETS OPEN NATIONAL MEET

A card of five games, one of them between girls' teams will open the sixth National Polish Roman Catholic Union basketball tournament in Trinity High school, Cleaver and Division streets, tonight. Circuit 85, Steubenville, O., 1937 runners-up, is paired with St. Justyn of Milwaukee, Wis., in the opening contest. Three other eastern teams will play tonight. One of them, Blessed Virgin of Buffalo, N. Y., was a semi-finalist in Steubenville, O., last year. In its last Chicago start the Buffalo team gained third place. It will meet circuit 54 of Chicago.

A close contest is expected between St. Mary of Donora, Pa., and St. Vincent de Paul of New Haven, Conn. The former team has won fifteen and lost five, while the latter suffered only six defeats in forty-five contests during the season. Each is a P. R. C. U. sectional winner.

Circuit 69, champion of the local P. R. C. U. league, meets St. Casimir, 1937 consolation winner, of Racine, Wis.

Tomorrow afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock, eight more men's teams will play first round games.

Why Now $5.85

We stopped the "Recession" in our business and established a New Yardstick of Value in the Shoe Industry, when we reduced the Regal price from $6.40 to $5.85 in our 45th Anniversary Sale last December.

Thousands of old customers and new friends recognized the unusual Value of this low Sale Price, and we actually sold more shoes at the bottom of the recent so-called Recession in December 1937, than we did at the top of the Boom in December '27, '28 or '29.

Now, we want to set up a new record for Easter and April—and during this Strange Business Interlude we've decided that if we can't make money,—we can make friends. That's why we are continuing our 45th Birthday Party by making a Special Sale Price, this Spring's Regular Price.

CASEY, GEORGE MEET TONIGHT ON STADIUM MAT

First Wrestling Show in Building Since 1936.

The first wrestling show held in Chicago Stadium since Nov. 20, 1936, will be presented tonight.

On that occasion Everett Marshall threw Ali Baba for heavyweight championship recognition before 10,392 spectators, who contributed a gross gate of $9,000.

Casey Faces George.

Tonight Steve [Crusher] Casey, who has a claim to the crown, will meet Ed Don George in the one hour windup bout under the promotion of Joe Coffey and Paul Paloski. Coffey and Paloski are using wrestlers who belong to the faction opposing the White-Kohler combination, namely, Paul Bowser, Tom Packs, and Billy Sandow.

Gregory Meets Gastovich.

Bob Gregory, claimant of the light heavyweight championship of England, will clash with George Gastovich in a twenty minute preliminary. Other bouts at this distance bring together Wladyslaw Talun and Jerry Monahan, Pietro Gobbo and Julius Strongbow, Hans Zimbelman and Chief Osley Sanooke.

Four amateur programs are on tonight's boxing calendar. Verle Davis is matched with Johnny Pleasant in the Madison Athletic club, 4711 West Madison street; Eddie Conroy with Herman Van Der Plow in Northwest arena, 3968 Milwaukee avenue; Eddie Lander with Clarence [Spider] Weaver in the Armory, Aurora, and Joe Benna with Steve Modla in Roosevelt High school gymnasium, East Chicago. . . . The annual amateur boxing card offered under the sponsorship of the Rev. Thomas Burke of St. Hilary church has been set ahead from May 5 to May 3. The show will be conducted in the church hall, Bryn Mawr and California avenues. . . . Mique Malloy is negotiating for a fourth bout between Leo Rodak and Jackie Wilson in White City April 22. Malloy will leave today for Detroit where he will attempt to sign Jimmy Adamick for a match with Max Marek later. . . .

Johnny Densor, Indianapolis light heavyweight, and Emil Campagna, who was defeated by Densor in a previous match, have been signed to meet in a return bout of five rounds in Marigold Gardens Monday. Milt Aron and Johnny Durso are principals in the ten round main event. Contests of four rounds match Joe Law with Eddie Shapiro, Sam Terry with Georgie White, and Lou Laurie with Pat O'Brien. . . . Larry Amadee, trainer of John Henry Lewis, will join the light heavyweight title holder in Pittsburgh tomorrow and take charge of Lewis' training program for a title defense against Emilio Martinez in Minneapolis April 25. . . . Carl Vinciquerra, former Chicago Golden Gloves light heavyweight king, is seeking a fight with Alex Kettles, also a Golden Gloves product. . . . Six major letters and nineteen minor letters were awarded to members of the Mount Carmel High school boxing team, Coach Mike Murphy announced yesterday. . . . Jerry Meeker will meet Walter Palmer in a semi-final to the headliner between Ali Baba and Joe Corbett in White City Monday.

REV. B. A. REDDY NAMED CATHOLIC PREP PRESIDENT

The Rev. Bernard A. Reddy, director of athletics at Loyola academy, was elected president of the National Catholic High School Athletic association, it was announced yesterday. Father Reddy succeeds the Rev. E. A. Dickenson, former athletic director of St. Rita's High school of Chicago.

Brother Peter, Catholic High, Baton Rouge, La., was named vice president. Francis L. McElligott, basketball coach of the Loyola academy team which went to the finals in the national Catholic basketball tournament held at the university the week of March 21, was elected secretary and treasurer.

CLASS B STATE VOLLEY BALL TO OPEN TONIGHT

The annual Illinois State Y. M. C. A. volley ball tournament for class B teams will open tonight in the Austin Y. M. C. A., and continue tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Central department, last year's winner, is not entered. Listed to compete are Austin, Wilson avenue, Division street, Wheaton, Joliet and Aurora. Austin and Wheaton will meet in the first match.

The champion and runner-up will qualify to play in the class A tourney, which will be held in the Austin Y. M. C. A. April 16.

MAY POSTPONE SOCCER MATCH; DECIDE TODAY

The status of Sunday's scheduled opening match for the national soccer championship in Sparta stadium will be decided today when members of the national cup committee will arrive from New York to inspect the snow covered playing field. The contending teams are the Sparta Garden City of Chicago and St. Mary's college of Brooklyn. Following a conference with Manager Jack Fencl of the Spartas and Western Cup Commissioner Jack Parry the committee will make its announcement.

If a postponement is necessary the first match of the two-game series will be played a week from Sunday.

Lawrin Takes Lead in Future Book Ranking

Five Kentucky Derby candidates have been backed stoutly in Chicago during the last week, according to Harry Russell and Frank Stone, Chicago commissioners who have been handling most of the Derby future book commissions here.

Odds Drop to 10 to 1.

The commisisons came from Kansas City and were of sufficient size to drop the odds against the colt from 20 to 1 to 10 to 1.

There also was heavy support for Bull Lea, Warren Wright's Calumet farm colt, which has engaged in some impressive training moves in Lexington lately. Odds against this son of Bull Dog went from 30 to 1 to 20 to 1. Mr. Wright has told friends that up to date he has not wagered on his colt.

Tiger Gets Support.

The odds against Tiger are down to 12 to 1 from an opening quotation of 20 to 1. The causes are his victory in the Arkansas Derby and his safe journey from Hot Springs to Churchill Downs. The price against Fighting Fox went from 10 to 1 to 8 to 1.

Few players are willing to back Stagehand at 4 to 1, but when 5 to 1 or better is offered a flood of money rolls in.

Ghost Queen, High Velocity Win at Bowie

Baltimore, Md., April 7.—(AP)—Two horses which raced consistently last year came through with popular victories at Bowie today when W. H. Denham's Ghost Queen and H. P. Melcalf's High Velocity accounted for the handicaps which headed the program.

Ghost Queen, out of the money only four times in 14 starts as a 2 year old, beat five other 3 year olds in a six furlong dash. Favored at $4.70 for $2, the daughter of Dunlin finished a length and a half in front of John Hay Whitney's Endymion. H. R. Bain's Sir Bevidere was third.

High Velocity, making his first start of the year after finishing in the money in eight of his twelve 1937 races, answered Charlie Corbett's urging in the stretch to take the mile and 70 yard La Plata handicap.

Although finishing three lengths in front of A. C. Compton's Vicar, the even money favorite, High Velocity's victory was a popular one. He was well supported at $7.60 for $2. Third money went to Mrs. Emil Denemark's Swahili.

TAYLOR NAMED NORTHWESTERN MAT CAPTAIN

Arnie Taylor of Evanston, was elected captain of Northwestern university's wrestling team at the team banquet last night. Taylor, who competes in the 126 pound division, has been a consistent point winner for the last two years. Varsity letters were awarded to nine wrestlers.

WISCONSIN FIELD TRIAL ATTRACTS ILLINOIS ENTRIES

BY BOB BECKER.

Many Illinois setters and pointers will be heading north into Wisconsin today to demonstrate their game finding ability near Wautoma. The dogs will be run in a spring field trial which starts tomorrow morning under the auspices of the Wisconsin Amateur Field Trial club.

The field trial will continue through Sunday. Martin Hogan of Barrington, Ill., will be one of the judges. He will be assisted by Lloyd Arbuckle, Lake Village, Ind., long identified with pointing dog trials in the middle west. George Blader, secretary of the Wautoma Rod and Gun club, has extended the services of that group to promote the trial.

Banquet Is Planned.

At the end of the first day's running a banquet will be held in the Chase hotel in Wautoma, with William F. Grimmer, superintendent of game for Wisconsin, as the speaker.

A running course of approximately seven miles is available for the trials if needed. A new plan to benefit spectators is being carried out. Hay racks upon which they may ride near the course will be used.

This trial will bring together dogs of the pointing breeds, including English setters, Irish setters, pointers, and a few German short haired pointers. The club will hold its second spring trial on May 9 and 10, when retrievers will be tested.

Show for Boston Terriers.

Another dog event on the calendar of special interest to Boston terrier owners is the specialty show to be held in the Sherman hotel April 24. Boston owners already are getting their dogs ready. A large entry is expected.

FACTS BEHIND OUR HUMAN CUSTOMS . . .

When we APPROVE we say O.K. Why?

It was OCTOBER 6, 1790 when the expression "O.K." first was used to signify APPROVAL. On that date Andrew Jackson "proved a bill-of-sale, WHICH WAS O.K." in the court records of Sumner County, Tennessee. Probable source of the expression is the Choctaw word OKEH, meaning: "It is so and in no other way." Today dictionaries recognize this customary expression for showing APPROVAL as a part of our language. This is another

CLOSE A SEVENTH OF WISCONSIN TO USE BY FARMERS

Counties Take Land Over for Timber, Parks.

BY THORNTON SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

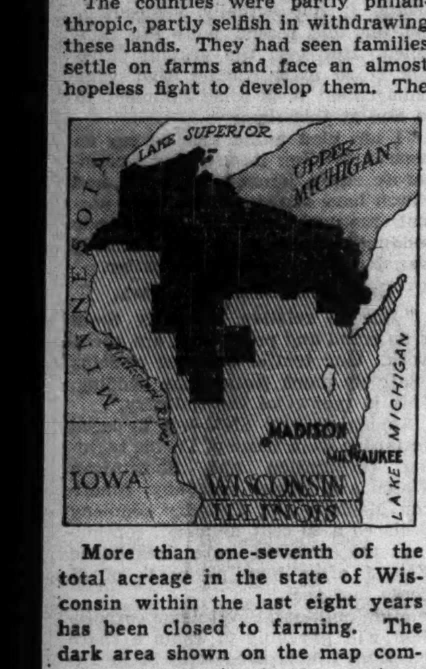
Milwaukee, Wis., April 7.—[Special.]—More than one-seventh of the entire area of Wisconsin has been closed to farming in the last eight years by the operation of county ordinances under the state zoning law. Most of the closed acreage is land which it is not profitable to farm but which, under the right direction, will create an asset if grown to timber. If it is in the cutover lake counties, it will make natural picnic and camping grounds.

By withdrawing these lands from farm development, Wisconsin has assured itself an extensive and permanent woodland which will be a natural vacation land for the midwest.

Restrictions in 24 Counties.

There are twenty-four counties in the restricted areas under zoning ordinances. The total zoned area is 4,811,520 acres. In some of the counties more than one-quarter of the land has reverted to county ownership and is closed to farming. The total area of the twenty-four counties is 15,527,746 acres. The acreage of the entire state is 35,364,100.

The counties were partly philanthropic, partly selfish in withdrawing these lands. They had seen families settle on farms and face an almost hopeless fight to develop them. The county boards wished to save as many others from a struggle in which they were beaten before they started and they wished to save themselves from the inevitable job of taking care of them after they had failed.



More than one-seventh of the total acreage in the state of Wisconsin within the last eight years has been closed to farming. The dark area shown on the map comprises 24 counties in the northern part of the state where large areas have been acquired by the various counties and will be converted into parks and timber tracts.

The zoning idea developed as the general knowledge grew that not all land that would grow trees would grow crops. Most of the land withdrawn from farm use is light sandy soil that has been designated as submarginal.

Counties in Restricted Area.

The twenty-four counties in the restricted zone are Douglas, Bayfield, Ashland, Iron, Vilas, Forest, Florence, Marinette, Oconto, Langlade, Oneida, Lincoln, Price, Sawyer, Washburn, Burnett, Rusk, Taylor, Chippewa, Eau Claire, Clark, Jackson, Wood, and Monroe. Some of these counties have excellent farm land but also possess much that is not fit for agriculture.

The restricted land has returned to the counties mostly by way of tax delinquencies. In some cases, the counties have moved settlers off light soil farms into more productive ones in different areas.

The problem of the settlers on the poor farms was a serious one. Mostly they would struggle a few years, incur tax delinquencies, and move away. Some would stay and look to the counties for support.

Education Vexing Problem.

Education and care of the children of these families was the problem that chiefly turned the attention of county supervisors to the advantages of zoning. Under the state law, schools must be provided or the children transported to and from their homes however isolated. Schools and roads had to be built and teachers hired.

This led to abuses. There were cases uncovered where an oldest daughter of a family received teacher's pay for instructing classes which consisted only of her sisters and her brothers. In another, the father received a county income for transporting only his own children to school several miles away.

Law Amended in 1929.

Under an amendment to the zoning law in 1929, counties acquired the right to regulate the use of land for agriculture, forestry, and recreation.

An example is the town of Silver Cliff, in Marinette county. Last year the county took $7,500 and bought the holdings of the last seven settlers in the town after balancing off profit and loss for the previous six years. The settlers had paid $276.27 in taxes. In return the county and the state had spent $9,154 for schools for them, $7,300 for roads, and $5,148 for relief.

In the submarginal areas, where there is here and there a bit of good land that has been developed and is occupied by a good farmer who is paying his own way, no effort is made to disturb him. He is welcomed.

Lindberghs Fly to France on Undisclosed Mission

FOLKESTONE, England, April 7.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh today flew to France on an undisclosed mission. They flew from Lympne airport to St. Inglebert, in Brittany, and took off from there after a brief stop for an unannounced destination.

JESSEL REFUSES TO WORRY ABOUT RADIO SPONSORS

With So Many, He's Sure to Please a Few.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

George Jessel sloshed around the loop yesterday, wishing fervently for "Thirty Minutes in Hollywood" [which is the title of his radio show]. Jessel with his wife, Norma Talmadge, and her sister, Constance, left for Detroit last evening to open a week's theater engagement, and to put on "Thirty Minutes in Hollywood" from the motor capital. They will be back here in a month or so for a week at the Chicago theater and to broadcast their Mutual show from W-G-N's studios.

While many a radio star frets and fusses about keeping his sponsor happy Jessel doesn't worry too much about such matters. The nature of his program doesn't permit it—for while he is on the Mutual network coast to coast he has a different sponsor in every city—two pants suits, margarine, buses, tires, and the fishing and plumbing industries being among the enterprises that underwrite his show.

Jessel wonders what sort of an effect might be achieved if one could hear all the announcers in the various cities discoursing at once. The complexion of his sponsorship does impose a handicap on him. Unlike Jack Benny, he cannot weave the commercials into the entertainment portion of his show. By the time he made a gesture to each one the program would be over.

Jessel, who did a guest turn with Jack Benny last Sunday, has been invited to make six appearances with him next year.

The "It Can Be Done" show, featuring Eddie Guest and success story dramas, moved across town from NBC to CBS Wednesday evening without, however, changing its style or pace much. Frankie Masters and Jim Blade pitched up a new theme song for it which they call, "My Heart Is My Master," and there were three announcers—Vincent Pelletier, Truman Bradley and Brett Morrison—instead of the customary one.

Ken Stevens, who used to sing with Harold Stokes, and more recently with the Hymns of All Churches choral group, has departed for Hollywood where he will work for M-G-M. . . . Voltaire Defaut, WGN clarinetist, won a flock of blue ribbons with his Schnauzers at the dog show. . . . Carl Hoefle, pianist-arranger with Tom, Dick and Harry, is building a home in Hollywood.

President Roosevelt's Pan-American day address next Thursday, is to be broadcast at 11 a. m. . . . Deanna Durbin is set to make a guest appearance in "Mad About Music" on the Radio Theater from Hollywood on Monday, April 18. . . . Massachusetts legislature is pondering a bill to outlaw the broadcasting of races, or racing news. . . . Art Van Harvey, Vic of Vic and Sade, is back on the air but still on crutches. He fell in a theater where the act was making a personal appearance.

Hospital Is Reorganized Under New Directorship

The hospital at 6970 North Clark street, formerly known as the Will Rogers Memorial hospital, has been reorganized as the Physicians Memorial hospital, it was learned yesterday. New directors have taken over the lease from officers of the defunct corporation, who were ousted by a Circuit court order recently because of an alleged connection with a nation-wide lottery. The institution is under the supervision of a bondholders' committee of Rogers Park business men who took over the property when it was thrown into receivership several years ago.

OBITUARIES

Detective Charles G. Sweeney.

Detective Charles G. Sweeney of the Sheffield avenue station died last night in the Grant hospital. Death was caused by pneumonia following an operation for gallstones. Detective Sweeney was 51 years old and lived at 414 Webster avenue. He was a member of the police force for 25 years and had won several citations for meritorious conduct. He is survived by his widow, Frances; two sons, Fireman Edward and Robert Sweeney; two daughters, Violet Sweeney and Mrs. Dorothy Peterson, and a brother, Policeman Clarence Sweeney of the Town Hall station.

Louis Newmark.

Funeral services for Louis Newmark, a jeweler in Chicago for 45 years, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the chapel at 3021 Fullerton avenue. Burial will be in Waldheim cemetery. Mr. Newmark, a native of Russia, had a store at 1607 West Chicago avenue, where he also lived, and at 8 Madison street, Oak Park. He died Tuesday in his home. Surviving are a son, A. E. Newmark, and four daughters, Miss Beatrice Newmark, Mrs. Stella Friedman, Mrs. Annabelle Gollos, and Mrs. Idorna Loren.

Horace Lee Clark.

Urbana, Ill., April 7.—[Special.]—Funeral services for Horace Lee Clark, 80 years old, will be held tomorrow. He died at his home here today. Mr. Clark spent forty years as a teacher in the public schools, 25 years of that in Chicago. He moved here in 1925.

Anthony L. Conrad.

Anthony L. Conrad, who retired March 31 as assistant general auditor of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, died yesterday in his home in the Edgewater Beach hotel. He was 73 years old. Mr. Conrad had been with the Santa Fe system since 1891, when he started work as a traveling auditor. He was nationally known in railway accounting and statistical circles. His widow and a son survive.

Walter B. Walker.

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—Attorney Walter Bertrand Walker, 57 years old, died today in the Harkness pavilion of the Columbia Presbyterian medical center after an illness of a week. Mr. Walker's home was at Ardsley-on-Hudson. In 1931 Samuel Seabury appointed Mr. Walker as an associate counsel to assist in various investigations.

A. J. Lee.

Bedford, Ind., April 7.—[Special.]—A. J. Lee, 72 years old, secretary treasurer of the National Farm Loan association, is dead of cerebral hemorrhage. He was a former Lawrence county sherif and former Bedford chief of police.

Warren W. Clute.

$20,000 AWARDED TO SHANAHAN'S DEATH BED BRIDE

Mrs. Helen Troesch Shanahan, death bed bride of David E. Shanahan, for many years speaker of the Illinois house of representatives, was awarded $20,000 by Probate Judge John F. O'Connell yesterday as part of her distributive share of his $750,000 estate. Mrs. Shanahan, who had been the legislator's secretary and who married him secretly in Mercy hospital, thirteen days before his death, also received $3,000 for her services as executrix.

Last December she received $2,000 in executrix fees as well as a widow's award of $18,000. Shanahan's two cousins, the Misses Mary and Margaret Flynn, are attempting to set aside the secret marriage and the will. Their attorney, Eugene P. Kealy, said he will appeal yesterday's award.

HOLD LAST RITES TOMORROW FOR R. M. SWEITZER

Funeral services for Robert M. Sweitzer, former county clerk and county treasurer, will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in Our Lady of Sorrows church, 3121 Jackson boulevard. The Rev. C. P. Lyons and the Rev. Patrick Condon will officiate. Burial will be in All Saints cemetery.

Mr. Sweitzer, a leader in Cook county Democratic politics for 25 years, died Wednesday night in St. Anne's hospital at the age of 69. Surviving are his widow, Alice; three children, Robert Jr. and Margaret Sweitzer, and Mrs. Roger Scott Jr. and two grandchildren.

ACCEPT RESIGNATION OF COLE AS HEAD OF KALAMAZOO COLLEGE

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 7.—[Special.]—Trustees of Kalamazoo college today accepted the resignation of Dr. Stewart Grant Cole, president for the last two years, and refused to renew the contract of Dr. Carey K. Ganong, professor of economics. Both actions become effective at the close of the academic term June 13. Appointment of a steering committee to direct college affairs pending the appointment of a successor to Dr. Cole was authorized.

The shakeup in staf personnel was an aftermath of the three day student strike starting Dec. 13 in protest to the announced dismissal of Dr. Ganong. Dr. Cole said at that time his objections centered about teaching methods and the fact Dr. Ganong continued to remain a Canadian subject. Dr. Cole, who is also a native of Canada, is naturalized. The strike ended when Dr. Cole reinstated the economics professor pending action by the board of trustees.

Woman Wins $10,000 from City for Crash Injuries

A jury in the court of Judge Martin Gridley returned a verdict for $10,000 yesterday in favor of Mrs. Adeline Pleticka, 5433 Cermak road, who sued the city for loss of her right eye in an automobile accident in 1936. Mrs. Pleticka, who is 22 years old, testified she was injured when the car in which she was riding struck a depression in Cermak road near Clifton Park avenue. The car swerved and hit a street car, throwing her through the windshield.

FRANC DECLINES; FRENCH BANK'S LOANS SET PEAK

Note Circulation Highest in History.

Growing concern over the French financial situation forced the franc down 0.02 of a cent to 3.06½ cents in foreign exchange dealings yesterday. Fears of inflation were fanned by the weekly report of the Bank of France showing that both advances to the French government and notes in circulation reached all-time high marks during the week ended April 2.

The French unit dipped to 3.05⅞ after publication of the bank's statement. A rally followed on the announcement that the French senate finance commission had rejected Premier Leon Blum's financial proposals. Prices sagged again late in the day on news of street disorders in Paris.

Borrowings of the French government at the bank during the week totaled 1,900,000,000 francs [approximately $58,520,000], bringing the bank's total advances to the government to 38,573,000,000 francs [approximately $1,188,048,400].

The note issue of the bank increased 3,279,000,000 francs [approximately $100,279,200]. This brought the total to 98,094,000,000 francs [approximately $3,021,295,200].

The statement also showed that the reserve ratio of the bank had dropped to 45.84 per cent from 46.81 per cent a week earlier. The new ratio was the lowest since Nov. 8, 1929.

The new peak in borrowings by the French government from the bank exceeded the high mark of 38,350,000,000 francs reached on July 22, 1926, at the height of the post-war currency inflation in France.

Import Excess is Reduced.

A favorable development was the issuance of a government report showing that the excess of imports over exports had decresed to 296,000,000 francs [approximately $39,916,000] during March from 1,387,000,00 francs [approximately $42,719,000] in March, 1937.

Other European currencies moved within narrow ranges yesterday. The British pound closed unchanged at $4.96¼, and the Belgian belga advanced 0.00½ of a cent. The Swiss franc advanced 0.01 of a cent. The Netherlands guilder lost 0.01 cent.

Engagement of $2,100,000 of gold in England for shipment to the United States was reported by the New York Federal Reserve bank.

Silver rose 0.29 of a cent to 42.73 cents an ounce in London, and silver futures climbed 0.40 to 0.60 of a cent an ounce in Montreal. The United States treasury again posted a bid of 43 cents an ounce for foreign silver.

Easter Holiday Buying Is Lacking This Year.

Montgomery Ward & Co., large Chicago mail order organization, reported yesterday that its sales last month were 11.84 per cent smaller than those in March, 1937. For February and March, the first two months of the company's fiscal year, sales were 7.94 per cent below the corresponding period of last year. The larger decline for March was attributed in part to Easter business which swelled March figures last year. Easter comes later this year.

Ward's sales last month amounted to $30,796,876, compared with $34,931,168 in March, 1937. This year's two month total was $52,561,381, against $57,091,733 in the corresponding period of last year when all-time records for the company were set.

S. H. Kress Reports Decrease.

S. H. Kress & Co. reported March sales were $6,053,588 or 18.7 per cent less than the $7,447,028 of a year ago. The February decrease from last year was 4.2 per cent, and the total for the three months ended March 31 was $16,569,975, or 8.7 per cent less than the $18,150,935 sales in the first quarter of 1937.

Sales of McCrory Stores fell 15½ per cent in March, compared with 0.8 of 1 per cent in February. The decrease for the first quarter of the year was 6.9 per cent.

Lane Bryant sales dipped 10 per cent in March, compared with 8 per cent in February. The three month decline was 8.7 per cent.

LEHIGH VALLEY LOAN APPROVED CONDITIONALLY

Washington, D. C., April 7.—(AP)—The Lehigh Valley Railroad company received the interstate commerce commission's permission today to borrow $778,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The commission said the railroad "states it is unable to obtain any additional bank credits at this time and believes it cannot secure additional funds by sale of its bonds to the public at present."

The commission made its approval conditional upon the railroad pledging to apply on the loan any payments resulting from its "Black Tom" claim against the German government. This the Lehigh Valley agreed to do.

The $10,000,000 claim against Germany, now pending before the mixed claims commission, grew out of an explosion and fire at the railroad's Black Tom [Jersey City] terminal in New York harbor, July 30, 1916.

Bendix Aviation.

Investors' Guide: I see that Bendix Aviation stock has sold under $9 a share recently. Is that not about as low as it reached in 1932? Please tell me about this company.—A. C. T.

Answer: Although Bendix Aviation stock has recently been selling at its lowest price since 1933, it fell to $4.50 a share in 1932. The low price in 1933 was $6.12½.

Bendix Aviation is a holding company controling about 20 domestic subsidiaries and their foreign affiliates. The subsidiaries manufacture a wide variety of products used by the automotive, aviation, marine, and other industries.

Bendix supplies the major part of the brakes, carburetors, and automatic clutches used in the manufacture of automobiles. Among products made for the aircraft industry are starters, generators, fuel injection systems, magnetos, instruments, and radio directional compasses.

Net income for 1937 declined to $2,255,133, or $1.08 a capital share, from $3,025,490, or $1.44 a share, in 1936. The corporation lost $1,601,242 in 1932 and earned $7,416,409, or $3.65 a share, in 1929. Current assets were $16,586,809 and current liabilities were $3,919,124, at the end of 1937. Total assets were $31,797,407.

The corporation has 2,097,663 shares of $5 par capital stock outstanding, of which General Motors corporation owns a little less than 25 per cent. Several General Motors officials also are officers or directors of Bendix Aviation corporation.

Dividends totaled $1 a share in 1937, $1.50 in 1936, and 25 cents in 1935. The dividend usually payable in March was not paid this year.

SIMMONS OMITS DIVIDEND UNTIL LATER IN YEAR

First Quarter Profit Far Below Year Ago.

Directors of the Simmons company, a leading manufacturer of bedding and furniture, decided yesterday to defer dividend action until later in the year. This action came after the annual stockholders' meeting at which Grant G. Simmons, president, said the company "undoubtedly made a little money in the first quarter, although profits will be far below a year ago."

"It is unpleasant to advise you that a distribution at this time seems inadvisable," said Simmons in a special letter to stockholders after the board meeting. "The company is strong financially. The directors deemed it in the stockholders best interests to so remain until the future becomes clear.

Hopes For Dividend Later.

"I believe business is scraping bottom. Should we continue to meet with the usual normal seasonal gain, there would be hope for a modest distribution later on.

"Because of the nature of our bedding business, the company has felt that quarterly reports would be confusing, if not actually misleading, and for this reason none are published. However, the present situation is so extraordinary that your management feels some comment to be due at this time.

"I am glad to be able to say as regards bedding that, taking December as a base, January, February, and March have shown almost their normal seasonal increase. Thus our bedding business is no worse than it was, but unfortunately no better.

Calls Prediction Guesswork.

"Due to relative inactivity there is no trend and predictions are guesswork. Our textile business remains relatively much worse than bedding. This is typical of the industry."

Among regular dividends declared yesterday were those of Pacific Lighting corporation and Shawinigan Water and Power company. American Machine and Foundry company declared a 20 cent dividend, continuing the reduced rate established Feb. 1 after four payments of 25 cents last year.

Mid-Continental Petroleum corporation will pay only 25 cents a share on June 1, compared with $1 in December and 50 cents a year ago.

STOCK EXCHANGE REPEALS RULE ON QUOTING BONDS

New York, April 7.—[Special]—Repeal of a rule regarding publication of bond quotations was announced today by the New York Stock exchange committee on bonds. The rule declared that any bid or offer supplied to a concern disseminating quotations would be regarded as an advertisment and could not be supplied without the prior approval of the committee on bonds.

The change was made to relieve bond traders of the necessity of maintaining markets the following morning at the "advertised" prices. Closing time for publication of the bond quotation sheets is noon and they do not appear until the following morning.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Spring Gets Setback.

April 7, 1938.

WHEN snow fell on the experimental farm it produced a picture around the big pond that brought the aquatic birds into the spotlight. With binoculars you could stand back in the brush near the pond and see white swans on their nests surrounded by low banks of drifted snow. And not far away were nesting wild geese, also on eggs, while around them stretched the fresh white snow which must have made the birds think that the weather man had played a rather mean April fool's joke on them.

One of the most thrilling events of the season is the presence of a flock of fifteen or sixteen wild geese on the farm pond, attracted to this possible nesting place by the presence of the Canadian honkers that are domesticated and live on the pond during the whole year. The birds came several weeks ago and were seen by the flockmaster when he visited the pond every day to leave feed for the birds. Days went by and still the wild honkers stayed on.

The boys were quite excited about the outlook, because indications were that the wild honkers were going to mate, build nests, and stay on the pond this year. For several weeks everybody has taken care not to disturb the geese as well as the nesting white swans. Now it is definitly established that the visiting geese have settled down to stay. Doubtless some of the wild honkers have mated with the farm geese.

Wild Geese Nesting.

We wanted to take a look at Half Moon pond [the spring and summer home of the Muscovys], but the flockmaster reported that at least two Canadian honker nests were nearby, so we stayed away from Half Moon when we were on the farm this week. It seems that the wild birds fly over to Half Moon, spend some time there each day and then back they go to the big pond. A pair of wild mallards also is nesting near Half Moon pond. So, in spite of snow and cool weather, spring is in the forefront around the ponds on the farm. The nesting activities of the swans, geese, and ducks offer proof that the new season is not to be thrust very far backward by any snowfall that April may bring.

The migrating ducks and geese evidently have "inside information" that the snow is just a passing fancy of the weather man, because during the night that the snow fell so heavily a flock of mallards came up from the south to meet the wild birds which were already there. The next morning these mallards were waddling up to the feeding station at the edge of the pond to take their meals with the rest of the wild birds.

Wild Birds Friendly.

The flockmaster reports that the wild ducks and geese are willing to accept him as their friend as long as he remains on his horse when he comes to feed them. So he has sacks of grain tied to the saddle in such a way that he can dig in and give them their meals without dismounting. If he does dismount the ducks and geese fly to one of the other ponds. Of course the approach of any stranger scares the birds and causes them to take to the air.

The Muscovy duck which is incubating a nestful of eggs in the basement window ledge of one of the farm cottages got some special attention the morning after the snow storm. The snow failed to dislodge the bird from her nest, so the boys had to get some feed to her. This was quite a job, since there was a four foot snowdrift blocking the path to her nest. The boys shoveled it away, however, and gave the persistent Muscovy her meals of grain.

OIL COMPANIES FLOUT MEXICAN PAYMENT OFFER

Want Cash on Basis of Present Value.

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—Executives of American and British oil companies whose properties have been seized by the Mexican government today stated that they would not accept the proposal made on Thursday by President Cardenas to pay for the expropriated oil properties from 20 per cent of the proceeds received from the sale abroad of oil derived from them.

They explained that, under international law and the constitution of Mexico, the only valid payment for the seized properties must be in cash at their just value at the time of the taking.

Based on the present offering price for Mexican crude oil for export of 50 to 60 cents a barrel and a normal export movement of 25,000,000 barrels annually, the average for the last few years, they say such a method of payment would not even cover annual interest charges on the value of the expropriated properties.

Payment Less Than Interest.

At a price of 60 cents a barrel, the Mexican government would receive about $15,000,000 annually for its oil exports, of which 20 per cent would be $3,000,000. As the expropriated oil properties are valued by the companies at about $350,000,000, the interest on this sum at 4 per cent would be $14,000,000 yearly.

Payment for the oil properties in such a manner over a period of years, oil executives assert, contemplates certain speculative conditions which may never be realized. It presupposes that the efficiency and capacity of governmental administrators to manage and operate the properties, they contend, and that existing oil fields will last until payment has been accomplished. In addition, they state that the continuance of such a payment would depend upon not only on President Cardenas, but upon any future president of the country.

Doubt Mexico Can Make Profit.

Unless the oil properties are managed so as to produce a profit far larger than the oil companies have been able to derive from them, they assert it would be impossible for Mexico to set aside 20 per cent of the proceeds from oil exports and have sufficient funds left to pay operating costs of the properties.

The contention of the oil companies is that the Mexican government nor any one has the right to sell any oil derived from the expropriated properties until full compensation has been made to the oil companies. Executives of these companies today stated that the question of Mexico selling oil from the expropriated properties has been taken up with the state department at Washington and that they will take the necessary legal action to recover such oil wherever they might find it.

Report Japan Seeks Foothold.

MEXICO CITY, April 7.—(AP)—Japanese interests have offered to buy into a strategic Mexican oil company, it was reported tonight. Jorge Viesca y Palma, an attorney who said he was the principal stockholder of the Chontla company, which he organized two years ago, said Japanese had offered to buy all or part of his holdings.

The company has valuable concessions in Vera Cruz state, just across the Gulf of Mexico from the United States navy station at Guantanamo bay, Cuba. Its concessions are on 253 lots, each about 100 acres, in the vicinity of Minatitlan, Vera Cruz, on the Atlantic ocean side of the Tehuantepec isthmus, the narrowest point of North America.

Report Japs Seek Pipeline.

Tokio dispatches recently said Japanese promoters were interested in building a pipeline across the 120 mile isthmus, from Salina Cruz on the Pacific coast to Minatitlan, about 600 miles south of Brownsville, Tex.

[In previous years engineers have discussed the advisability of a canal across this strategic isthmus. Presumably a pipe line right of way would be of a width sufficient for a good highway system.]

The Chontla concessions are near the site of the rich holdings of the Aguila [Royal Dutch Shell] Oil company, expropriated by President Lazaro Cardenas along with sixteen other British and American oil companies on March 18.

Doubt Success of Oil Deal.

Executives of the expropriated companies said they heard negotiations were "not going so well" with Francis W. Rickett, British promoter, and Bernard E. Smith, New York stock broker, seeking to purchase Mexican oil.

President Cardenas was reported dissatisfied with the low price of 63 cents a barrel said to have been proffered by Smith and Rickett. Finance Minister Eduardo Suarez was understood to have requested the Briton and American to put into writing their offer made orally yesterday.

Mexican Envoy Departs.

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—Dr. Francisco Castillo Najera, the Mexican ambassador, left today for Mexico City to discuss the oil controversy with President Lazaro Cardenas. The trip was arranged several days ago so that the ambassador may return with complete reports of the position of his government.

If plans that Mexico has for making compensation for expropriated properties are not considered adequate here, presumably the information the ambassador brings will serve as a basis of negotiations looking to a more satisfactory arrangement.

Two Big Oil Firms Earn More in 1937

Higher earnings for 1937 were reported yesterday by two makers of petroleum products, Consolidated Oil corporation and Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation. The Independent Pneumatic Tool company, Chicago, also showed an increase in profits for last year.

Harry F. Sinclair

Net profit of Consolidated Oil for 1937 amounted to $20,809,295, or $1.47 a common share, compared with $16,728,929, or $1.18 a share in 1936. Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the executive committee, said the company's subsidiaries in Mexico made no contribution to Consolidated profits for 1937.

Comments on Mexican Action.

Commenting on the recent expropriation by the Mexican government of foreign owned oil properties, including those of Consolidated Oil subsidiaries, Sinclair said:

"The terms of the labor contract which the government sought to enforce would have involved wage increases largely in excess of the total earnings of the companies and also surrender of management of the properties. For these reasons, all of the American and British owned oil companies were unable to accept the terms of the contract.

"Protest against the seizure of our properties has been presented to the department of state and every effort will be made to protect our Mexican interests."

Analyzes Oil Situation.

Mid-Continent Petroleum reported for 1937 net income of $5,304,877, or $2.85 a share, against 1936 net of $4,777,578, or $2.57 a share. Jacob France, president, said in a statement to stockholders:

"The situation in the oil industry is not wholly lacking in encouragement. We believe the current situation will eventually be corrected, and in the meantime the company is in a strong financial position, its properties are in excellent condition and require no unusual capital expenditures. Its oil reserves are the largest in its history, the demand for its products steadily is increasing, and all of its departments are operating efficiently.

The company's current assets at the end of 1937, including cash of $7,262,122, were $22,333,875. Current liabilities were $3,929,767. Inventories of refined and crude oils totaled $10,381,074, compared with $9,269,330 at the end of 1936.

Pneumatic Tool Earns More.

Independent Pneumatic Tool for 1937 showed net profit of $1,153,639, or $3.07 a capital share. This compared with net profit in 1936 of $1,096,272, or $2.92 a share, on the same per share basis.

Neil C. Hurley, president, told stockholders that engineering developments of last year had contributed largely to the increased profits.

Sales of the Dixie-Vortex company, Chicago manufacturer of paper cups and containers, for the first quarter of 1938 were almost 10 per cent less than in the corresponding 1937 period, Robert C. Fenner, president, told stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday.

North West Utilities company, a unit in the Middle West system, reported consolidated net income of $11,336, after deducting a full year's dividend requirements on the preferred stocks of subsidiaries. This compared with net profit of $182,863 in 1936.

Rail Express Doing Well.

L. O. Head, president of Railway Express Agency, Inc., told stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday that business was holding up well in the face of the general business recession. The company, he said, is handling about the same number of shipments as in 1937 with the dollar volume of revenues about 10 per cent lower. Operating expenses have been materialy increased by wage adjustments, increased costs of materials and supplies and taxes, he added.

BLAKE BROTHERS, BROKER FIRM, TO BE DISSOLVED

Blake Brothers & Co. announced yesterday that the partnership doing a brokerage business under that name will expire April 30 and the Chicago and New York offices will be closed on that date. Lawrence Howe, a partner, will become a general partner of Shearson, Hammill & Co.

Another merger of New York Stock exchange firms was indicated with the disclosure yesterday of negotiations between Goodbody & Co. and Jenks, Gwynne & Co. Jenks, Gwynne & Co. would be dissolved and its business transferred to Goodbody & Co., it was said.

Plans to liquidate Wrenn Brothers & Co. were reported under way yesterday.

Pelley Tells President of Railway Need

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—The immediate need of American railroads is more money, which can be obtained only by increasing rates, cutting wages, or effecting consolidations, John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, told President Roosevelt today.

John J. Pelley.

The railway executive was summoned to the White House to discuss the six point program, prepared at the direction of the President by three interstate commerce commissioners, for rehabilitation of the 26 billion dollar industry.

The report, which has not yet been made public, contemplated creation of a court which would speed reorganizations, liberalize RFC loans, establish a transportation study board, ease loan requirements, modify the bankruptcy act and encourage consolidations.

Need Immediate Relief.

Pelley told the President that the report was not immediate in character. Its recommendations, he said, were admirable, but long range in nature.

What the industry needs, he said, is immediate relief, which must bring more money into the treasury. Loans cannot help because the roads, for the most part, have borrowed up to the hilt already, he insisted.

He said he knew of only three ways in which the roads could get more money—get more for their services, pay less for services performed, and railroad consolidations. The last, he said, was the slowest way.

Pelley told the President that the roads had tried the first way recently in their request for a rate increase upon which the ICC recently acted. The roads were given a small increase about one-third of the 15 per cent increase they sought. The ICC decision closed that way for the moment.

Hope to Avoid Wage Cuts.

Railroad management, he told the President, is anxious to avoid wage cuts. After the conference Pelley reported that the President said he would like to see the railroad problem worked out without wage cuts.

In discussions of consolidations he pointed out to the President that some money could be saved by the carriers but emphasized that the processes of consolidation would take legislation and time.

"I found the President very sympathetic with our situation and anxious to do anything he can consistently to help in the situation," Pelley said. "He is quite interested in anything that can be done to raise the roads' net income."

The railway executive said that the railroads had not suggested that the government offer carriers a subsidy. At his press conference Tuesday Roosevelt declared himself firmly opposed to the granting of a railroad subsidy on the ground that other industries would besiege the government for handouts.

FDIC SURPLUS CLIMBS ABOVE 100 MILLIONS

Washington, D. C., April 7.—(AP)—Chairman Leo T. Crowley announced tonight that the surplus of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation has passed the $100,000,000 mark.

Since its formation Sept. 11, 1933, the corporation has collected $92,251,513 of assessments on insured banks and has received $35,302,939 in interest and profits on its investments. After deduction of administrative expenses and cost of liquidating banks that failed, the income on investments exceeded expenditures by $8,451,808.

The FDIC insures deposits up to $5,000 in 17,150 banks.

Indiana Bell Telephone Drops Rate Boost Plea

Indianapolis, Ind., April 7.—[Special.]—The Indiana Bell Telephone company will amend its petition for a state-wide adjustment of rates, thereby eliminating a request for increased charges, the company announced today.

BANK CLEARINGS FALL BELOW YEAR AGO FOR TWENTY-FIRST WEEK

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—Bank clearings in twenty-two leading cities of the country in the first week of April were reported today at $5,622,128,000 by Dun & Bradstreet. The figure represents a gain of 24.7 per cent over previous week, but was 15.6 per cent under the $6,659,751,000 reported for the corresponding week a year ago.

This marked the twenty-first successive weekly decline from the previous year's comparative figures. The spread from last year, however, is narrowing a little, the current week's 15.6 per cent comparing with 21.8 per cent loss in the last week of March.

The total clearings for the latest period were $1,114,461,000 more than those of the last week in March. Only part of this gain was accounted for by usual first-of-month checks.

New York clearings were $3,683,924,000, which was 14.2 per cent under figures of the 1937 level. Total transactions for the twenty-one cities outside New York were $1,938,204,000, or 18 per cent less than the total of the 1937 week.

Clearings at Chicago amounted to $296,900,000, or 18.4 per cent under the 1937 mark of $363,700,000. Each of the twenty-two cities showed losses against the 1937 comparative week, many of them being higher than the New York City loss.

BUILDING SETS HIGHEST MARCH TOTAL SINCE '30

New York, April 7.—(AP)—Construction contracts awarded in March at $259,118,000 were the highest for that month since 1930, the Engineering News-Record reported today, gaining 32 per cent over the same period last year.

Private construction was $124,960,000, or 22 per cent above the 1937 total, and government sponsored building, local and federal, chalked up a 43 per cent increase and amounted to $134,158,000.

Construction awards for the week ended April 7, the News-Record stated, were 22 per cent below last year, the result principally of a 56 per cent slump in private awards. Public construction was 20 per cent above the 1937 week.

Values of awards for the latest week, the previous week, and a year ago, compared as follows [last three ciphers omitted]:

CANADA BUYING AMERICAN FLOUR; WHEAT SCARCE

MONTREAL, Que., April 7.—[Special.]—United States milling companies are shipping flour in fairly large quantities to Canada, which normally has large surpluses. In the seven months ended Feb. 28, imports of United States flour aggregated 41,947 barrels.

Most of this flour was made from soft winter wheat. It was shipped principally to the Pacific coast, although some has gone into the prairie districts. None of it has come east.

The shipments were made despite a duty of 50 cents a barrel. The high prices asked for Canadian wheat since last summer, in comparison with United States wheat, have made possible the business. These high prices are reflected in the price of Canadian flour, and are due to the light supplies of wheat that have been held in Canada since last year because of the poor crop and small carryover in 1937.

FCC Approval of Hearst's Radio Sale Is Requested

Washington, D. C., April 7.—(AP)—The federal communications commission was asked today to approve the sale by Hearst Radio, Inc., to Earle C. Anthony, Inc., of the license for station KEHE at Los Angeles. The application said the purchase price was $400,000. KEHE operates on a frequency of 790 kilocycles with a daytime power of 5 kilowatts and night power of 1 kilowatt. Anthony operates stations KFI and KECA at Los Angeles.

Cotton Exchange Declares April 15 and 16 Holidays

Stock Trading Smallest Since Sept. 4, 1934

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 7.—Stock market trading today shrank to the lowest total since Sept. 4, 1934, and prices declined moderately. The turnover was only 330,850 shares.

Observers said that news developments that might ordinarily affect trading were generally ignored. The market was cold to reports of President Roosevelt's plan to launch a spending campaign to stimulate industry. Traders were said to be awaiting actual developments. The French political and financial crisis also was said to be a retarding influence.

Steels, Metals, Motors Lead.

Steels, metals, and motors made the most frequent appearances on the tape. Steels were fractionally lower, although U. S. Steel common came back to Wednesday's final. Chrysler acted similarly in the motors, and General Motors bulged a fraction. Anaconda and International Nickel managed to add fractions, and American Smelting and Kennecott closed unchanged. Mother Lode, most active stock, closed unchanged.

Carrier share price movements were narrow in limited trading. Southern Pacific and New York Central edged fractionally higher, but the majority of other favorites dipped modestly. Union Pacific lost one point.

Utility issues closed fractionally lower. After several sessions of wide swings, American Telephone moved within narrow limits and showed a half point loss at the close. Consolidated Edison was about the weakest "power" issue, giving up ¾ point.

Chemical Swing Wider.

Some of the widest swings occurred in the chemicals, with du Pont and Air Reduction each losing more than one point. Allied closed unchanged. Case and Deere were relatively firm spots in the farm implement shares, the former adding one point and the latter closing unchanged. Allis Chalmers and International Harvester gave ground.

Westinghouse gained one point in the electric equipments, as General Electric slipped a minor fraction. Oils showed small losses, except for Standard of New Jersey which dropped 1½ points.

A few inactive issues, such as Pacific Telephone, General Gas and Electric preferred, and Republic Steel preferred advanced 3 and 5 points in thin markets. U. S. Steel preferred and American Can slumped 2 points.

MARCH BUSINESS OF FHA ABOVE 100 MILLION DOLLARS

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—Gross business substantially in excess of $100,000,000 was transacted by the Federal Housing administration during March, surpassing all previous records of the organization, according to figures made public today by Stewart McDonald, administrator.

Home mortgages selected for appraisal amounted to $95,161,202, an increase of 40 per cent over the March 1937 total of $68,045,452. Of the mortgages selected for appraisal slightly more than 50 per cent covers homes to be constructed. It is estimated that an additional 20 to 25 per cent represent homes under construction at date of application for insurance of completion within the last year and still unoccupied.

I.C.C. Halts Higher Charge at Chicago Stock Yards

Washington, D. C., April 7.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission suspended today a tarif by the Union Stock Yard and Transit company, Chicago, which would have increased by 10 per cent the charges for loading and unloading live stock. The increased tarif was suspended to Nov. 7, next. In the meantime the commission said it would conduct a hearing to determine the "lawfulness of the rates, charges, regulations and practices."

San Francisco's Curb Exchange to Dissolve

San Francisco, Cal., April 7.—(AP)—The San Francisco Curb exchange voted to dissolve today. The vote followed an offer by the San Francisco Stock exchange ten days ago to absorb the curb's trading functions. No date for the dissolution was set.

LEHMAN CORP. SELLS STOCKS, PILES UP CASH

Investment Trust's Changes Reported.

How the Lehman corporation, large New York investment trust of the management type, had been selling large blocks of common stock holdings and piling up its holdings of cash and government securities was disclosed yesterday in the quarterly report of Robert Lehman, president, for the period ended March 31.

Robert Lehman, reports higher profits.

On March 31, the report said, 35.5 per cent of the company's gross assets were represented by cash and receivables, and United States government securities, which totaled, at the market, $18,740,179, equal to $9 a share on the 2,081,580 shares outstanding. On Dec. 31, 1937, these items totaled $14,977,896, or 23.9 per cent of the gross assets, equal to $7.20 a share, and on June 30, 1937—the end of the fiscal year— they totaled only $2,918,866 or 3.3 per cent of gross assets, equal to $1.40 a share.

Net Asset Value Lower.

The net asset value as of March 31, 1938, was approximately $24.92 a share, against $29.28 a share on Dec. 31, 1937, reflecting the sharp decline in prices of securities. The cost of all assets of the corporation on that date was $70,882,995, and the market value, based on market quotations on March 31, was $53,150,303.

In the three month period the corporation sold 176,500 shares of stock and $644,000 principal amount of bonds, and purchased 51,900 shares of stock and $35,000 principal amount of bonds. Transactions in United States government securities are not included in the report on bond transactions. Shares sold the most heavily included steel, electrical equipment, and oil common stocks. Among bonds the rails were most heavily sold.

Earnings for Nine Months.

Net earnings of the corporation for the nine months ended March 31 were $1,134,222. This does not include provision for the federal surtax on undistributed profits.

Sales of 2,500 or more shares during the three month period were as follows: Campbell, Wyant & Cannon Foundry, 2,500; Crane, 5,000; Walworth, 4,000; Union Carbide & Carbon, 4,000; American Crystal Sugar, 4,500; General Cable, 4,000; General Electric, 5,200; Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing, 3,200; Paramount Pictures, 3,593; Montgomery Ward & Co., 2,900; Revere Copper and Brass, 3,300; Gulf Oil, 4,200; Humble Oil and Refining, 2,500; Phillips Petroleum, 3,200; Standard Oil of Indiana, 5,000; Tide Water Associated Oil, 9,000; Bethlehem Steel, 7,500; and United States Steel, 21,000.

Some Holdings Increased.

Increases in holdings by 1,000 or more shares included: United Aircraft, 1,200; American Radiator & Standard Sanitary, 4,000; Anaconda Copper Mining, 2,000; International Nickel of Canada, 1,700; Kennecott Copper, 3,500; St. Joseph Lead, 1,500; Standard Oil of New Jersey, 3,300; and American Steel Foundries, 1,000.

New acquisitions of 1,000 or more shares included: Caterpillar Tractor, 1,000; Deere & Co., 5,000; Oliver Farm Equipment, 2,000; Air Reduction, 1,100; United Fruit, 3,000; RKO corporation, 4,530, and International Telephone and Telegraph, 10,000.

Stocks eliminated from the portfolio included: National Lead, 3,000; Jewel Tea, 1,500; Revere Copper and Brass "A," 1,700; Atlantic Refining, 1,000; Creole Petroleum, 1,000; Southern Pacific, 2,800, and Allegheny Steel, 5,100.

Chevrolet's Retail Sales Expand 57 Pct. in March

New York, April 7.—[Special]—Retail sales of Chevrolet cars totaled 62,639 units in March, a gain of 57 per cent over February. In the final ten days, sales were 27,606 new cars and trucks. Chevrolet dealers sold 130,788 used cars in March, against 116,915 in February, a gain of 12 per cent, making 5,630,886 used cars sold by the dealers in the last thirty-seven months during which sales have exceeded 100,000 monthly without interruption.

Kresge Files 1,200,000 Shares of Common Stock

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—The S. S. Kresge company, Detroit, today filed a registration statement covering 1,200,000 shares of $10 par value common stock. No public offering is contemplated. Of the shares registered, 1,100,000 are pledged as security for $10,000,000 collateral trust notes of the Kresge Foundation.

Reserve Gives Aid to U. S. Bond Market

The report of the federal reserve system issued yesterday indicated that the reserve banks actively supported the government bond market in the week ended Wednesday when the prices of government issues and other securities developed weakness.

The statement showed an increase of 46 million dollars over the preceding week in long term government bonds held by the 12 central banks of the system. A corresponding reduction in holdings of shorter term government paper, consisting of treasury bills and notes, was reported by the banks. As a result the total holdings of government securities showed no change for the week.

Used to Check Deflation.

Open market purchases of government bonds by the reserve banks was one of the first methods adopted in the early years of the depression to check deflationary forces. The central banks increased their holdings of government paper to about 2½ billion dollars, the chief result of which was a big increase in idle bank reserves. The market operations were then discontinued and not resumed until about a year ago. Since then the open market committee of the reserve board has endeavored to exert an influence without increasing the total holdings of the banks by acquiring one class of government securities and selling another type at the same time.

Idle Reserves Increase.

The idle reserves of member banks of the federal system increased 20 millions last week, reaching 1 billion 580 million dollars, the highest mark since the present bank reserve requirements became effective.

Chicago and New York banks reported a shrinkage in commercial loans and substantial expansion in investments in government securities during the week. Collateral loans of New York banks to brokers and dealers declined 39 million dollars.

MARKET LEADERS TO TESTIFY IN WHITNEY PROBE

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—A number of prominent financial figures, including Charles R. Gay, president of the New York Stock exchange; George Whitney, partner of J. P. Morgan & Co.; E. H. H. Simmons, one time head of the exchange, and members of the institution's gratuity fund committee, are expected to appear tomorrow as witnesses at the opening of the Security and Exchange commission's hearings into the affairs of Richard Whitney & Co., failed brokerage house, it was revealed today.

Gay, Simmons, and a number of other prominent members of the exchange appeared before the commission last week in private hearings. It is also expected that Richard Whitney may be one of the witnesses. The hearings will be transferred to Washington after the conclusion of the New York inquiry.

The commission will seek to determine whether any of the federal statutes were violated in addition to the infractions of state laws.

VIRGINIA UTILITY OUSTS PRESIDENT WITH COURT AID

Charlottesville, Va., April 7.—(AP)—Stockholders of the Virginia Public Service company today discharged their president, Alexander Speer, and put in his place M. J. O'Connell of Warrenton, Va.

A federal District court order at Richmond this morning cleared the way for the ouster of Speer, who recently complained to the Virginia corporation commission that the Virginia Public Service company had been forced to pay Utilities Management corporation, another Associated Gas and Electric company subsidiary, for unrequested services.

The corporation commission ordered an investigation and specified there should be no change of Virginia Public Service company officers or directors for ninety days, or during the probe. Federal Judge Robert N. Pollard issued a restraining order which temporarily lifted this restriction and others ordered by the commission.

REPORT MARTIN LIKELY TO HEAD STOCK EXCHANGE

New York, April 7.—(AP)—William McChesney Martin Jr., governor of the New York Stock exchange, seemed tonight to be the "most likely candidate" for chairman of the exchange's board of governors in the forthcoming election, according to Wall street reports.

Martin is 31 years old and would be the youngest "top man" in the exchange's 146 year history. He is a partner in the St. Louis firm of A. G. Edwards & Sons. His father is governor of the St. Louis Federal Reserve bank.

Martin was born in St. Louis and was graduated from Yale university 10 years ago. He started a career in finance on a job at the federal reserve bank in St. Louis in the bank examination division.

SEC Plans Public Hearing on United Founders Group

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—The Securities & Exchange commission is planning about May 1 to hold public hearings on the affairs of the United Founders group, in connection with its study of investment trusts and investment companies, it became known today. United Founders and its subsidiaries, which will be included in the hearing, were consolidated in November, 1935, under the name of American General corporation, now controlled by Equity corporation.

YOUNG OBTAINS INJUNCTION IN RAILWAY FIGHT

N.Y. Bank Can't Vote Chesapeake Stock.

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—Robert R. Young, chairman of the board of the Alleghany corporation, today won a legal brush with the Guaranty Trust company, nation's third largest bank, in the legal fight now in progress for the control of the remnants of the railroad empire built by the late Van Sweringen brothers, O. P. and M. J., of Cleveland, O.

Judge Martin T. Manton, presiding over the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here late this afternoon, signed an order on the application of Young restraining the Guaranty Trust company from voting the stock it holds in the Chesapeake corporation at a special meeting of Chesapeake which was to have taken place in Baltimore tomorrow. The meeting on agreement of the attorneys representing both sides was adjourned until April 15.

Companies Are Interlocked.

Alleghany is the top holding company in the Van Sweringen system and Chesapeake corporation is a middle holding company, which in turn controls the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, the most profitable property in the Van Sweringen group.

At noon today the Guaranty Trust won a legal victory over Young, which it appeared gave the bank the control over the Van Sweringen properties when Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe in the District court denied a motion of Young to restrain the bank from voting the proxies to the shares of the Chesapeake corporation which it holds as collateral for a loan. Young, however, was given leave to appeal, which he did late in the afternoon.

Next Move on Monday.

The next move will take place on Monday, when the Guaranty Trust company must show cause in the Circuit Court of Appeals why a preliminary injunction should not be issued restraining it from voting the stock.

Judge Coxe last week had granted to Young a temporary injunction restraining the Guaranty Trust company from voting the stock. Young had charged the bank with bad faith in its insistence on voting the shares.

In his opinion Judge Coxe said he could "see no escape from the conclusion that the defendant is entitled to the proxies of the pledged securities" and he added that after reading Young's affidavit he could see nothing to support his charges.

Bank Trustee for Bonds.

Guaranty Trust as trustee for three issues of bonds of Alleghany corporation, of which Young is chairman, holds as collateral 1,278,000 shares of Chesapeake stock, which is 71 per cent, or voting control.

Young alleged that for improper reasons, and in violation of Guaranty's trusteeship, the bank had planned to exercise its vote. He sought removal of Guaranty as trustee, an order directing Guaranty to turn over to him as Alleghany chairman proxies for 780,100 shares of the 1,278,000 total, and a preliminary injunction restraining Guaranty from voting any of the shares. Judge Coxe today denied all three motions.

Banks Might Gain Control.

The stock held by the Guaranty Trust company would enable the bank to control the Chesapeake corporation meeting. It would be able to elect three new directors proposed for the board, Earl Bailee, chairman of the Tri-Continental corporation; John S. Hollister, a partner of the law firm of Taft, Stettinius and Hollister, Cincinnati, O., and John L. Dickinson, Charleston, W. Va., banker.

Charles R. Bradley, president of the Chesapeake corporation, and John P. Murphy, secretary, have been opposed to Young. It was Bradley who called the special meeting of the Chesapeake corporation. Young previously had demanded that Bradley and Young resign, but it was stated that if the new directors are elected it may result in Young being ousted as chairman of the Chesapeake corporation.

GERMAN STEEL OUTPUT PLACED ABOVE U. S. TOTAL

BERLIN, April 7.—[Special.]—German steel production in January passed for the first time that of the United States, the reich statistical office reported today. It gives these figures: Germany, 1,812,000 tons; United States, 1,760,000. German pig iron production was placed only 14,000 tons below the American figure.

Additional strength for the steel industry is expected from Austria, where production is to undergo the same forced expansion as in Germany.

American steel production in the first quarter of 1938 was only 31.57 per cent of effective capacity, the lowest point since 1934. March, however, showed a production of 2,011,840 tons, an increase of 18 per cent of capacity over February. In 1937 the March production was 5,216,243 tons.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, April 7.—(AP)—Today's bond market was the slowest of the year. Industrial bonds perked up a bit, but railroad issues ended with a mixture of gains and losses. Utility and foreign obligations, as measured by the Associated Press averages, tended lower.

Up a full point were McKesson & Robbins 5½s at 95⅝, National Dairy 3¾s of '51, with warrants, at 95⅝, Penn Dixie Cement 6s at 79, and International Hydro Electric 6s at 54.

Polish 6s of '40 among the foreign issues lost 2⅞ at 48. Fractional gains were shown by some Belgian, French, German, Italian, and Japanese issues. United States treasuries were 4-32d point higher to 2-32d lower.

Transactions totaled $4,214,100, compared with $6,105,200 Wednesday.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks moved unevenly yesterday on a turnover of only 9,000 shares, the smallest full day's session this year. This compared with Wednesday's volume of 11,000 shares, the previous low point for the year.

Of the 57 issues traded 12 advanced, 24 declined, and 21 were unchanged. THE TRIBUNE average of 20 stocks closed at 8.03, off 0.07.

Most of the volume leaders slipped fractionally. Commonwealth Edison was off ¼, closing at 23. Marshall Field dropped ⅛ to 7, and Borg-Warner fell to 18¼, off ⅛.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were quiet yesterday. The widest price movement was in First National bank, which dipped $2 a share at $165 bid, $169 asked. Continental Illinois National declined $1 to $56 bid, $58 asked. City National advanced $1 to $121 bid, $125 asked. Chicago Title and Trust shares eased $1 at $111 bid, $114 asked. Dealers disagreed on Northern Trust quotations, one quoting $485 bid, $505 asked, unchanged, and another $490 bid, $505 asked.

Commodities

Price movements were irregular yesterday in the principal commodity markets. Gains were recorded in rubber, hide, wool tops, and cottonseed oil futures, but coffee and cocoa futures established new lows in several contracts and other markets were mostly lower. Metals were irregular with a slight recovery in tin futures and easier prices in copper.

The Dow-Jones commodity futures index closed 0.09 higher at 48.97. The Associated Press weighted index of 35 wholesale commodity prices, however, established a new low for the year at 67.93. This was a drop of 0.21 to the lowest level since July 28, 1934.

Crude rubber futures closed 0.22 to 0.28 cent higher, with the May delivery at 11.35 cents a pound. Raw hide futures gained 0.04 to 0.06 cent a pound. Cocoa futures dipped 0.08 to 0.13 cent. The May, July, and September contracts all were below the 5 cent level, May selling as low as 4.86 cents and finishing at 4.92 cents a pound.

Coffee futures were weak, the Rio No. 7 contracts finishing unchanged to 0.04 cent lower and the Santos No. 4 contracts closing 0.04 to 0.06 cent lower. The December Santos delivery sold at 5.61, an all time record low for Santos futures.

Cottonseed oil after early irregularity strengthened to close 0.12 to 0.24 cent higher. Silk futures were ½ cent higher to 1½ cents lower at the close. Wool tops were firm.

Copper futures closed 0.02 to 0.05 cent lower. The export price was unchanged at 9.64 cents a pound. Domestic copper was dull and unchanged at 10 cents a pound. Tin futures were quoted 0.05 cent higher. Lead and zinc futures were unchanged.

Raw sugar was unchanged in the cash market at 2.95 cents a pound. Sugar futures closed 0.01 cent higher to 0.01 cent lower.

DONNELLEY GETS SHIP TO SHORE PHONE PERMIT

Will Build Station at Lake Bluff, Ill.

Thorne Donnelley.

Thorne Donnelley, vice president of the Reuben H. Donnelley corporation, printer and publisher, was notified yesterday that the Federal Communications commission has granted him authority to construct a 400 watt coastal harbor radio-telephone station at Lake Bluff, Ill. Donnelley, who is a yachtsman and radio amateur, said that he will soon have in operation a station which will provide radio telephone service with yachts and vessels operating on Lake Michigan.

Details of the construction and operation of the new station and rate schedules will be announced later, Donnelley said at his office in Chicago.

Explains Need of Service.

In announcing his plans for the radio phone service last July, Donnelley said that hundreds of yacht owners in the Chicago district would find it a convenience. If the wind should die down, he said, a yachtsman could call up his wife to tell her he would be late for dinner. Or, a power boat running out of gasoline could call a service station and ask it to send a few gallons of gasoline. Others to be benefited, he said, include the many fishermen who go out in their boats all year round, and operators of freight vessels and tugs.

Donnelley has reached an agreement with the Illinois Bell Telephone company under which the phone company will make connections with the Lake Bluff station.

Free Medical Advice.

Services to sailing vessels can be made available by the installation of six volt storage batteries. A part of the service will include free radiophone medical advice to freighters and other vessels which carry no doctors.

Donnelley's proposed service was opposed by the Lorain County Radio corporation, Lorain, O., which provides a Great Lakes radiophone service. In granting Donnelley permission to open service the FCC ruled that there was need of a harbor station to serve the Chicago district.

CHICAGO GAINS BY FAST TRAINS, SAYS RAGSDALE

Chicago has received the most benefit from the modern streamlined trains which have so greatly reduced travel time, E. J. W. Ragsdale, chief engineer of the stainless steel division of the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company, Philadelphia, last night told the Junior Trafic club of Chicago at its annual dinner at the Palmer House. About 1,700 persons were present.

Ragsdale, who is one of the pioneers in the development of streamlined trains, said the new trains have brought about a shrinkage in the time map of the nation — a map which shows the amount of time required to travel between two points. Of the fifty high speed, streamlined trains that have been built, 30 run out of Chicago, he said.

Metropolitan Buys Site for Big Housing Project

New York, April 7.—(AP)—The Metropolitan Life Insurance company today purchased a 120 acre site in the Bronx for an extensive housing development for families of moderate and low income. Frederick H. Ecker, chairman of the board, described the proposed development as "the largest integral housing project so far planned and built in this country." He said it would provide employment to the building trades and the construction industry for three years.

BUSINESS BITS

Dr. Harold G. Moulton, president of the Brookings institution, will speak on "The Effect of Wages and Prices on the American Standard of Living" at a meeting of the Chicago Federated Advertising club April 19 in the Morrison hotel.

Thomas J. Holden, vice president of the F. W. Dodge corporation, will speak tonight at the first official dinner given by the Merchants and Manufacturers club of the Merchandize Mart. His subject will be "Housing as a Business and How it Affects Us in Business Life." The dinner is being held in connection with the opening of the home building exhibit in the mart.

The future attitude of "small business" toward the government will be discussed today by Donald P. Blake at a luncheon of the Executives' Club of Chicago in the Bal Tabarin of Hotel Sherman. Blake, manager of Charles G. Blake company, builder of monuments and mausoleums, was vice chairman of the unemployment committee of the recent conference of small business men in Washington.

J. L. Kraft, president of Kraft-Phenix Cheese corporation, has been elected a director of Stokely Bros. & Co. for the unexpired term of John W. Hanes, recently appointed a member of the Securities and Exchange commission. C. B. Harding, partner of Smith, Barney & Co., and John H. Vincent, an attorney, both of New York, have been appointed to fill places left vacant on the board by resignation of C. K. Reynolds and R. S. Reynolds.

Election of Edmund C. Stone as vice president and general manager and Walter G. Jens as vice president in charge of operations of the Duquesne Light company was announced by President Frank R. Phillips.

United States Senator Josiah Bailey [D., N. C.] will speak at the 23d annual dinner of the Illinois Manufacturers' Costs association on April 26 at the Palmer House. His subject will be "American Business and American Government."

The Reliance Life Insurance company of Pittsburgh announced appointment of Kenneth R. Ball as district manager in Chicago, with offices at 100 North LaSalle. He has been with Minnesota Mutual here.

Earl C. Squire, representative of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the United States department of commerce at Sydney, Australia, will be at the Chicago office of the bureau tomorrow morning and all day next Tuesday. He will be available for trade conferences with business men interested in Australian affairs.

Frank J. Knell, vice president of the New York Cotton exchange, was selected by the nominating committee to succeed John C. Botts as president. The election is June 6.

Raymond F. List, president of the National Sewing Machine company, has been elected a director of Illinois Northern Utilities company to succeed John G. Ralston.

Directors and officers of the Gardner-Denver company were reëlected at annual meetings yesterday.

Jabez Musselwhite, 1554 Howard avenue, said to be the oldest living former member of the Chicago Board of Trade, visited the pit yesterday. He paid $35 for his membership in 1869 when the exchange was at Washington and LaSalle streets. He was a commission merchant on the old South Water street market at the time. Musselwhite will be 94 years old on April 15.

Leon R. Clausen was reëlected president of the J. I. Case company. The eleven directors also were reëlected.

Chicago Mercantile Exchange memberships have been posted for transfer to W. Edwin Stanley, partner in Mitchell, Hutchins & Co., Chicago; and John M. Ellery, president of M. Augenblick & Brothers, New York City, a division of the Borden company.

EASTER DEMAND BOOSTS PRICE OF NEW CROP LAMBS

Buying of lambs on special Easter orders featured the live stock trade at the stock yards yesterday. The first Colorado spring lambs of the season sold to Swift at $10.25, averaging 87 pounds, the highest price paid for lambs since last fall. However, the price was substantially lower than the cost of the first new crop Easter lambs in 1937 and 1936.

Old crop fed stock comprised the majority of the lambs on the market. These sold 15 to 25 cents higher than on the preceding session and at the best prices for this class since the middle of last month.

Buyers balked at rising prices in other branches of the live stock trade, and in many instances, particularly in steers, obtained some concessions. Hogs advanced 10 to 20 cents at the start on abnormally small "storm runs," but reacted later. All of the early advances were wiped out. The average for the day at $8.65 was up 5 cents.

Better grades of long fed steers slumped 10 to 25 cents yesterday. Plainer classes of light cattle were steady to only a shade lower, and some classes of butcher stock ruled strong.

New York Curb to Reduce Salaries for Second Time

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—The New York Curb exchange will make its second salary cut of the year on Saturday, when it will reduce all salaries higher than $25 a week by 10 per cent, it was reported today. Early in the year all employés receiving $15 or more a week received cuts ranging from 10 to 15 per cent. The new reduction is expected to apply to less than 100 employés.

COTTON

American cotton markets declined yesterday because of foreign selling and continued weakness in Liverpool. Several months ago cotton futures in New York and Bombay sold at approximately the same price, said to be the first time on record this condition had prevailed. Indian speculators and others were reported at that time to have sold nearly 1,000,000 bales of cotton futures in Bombay and hedged by purchases of a like amount in Liverpool and New York. Closing of the spread with Bombay, according to trade reports, has been the main factor in depressing American prices of late.

Closing trades on cotton futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net losses of .05 to .10 cents, and other American markets were .05 to .10 cent a pound lower.

Sales of fertilizers in nine American cotton states in March were estimated at 1,386,000 tons. This was 219,000 tons less than in the same period in 1937.

Spot cotton closed .05 to .10 cent lower, with New Orleans, 8.60c; New York, 8.45c; Galveston, 8.25c, and Houston, 8.20c a lb. Prices follow:

Joint Stock Company.

The joint stock company is a form of business organization that combines some of the features of the partnership and some of the corporation. It is like a corporation in that it has transferable shares, operates under a self chosen name, and its business is transacted through elected officials and a board of directors.

It is not incorporated, however, and is organized under the common law, except in a few states which have special laws pertaining to this type of organization. Its chief advantages are its freedom, in most states, from the organization tax and the annual franchise taxes required of corporations, and the fact that it may do business in most states without any formalities, the same as an individual or a partnership does.

The disadvantage of the joint stock company is the liability of stockholders for debts of the company, usually only for those incurred while they were actual stockholders, but unlimited so far as those debts are concerned. Stockholders are individually liable for any debts contracted by the joint stock company during the time they hold shares.

An increasing tendency toward the specific inclusion of joint stock companies under state corporation laws has tended to reduce the number of new organizations of this type and has induced several old ones to incorporate.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL TO FIGHT CLAIM FOR MORE TAXES

Denies Horner's Charge of Evading Levy.

L. A. Downs.

Asserting that the Illinois Central railroad believes it is meeting the provisions of the law with respect to tax payments under its Illinois charter, L. A. Downs, president, said yesterday that the road will continue to resist efforts to make it pay more tax than it believes it is obligated to pay.

Gov. Horner on Wednesday said in Springfield that the road is not paying the state 7 per cent of the gross receipts from its 700 miles of charter lines, as required under an 80 year old special charter, and that he had requested Attorney General Otto Kerner to bring an accounting suit against the road.

Downs said that up to Oct. 31, 1937, the road has paid more than $92,000,000 under the special tax.

Recalls Previous Settlement.

"Questions have arisen from time to time in regard to the methods of accounting used to determine the amounts of gross revenues upon which the charter tax is payable," Downs said. "In 1907 the state filed an accounting suit against the railroad in which every conceivable question as to accounting methods was raised and explored in minute detail.

"At that time the Illinois Central paid $1,500,000 additional to cover any unreported or unpaid taxes to Oct. 31, 1926, and the court in which the suit was pending entered a decree disposing of all questions involved.

"The methods of accounting established by that court decision for determining the amount of revenue subject to charter tax have been followed since that time, and taxes have been paid and reports made to the state every six months in accordance therewith."

Records Available to State.

Downs said the subject was reopened by the state in December, 1936. Questions involving a large amount of accounting work were answered and the road's books were made available to accountants selected by the state, he added.

"There has been no intention on the part of the Illinois Central to conceal the amount of revenue on which the charter tax is payable to the state," Downs continued. "We believe we have complied fully with the spirit and the letter of the charter and the interpretation of it by the courts.

"We shall continue to hold ourselves in readiness at all times to give the state complete information and to coöperate in every possible way to insure that our charter obligations are met in full. However, we shall also continue to resist any effort to cause us to pay more tax than we believe we are obligated to pay."

BUTTER AND EGG FUTURES RALLY; DEMAND HEAVIER

Butter and egg futures prices yesterday rallied from recent declines on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Heavier demand boosted butter contracts for November delivery ¼ cent a pound to 26⅝ cents. Cash butter was weak, closing unchanged to 1 cent a pound lower, with higher grades showing the larger losses.

Government agents let the price of "extras" fall ¾ cent, buying 80,000 pounds at 28 to 28¼ cents. At New York the government paid 29 cents a pound for 80,000 pounds.

Egg contracts were ¼ cent a dozen higher, with March storage packs finishing at 18½ cents a pound and October refrigerators at 20⅛ cents. Cash egg prices were unchanged to ¼ cent a dozen lower. The government bought about 40,000 dozen fresh firsts at 17 to 17¼ cents a dozen.

WHEAT RALLIES; FEAR DAMAGE BY COLD WEATHER

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

	Yesterday.	Wednesday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$0.82⅝	$0.81¼	$1.38⅜
Corn	.59⅞	.59⅝	1.29
Oats	.27⅝	.27⅛	.49⅛
Rye	.59	.58⅛	1.15½
Soy beans	.93	.92½	1.72¼

Buying of wheat futures due to apprehension of possible damage to the new crop in parts of Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas as the result of low temperatures checked the recent declining tendency in the grain markets yesterday.

At no time were wheat futures below the final sales of Wednesday, and prices closed at the top with net gains of ¾ to 1⅜ cents a bushel, the latter on the May delivery. There was some buying of the nearby contract on reports that several small lots of cash wheat had been sold to exporters by Chicago interests.

Range in Corn Narrow.

Corn futures held within a range of a small fraction of a cent a bushel and closed ⅛ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher. Oats gained ⅜ to ½ cent and rye was ⅞ cent a bushel higher.

Rye was bought against sales of wheat by spreaders. May and October soy bean futures sold at new lows for the season in the early trading, due to scattered liquidation, but rallied and closed unchanged to ½ cent higher.

Temperatures below freezing prevailed in the southwest yesterday, with dust storms in the Texas panhandle. Crop experts expressed the belief that several days would be required to determine whether the wheat crop in that area had been damaged. Continued drouth in parts of southern Europe had some effect on the Liverpool market, which closed ¾ cent a bushel higher.

Winnipeg Wheat Rises.

May wheat in Winnipeg advanced 1½ cent a bushel yesterday to a new high on the current movement as the result of small purchases attributed to American commission houses and exporters.

There was said to be no positive evidence of an attempted squeeze of short sellers in the Canadian market. No. 1 northern spring wheat at Winnipeg was quoted 22 cents a bushel over the May delivery.

Manchurian soy beans were reported to have been offered at Liverpool at a price equal to 63 cents a bushel to Illinois farmers, or about 10 cents below the current market level.

LOST AND FOUND.

TO FINDERS.

If you have found a cat or dog, a pocketbook, jewelry, or fur, and cannot locate the owner through the "Lost and Found" advertisements in The Tribune, call and go through the "Lost and Found" index at the PUBLIC SERVICE OFFICE, 1 S. DEARBORN-STREET.

TO LOSERS.

If you are listed in the telephone directory you can charge an advertisement of your lost article by telephoning Miss Miller of the Tribune ad taking department, Superior 0100. Your advertisement receives the benefit of free listing in the Tribune Public Service office mentioned above for a period of two months. This service facilitates the recovery of lost articles advertised.

FACTORY BRANCH GUARANTEED!

Points—you should know about the AIRFLOW, "The Car that seems to float."
1—Amazing amount of room.
4—Safest car in the world!
6—"Amola" springs.
7—Floating-power motor.
8—100% "instant" hydraulic brakes.
9—Automatic "Overdrive" economy.

As to appearance it is best that you actually take a few minutes and inspect these Airflows "face to face." Better yet, inspect and DRIVE one.

The Chrysler Factory Branch is proud to present them.

A CORRECTION.
Recently we advertised in part as follows: "Closing out 1930 and 1931 Ford, Chev., and Plym. coupes, roadsters and sedans; priced down to $65."
This was inaccurate as 1931 models were not available at $65. We regret this error and pledge it will not recur.
